When Disaster Rides the Skies

THE POSTER which Chapters of the American Red Cross will display throughout the country from November 11 to 29, inviting the people to join the Red Cross for another year, symbolizes the services of relief and rehabilitation provided by the "Greatest Mother" when disaster strikes. Throughout the past year the Red Cross has been engaged continually in disaster relief work at home and has extended assistance in many catastrophes abroad. The poster was painted by Cornelius Hicks.

A Call to Convention

THE TWENTY-NINTH CONVENTION of Pi Beta Phi at The Huntington Hotel, Pasadena, California, June 30 to July 5, 1929! How different this convention will be from the fraternity's first convention in 1868 and yet how like! To that convention came eleven of the twelve Founders only, while to this will come hundreds of Pi Phis from every part of our country; but the purpose back of this convention will be exactly that given for the first—"to outline the policy and aims of the organization," to share in happy fellowships, and to plan for the future. To six living members of the fraternity only was given the opportunity to share in the laying of the foundation of Pi Beta Phi: to many thousands is given the privilege of sharing in the building of a worthy structure upon that foundation, and it is to this privilege that the fraternity is calling you.

Come to convention! Beautiful Pasadena's most luxurious hotel assures you a convention setting unsurpassed in comfort and delightfulness and California Pi Phis assure you a welcome unsurpassed in cordiality. So, again, come to convention!

Editorials

Not so very long ago, there was in an active chapter a girl who truly was a Pi Beta Phi, who gave to her fraternity service based upon love and appreciation for it, who gained from it the deep happiness of dear friendships and of ideals realized, and whose joy in her fraternity made for Pi Beta Phi an abiding place in the heart of her mother. Within the past year, there has come to the Grand Council a manifestation of this devotion to Pi Beta Phi which has made it proud, humble, and keenly conscious of the obligation which rests upon the fraternity to be true to itself.

This mother of a Pi Beta Phi, widowed and now through the death of her daughter bereft of all those who were most dear, has willed her entire estate to the fraternity as a memorial to her daughter who loved it so well. There are no restrictions placed upon the trust fund; the fraternity may, each year, use the interest for the phase of its work the need of which happens to be greatest.

There are no words adequate to express the appreciation and humility with which Pi Beta Phi will accept this trust. What a challenge it is to those who wear the little golden arrow to be worthy of that privilege when a Pi Phi mother makes so wonderful a contribution to the fraternity's future "work for the young folk" and says:

"I have absolute faith in Pi Phi—and a great love for Pi Phi!"

The American Red Cross gives the students of colleges and universities something to do and something to think about. In disaster relief and first aid on land and in water, it offers adventure to the enterprising along with service to one's fellows. Its accomplishments in public welfare are well known to students of sociology, for the Red Cross has raised the standards in all these departments and has made a recognized contribution to social science in some phases of case work, particularly in the rehabilitation of victims of disaster.

The Red Cross, on the other hand, looks to the colleges for its coming leaders. It wishes to interest students now, so as to enjoy their fresh enthusiasm, energy and constructive ideas when they take their places in the world.

Disaster relief is a phase of Red Cross service that is attracting the attention of the nation and of the world at this time. The fees paid for membership by thousands of students last year are now doing their share in this relief work. Were it not for its great annual enrollment, the Red Cross could not maintain its reserves of staff and treasure, which enabled it to dispatch one party of trained relief administrators to Porto Rico while the island was yet lashed by the record-breaking gale, and to send another party into Florida in anticipation of the storm, which the Weather Bureau said was heading for that garden spot, so as to be prepared when the disaster struck. With the first word flashed out of Porto Rico that local food stocks could not care for the feeding of the homeless, the Red Cross on that day spent $160,000 in rice, beans, flour, salt pork and such staples in New York City, which were rushed into the hold of a Navy store ship and started with all speed for the sufferers. At that time, the national fund for relief asked by President Coolidge, as President of the American Red Cross, had barely been started.

This illustrates the point that gifts to special relief funds are not gifts to the Red Cross but to a specified group of sufferers. The Red Cross is supported by its membership fees. Members are enlisted for the ensuing year during each annual Roll Call, which opens on Armistice Day, November 11, and ends on Thanksgiving Day.

As President Coolidge phrases it, the Red Cross "has become an intimate part of our daily life." The same may be said of our colleges, whose graduates are a great uplifting force in national advancement. Thus the Red Cross Roll Call is held in our colleges because again, in the words of the President: "We have tested the Red Cross in war and peace. It has never failed us. It never will so long as it holds your support."

Although Pi Beta Phi has the largest number of active alumnae and alumnae clubs, every now and then we meet a Pi Phi who has lost all track of her chapter and the fraternity in general. That type of alumna is not peculiar to Pi Beta Phi alone, but a direct challenge to us all is given in the following paragraph by the late William Levere who was, to quote Themis of Zeta Tau Alpha, "an inspirational fraternity leader in whose life fraternity played such a large part":

You say you belong to Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Are you sure of it? You belong! All of you, your heart, your sympathies, a reasonable amount of your time, your purse, at least some part of it. If you do belong, then it means all of you belongs. Or when you say you belong, do you merely mean that you enjoy the prestige which comes from wearing the badge, the companionship that comes from mixing with fellow Sigma Alpha Epsilons, the help that some of you have had to get jobs, the assistance in the early days of your profession, the opportunity to enter substantial and refined homes, that it has been the getting of these things you have appreciated. Every bit of this has been good. I am glad Sigma Alpha Epsilon has brought you these honors, these helps, these good things, but I want you to bring something to Sigma Alpha Epsilon for it is bad for a man to receive everything and bring nothing. You have your chapter, your province, your national fraternity, for which to do something. All the strength the fraternity has comes because others have done something to build the fraternity. Are you going to be a builder? When you point out the points of your fraternity edifice in which you take pride, will you be able to discern some part of the structure you have builded? If so, I felicitate you, for service brings reward, unselfishness finds joy in work for a beloved object, the satisfaction of doing something for a cause is beyond words. I challenge every Sigma Alpha Epsilon who says he wants to do something for the fraternity to act and not wish, to do and not hope.

Dr. John T. Tigert, national head of $\Phi \Delta \Theta$ and former United States Commissioner of Education, assumed the presidency of the University of Florida, September 1.

THE HOTEL HUNTINGTON

Far West Welcomes 1929 Pi Phi Convention

Onward to Convention!

Westward, let us go!

Pi Phis; you'll all miss "it,"

If you do not go.

CONVENTION IN CALIFORNIA! Already Pi Phis are turning their Arrows toward the great southwest and planning to follow them to attend convention in June 1929 at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena, California. What an opportunity to realize two dreams—attending a Pi Phi Convention and visiting the world's happiest vacation land, Southern California!

The city of Pasadena is one of the most beautiful and cultural cities of the state, and has always been most attractive to tourists, because of its delightful climate, location, magnificent homes and estates, educational and recreational advantages. It has been developed on the gently sloping hills of a fertile valley, which has for its background the inspiring Sierra Madre mountains, and it is surrounded with dozens of other charming California cities, which are linked together by miles and miles of paved highways. Los Angeles, the largest city in western America, and Hollywood, the film capital of the world, are only eleven miles away. In two hours time on the electric train, and in less time by automobile, one may enjoy a dip in the surf of the big Pacific, and enjoy the diversified amusements of the beach resorts.

The most important interests of the city of Pasadena are educational; consequently the schools, colleges, libraries, parks, and recreational centers hold high national rank.

The Huntington Hotel is one of California's finest hotels, catering to the most exclusive clientele. Being located several blocks from the busy center of the city, and its grounds containing many acres, makes it an ideal place for a gathering, such as this one will be. The main building, as is shown in the photograph, is built on a knoll, which gives a wonderful opportunity for view, sunlight and air. The gardens are distinctly Californian in their arrangement and luxuriance, bordering many huge plots of lawn.

The entire convention can be very comfortably accommodated in the hotel, with only two persons in a room. Every room is an outside one and is connected with a bath. The food and the appointments are naturally of a very high class. The dining-room will seat eight hundred people easily, and the auditorium will seat six hundred, so that, with a perfectly equipped stage, etc., there will be every opportunity for any plans to be successfully carried out.

At the hotel, many attractions will be found, such as, a fully equipped out-of-door swimming pool, archery, Dougal (Douglas Fairbanks' famous game), ping pong, putting greens, and tennis courts, on which are many large tournaments. Many of the world's champions have played on these courts, and continue to play there in tournaments. Hotel guests have access to two of the best golf courses in Southern California—the San Gabriel Country Club and the Pasadena Golf Club. The latter is situated very close to the mountains—an ideal location for a game.

A special children's playroom in the hotel will enable many Pi Phis to bring their wee ones, and attend the convention. Those who bring their own motor cars will be glad to know that the garage will accommodate one thousand cars.

The above description only partly covers the facilities that this wonderful hotel has to offer us, and best of all, the management, which is in keeping with an institution of this class, has entered into the enthusiasm of such a meeting and promises that nothing will be spared to make everyone welcome and comfortable as its guests.

Enough, for place of meeting! There are in the vicinity of Pasadena four active Pi Phi chapters, many alumnae chapters, and hundreds of Pi Phi alumnae, now residents of California, and representing chapters from all of the country, who are eagerly awaiting the opportunity to extend you every courtesy and make this one of the most memorable weeks of your life.

United States Ambassador to Mexico, Dwight Morrow, is a member of B @ II.

Pi Beta Phi Fellow

Nell Weaver, Oklahoma Alpha, Begins Work at Columbia University

NELL WEAVER, of Oklahoma A chapter of Pi Beta Phi, winner of the 1928 Pi Beta Phi Fellowship, is using the fellowship in preparing herself further in the field of psychiatry. She is devoting her time to study at Columbia University and the New York School of Social Work in New York City.

Nell was born in Kentucky but has spent most of her life in Tulsa, Okla., where she received her elementary and high school education. She finished high school in 1920. From high school, a business education was entered into and then an active business life in which she was very successful, working her way in one of Tulsa's largest business concerns from the place of bookkeeper and stenographer to office manager, credit manager, and secretary of the corporation. Business became monotonous for Nell and finally, in 1925, her craving for something with more of the human element made her give up the business which seemed "so commercial" in most of its aspects and go to college. So in the fall of 1925 she entered Oklahoma University and became a pledge to Pi Beta Phi. The new Busey bookkeeping system had just been installed at Oklahoma Alpha and Nell took the books and kept them, thereby keeping busy all the time so that the change from an active business life and one of responsibility to one of school life would not be felt so keenly.

In March of 1926 Nell was initiated into Pi Beta Phi at which time she received the scholarship ring. With her natural interest in activities and with a determination to make Pi Beta Phi the outstanding woman's fraternity of the University of Oklahoma campus, she entered into campus activities, and her name was added to Y.W.C.A., Women's Glee Club, Women's Council, Blue Pencil, Polo and Riding Club, and Mortar Board.

Nell represented the women of Oklahoma University at the University of Illinois in 1927, and at Carleton College in 1928, as president and ex-president of the W.S.G.A.

In 1926-27 she received the greatest honor which can be bestowed upon a girl on the Oklahoma campus, that of "The Most Outstanding Woman Student" in the university. The award was a large loving cup presented by the Dad's Association of the university. For three semesters she held a point six, or straight A average, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in her junior year. She was also a winner of a Leidseizer Medal. Following her graduation from the university this past summer, she entered Columbia to pursue her graduate work.

VIRGINIA GAMMA HOUSE PARTY

One of the many delightful Pi Phi house parties of the past summer was the one given by Madee Muir, charter member of Virginia Γ , at her home in Philadelphia in June. There was a whole week of bridge parties, sightseeing trips, matinees, two days at Atlantic City and a farewell banquet at the Torresdale Country Club with Mr. and Mrs. Muir as host and hostess.

To the Founders

*When we consider the rush of life,
And all its stress and strain,
How dear are friendship, love and peace
And Pi Phi's golden chain.
How dear are those who gave to us
Our loved fraternity.
A pledge of friendship, warm and true
And fairer loyalty.
Oh tender is a mother's love,
And love of friend is sweet,
But in our founders we shall find
Mother and friend to meet.
For this is Pi Phi's birthday,
And they our mothers are Whose ever sacred memory
Nor time nor space can mar.
Down thro' the everwidening years
Over land and sea—
We, their daughters, must "carry on"
In our fraternity.
Then lift on high the wine and blue,
Our love will make us bold
To toast our founders dear and true
And pure as arrows gold.*

Home Again at Monmouth

Pi Beta Phi at Monmouth has been and always will be a fairy tale of beauty and charm to Pi Phis all over the world. May the delicate, mysterious, vague fragrance of Pi Beta Phi's history be cherished forever in your hearts. May the installation of the new Illinois Alpha of Pi Beta Phi not mar the feeling of never-to-be-forgotten sentiment which lingers around you as you think of Monmouth; but, on the contrary, may it link you even closer in your love and loyalty to the old college which so gladly has opened her arms to one of her children "coming home."

The dream has come true, and Pi Phi girls once again are literally and figuratively walking the same trails as did our loved Founders in '67. What we covet is that the same atmosphere of beauty and of charm which has lingered here for Pi Phis in the years that are gone, may ever continue.

May the new active Pi Phis who will now represent you on Monmouth's beautiful campus receive, and wear with dignity, the mantle which was placed on their shoulders by the girls of '67.

May their plans, purposes, and ideals be the very same as were in the hearts of those twelve dear girls, who still command the devoted love, respect, and loyalty of us all.

The Dream

SINCE 1899 a group of girls at Monmouth have dreamed a dream. It was ever in their minds and hearts and it was always the same—the dream of bringing Pi Beta Phi back again to Monmouth College.

"Once Upon A Time"

Once upon a time—April 28, 1867—twelve Monmouth College girls caught a vision of a college fraternity for women and, pioneers in such an adventure, they founded I.C. Sorosis, little realizing what their action would mean in the future to thousands of fraternity women. When Monmouth College asked all fraternities to disband, Pi Beta Phi on that campus became only a memory but one which lingered in the hearts of the college students, and especially in the hearts of the Zeta Epsilon Chis who, until 1910 when college action placed a ban upon local fraternities, cherished a hope that they might some day become wearers of the golden arrow which had endeared itself to them through many near and dear associations.

Seven years ago, the decision of the college trustees to open Monmouth to fraternities quickened this memory into action and a new local fraternity, sponsored by Zeta Epsilon Chi and Pi Beta Phi alumnae, was formed with chartering by Pi Beta Phi as its goal. The requirements set were high and disappointments and discouragements not unknown, but Pi Beta Phi, although she promised nothing for the future, gave what assistance she could in organization and development, and the new Zeta Epsilon Chi by consistent effort won for herself a place of distinction on her campus and, finally, the promise that the dream should become an actuality.

The Dream Coming True

The return of Pi Beta Phi to Monmouth College brought a deep happiness to the Zeta Epsilon Chis and a keen pleasure to the campus as a whole; faculty, students, and townspeople worked together to make the installation on May 24, 25 and 26, 1928, one never to be forgotten. It seemed that this —and the splendid co-operation of nearby alumnæ clubs and chapters made possible an installation of great beauty and inspiration. The luncheon given by Phi Delta Sigma on the first day and the breakfast given by Kappa Alpha Sigma on the last day welcomed Pi Beta Phi in a most delightful manner and promised much for the Panhellenic spirit of fellowship at Monmouth.

Honored Guests

It was the good fortune of Illinois Alpha to have five of the six

FOUNDERS PRESENT

Five of our six living Founders were present at the re-installment of Illinois A: Fanny Whitenack Libbey, Clara Brownlee Hutchinson, Libbie Brook Gaddis, Inez Smith Soule, Margaret E. Campbell must be an installation different from any other because it bound so closely the old with the new! The kindness of Dr. McMichael and of the four literary societies placed the entire third floor of Wallace Hall at the disposal of the fraternity and gave to the installation ceremonies a setting ideal in its combination of sentiment, convenience, and attractiveness. No detail was overlooked by the chairmen of the installation—Lena Lee Powell and Adeline Ward Barnum living Founders of Pi Beta Phi as its guests for the installation, Jennie Horne Turnbull alone finding it impossible to share in what was to them all a time of happy associations. Clara Brownlee Hutchinson, beloved by all Monmouth, young as the youngest active, in spirit; Inez Smith Soule, tall, slender, dignified; Margaret Campbell, a dear little white haired "lavender and old lace" lady; Libbie Brook Gaddis, clever, motherly, and never too weary to enter into the spirit of any occasion; and Fanny Whitenack Libbey, girlish and youthful with her cheery laugh and happy reminiscences—these beloved Founders came with happy hearts to have a part in the re-establishment of Pi Beta Phi at their alma mater.

In Memoriam

Friday afternoon a group representing the Founders, the fraternity nationally, and the local Pi Phi and Zeta alumnae went to the resting place of one whom we had admired and called our friend, Emma Brownlee Kilgore, Founder. These Pi Beta Phis—Clara Brownlee Hutchinson, sister of Mrs. Kilgore, and herself a Founder, Libbie Brook Gaddis, Lois Franklin Stoolman, Adeline Barnum, Nell Porter Hood, and Jessie Gaddis—carried flowers as a tribute of love and respect, and while the sun, sinking in the west, shone softly on her grave, each one, with bowed head, stood in silent prayer. To each there came the thought of how great would have been Mrs. Kilgore's joy could she have seen the realization of her keen desire to have Pi Beta Phi "come back home" to Monmouth.

Somewhere today, among the hills of heaven

She walks with all her stars around her.

And we, who lost her here on earth,
Grow happy, knowing God has found her.

The Installation

Wednesday afternoon, the pledging of Zeta actives and alumnae took place at the Woodbine, home of Dr. and Mrs. McMichael, with our Grand President, Miss Onken, presiding—it was a beautiful and impressive service. At six o'clock a dinner was served at the home of Adeline Ward Barnum by the Monmouth Pi Phi Alumnae Club. Afterwards, our own Bernadine Sawers, Province President, met with the pledges to read and explain the Constitution.

Thursday, the solemn, impressive initiation and installation ceremonies were held. Miss Onken made the occasion a memorable one for all. Twenty-one actives and twenty-three alumnae were initiated and the coveted arrow was pinned over the heart of each by Miss Onken. At noon a buffet luncheon was served by the Zeta alumnae. Thursday evening a beautiful formal banquet was given by the new chapter. As the guests entered the dining-room they found themselves in a terraced formal garden. A low graystone wall and a border of flowers enclosed the garden, graceful young trees and shrubs stood at intervals against the wall of the house and in one corner was a hollyhock bed. The garden decorations centered in a graceful rainbow, arched across the room, and the soft rainbow colors blended and stood out mistily against a soft sky-blue drop. At the end was found the traditional fairy pot of gold.

As the guests were seated, little Betty Gallop, dressed as a wood-fairy, turned on the rainbow lights transforming the rainbow into a shimmering bow of a thousand tints. Candles were of rainbow colors running from a short red candle at each end of the four long tables up to tall violet ones in the center of the bow thus formed. Placecards were pastel-tinted bows, the ends of which reached into nut cups representing a pot of gold and programs were of white and gold. Cocktails, salads, and ices carried out the rainbow note.

The Galesburg Pi Phi Alumnae club and the alumnae club of Burlington, Iowa, sent large baskets of spring flowers and the Knox and Lombard chapters sent roses. Congratulatory telegrams were received from officers, chapters, and alumnae clubs and a congratulatory letter came from Mrs. Coolidge. An excellent toast program was given, the scene being the Rainbow Garden of Monmouth College with the gardener, Bernadine Sawers, as toastmistress. Toasts were given to the Sun, the Founders; to the Rainbow, Pi Beta Phi; to the Rainbow Trail, the Zetas; and to the Pot of Gold, Success in Petitioning.

Friday morning the first chapter meeting was held, the officers were installed, and Miss Onken gave a brief talk on fraternity ideals. In the afternoon, the chapter gave a delightful formal tea at the home of Dr. McMichael. In the receiving line were Mrs. McMichael; Mrs. Morton, Dean of Women; the Founders; Mrs. Stoolman and Miss Onken from the Grand Council; Mrs. Sawers, Epsilon Province President; Lorraine Smith, Illinois Delta representative; Sarah Pratt, Illinois Beta representative; Phyllis Curtis, Iowa Gamma representative; Mrs. Barnum, president of the Monmouth alumnae club; Mrs. Weibley of the Burlington alumnae club; Dr. Winbigler of the Monmouth faculty; Mrs. Legg and Miss Graham of Illinois Alpha, and others. The more than three hundred guests, which included students, faculty, and townspeople, gathered in the hospitable home which had been made unusually beautiful with many lovely flowers, spoke of a welcome to Pi Beta Phi which was most colorful and heartfelt. Friday evening, Helen Booker Sawyer entertained with a delightful dinner at the Monmouth Country Club and gave to new and old Pi Phis a last cherished opportunity for happy fellowship. Eyes were misty when the old Zeta hymn rang out for the last time "in the old way" but as the beautiful Pi Phi anthem succeeded it there remained in the hearts of all only a strong loyal love for Pi Beta Phi and a deep happiness in a "dream come true."

History of Zeta Epsilon Chi

Just fifteen years after national fraternities were dismissed from Monmouth College, groups were allowed to organize local fraternities and Zeta Epsilon Chi was the first one formed. But Zeta had a comparatively short existence; in 1910 it was forced to disband, for local fraternities were dismissed from the campus. In 1922 when the senate took action favorable to national fraternities, Zeta Epsilon Chi reorganized with the express purpose of petitioning Pi Beta Phi.

In the six years that the present Zeta group has worked towards Pi Phi, unusual care has been exercised in choosing girls for membership. The scholarship record is excellent and the group has been unusually well represented in campus activities.

With its background of struggle, progress and achievement, the members of Zeta Epsilon Chi are well equipped to assume the dual responsibility of being the newest

Monmouth College

In the June, 1917, ARROW of Pi Beta Phi there is published an interesting early history of Monmouth College which is as follows:

"Every human institution has a beginning. Monmouth College is no exception. It was some time in the early part of the year 1853 that the Reverend Robert Ross of South Henderson and the Reverend J. C. Porter of Cedar Creek had a vision—an institution of higher grade than the public schools of the state, situated in the midst of the rich prairies of western Illinois. It did not take the form of a university nor at first even that of a college, but the modest title of high school, grammar school or academy. The vision took tangible form October 11 of the same year when the matter was presented to the Presbytery of the Associated Reformed, now the United Presbyterian Church. In November, 1853, the new institution was opened as an academy. This was Monmouth College in embryo. The evolution was rapid. Three years later Monmouth College was opened for the reception of students and in the same year was granted its charter.

"The real history of a college is bound up with the lives of the men who have guided its course and administered its affairs. For twenty-two years Dr. David A. Wallace was president of the young and struggling institution. Largely through his influence the foundations were laid and the ideals fixed. Dr. Wallace was not only a man of affairs but an educator ranking second to none in the great and growing Middle West. Following Dr. Wallace, Dr. J. B. McMichael filled the position of president for nineteen years. If Wallace was the Founder, Dr. McMichael was the first of the Builders. Debts were paid, new buildings added, a fuller equipment provided and an endowment fund was built up."

Today under its fourth president, Dr. T. H. McMichael who has been in office since 1903, Monmouth College is one of the leading smaller colleges of the Middle West. Monmouth College has a beautiful campus with beautiful buildings and breathes tradition and atmosphere.

As the home of the Alpha chapters of Pi Beta Phi and Kappa Kappa Gamma, Monmouth holds an important place in the fraternity world. Also prior to 1884 when national fraternities were dismissed from the campus, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi, and Phi Kappa Psi maintained chapters at Monmouth.

Yale University was left a million dollars by Chauncey M. Depew, who died in the spring. Mr. Depew, statesman and railroad executive, was a member of Ψ Υ.

State and Province Meetings

(Although Pi Beta Phi does not require province or state conventions during the interim of convention, the enthusiasm resulting from those held in the past spring and summer has prompted a request for reports of them.—THE EDITOR)

Province House Party

THE LONG TALKED OF and eagerly anticipated Alpha Province house party was held in Ithaca, New York, June 19-22 inclusive. The delegates were delighted to find themselves located in real fraternity homes—those belonging to the Pi Phis and the Alpha Xi Deltas. Since all the chapters in the province have not as yet their own Pi Beta Phi homes, it was the first opportunity for some of the girls to experience the pleasure of actually living in a fraternity house.

The personnel of the house party consisted as far as possible of the newly elected president of each chapter, one of the two Panhellenic delegates, a member of the Alumnae Advisory Committee and the Province President. Several other Pi Phis were also welcomed, including a number of active New York Deltas and everyone felt most fortunate in having present Dr. Edith Gordon, supervisor of women's health at the University of Toronto and a valued member of the Settlement School Committee and the Health Committee.

Early in the spring the chapters had all been asked to send in subjects which they would like to have discussed, and the responses were most gratifying. Requests for discussions all the way from rushing, finance, scholarship, health, the problem of the transfer, ways for closer active and alumnae interest, to the all-important subjects of how to make money and how to care for the pledges poured in with every mail. It was soon possible to have a subject for each of the twenty-four delegates and shortly after arriving the girls drew for their topics. The mornings were devoted to meetings which were quite informal with much open discussion. Without a doubt each girl took back a notebook full of helpful suggestions to her chapter, and the delegates gradually became convinced that after all the special problems of her chapter were not as great as those of some of the others.

Dr. Gordon gave a most inspiring talk on the Settlement School and another on health. Through her splendid help the whole province has come to a greater realization of the wonderful work done in Gatlinburg, and to a more definite understanding of the great objective of the Health Committee.

The hostess chapter arranged several delightful outings with picnic suppers and on returning impromptu stunts and parties were enjoyed. Too much appreciation and gratitude cannot be extended to the New York Delta Pi Phis for their many kindnesses in helping to make the house party an unqualified success.

Many Pi Phis, not delegates, came to the banquet at the Ithaca Hotel. Between courses each chapter entertained with its college songs and there were other musical numbers.

Although only an outline can be given of the Alpha Province house party and already the good times and discussions have become but happy memories, the inspiration will be reflected in the inner lives of the chapters in the months to come.

The girls returned home with a deeper interest in their fraternity, with a keener love for their own chapters and the richer for many new, wonderful friendships.

VIDA H. PEENE

Louisiana Alpha Hostess

Theta Province met in convention at the Pine Hills Club near Pass Christian, Mississippi, June 14-18, at the invitation of Louisiana Alpha chapter. The convention was rather hastily planned, but through the cooperation of all chapters in the province a fair representation was secured.

By means of the schedule previously mapped out by Louisiana Alpha all delegates and visiting members were able to combine a pleasure trip with a most profitable business session.

The following chapters were represented; Arkansas Alpha, two; Oklahoma Alpha, two; Texas Alpha, two; Texas Beta, three; and Louisiana Alpha by the major part of its active membership. The Oklahoma Beta representative was unable to be present. In addition to the active members a number of alumnae attended the daily conferences.

The morning hours were spent in round table discussions which were attended by all of the active girls and from which a great deal of benefit was derived. Included in the topics discussed were: scholarship methods, pledge training, general chapter organization, chapter house customs and standards and ideas for rushing parties.

Through comparison of the details of individual chapter life, customs and progressive plans the girls left with a broader and more complete conception of national Pi Beta Phi and were inspired with the idea of increasing the efficiency of their respective chapters. Personal contacts were the medium through which both the visitors and hostesses realized more fully the nation-wide scope of the organization, its different problems and ultimate aims.

The afternoons were devoted largely to recreation and the strengthening of friendships formed among girls from the different chapters. A bridge tournament, swimming meet, dancing contest, formal banquet, and stunts featured the entertainment provided during the convention.

At the formal banquet Flora Hardie, vice president of Louisiana Alpha, delivered the address of welcome to the visitors, who in turn responded through Bess Tobin, Texas Alpha. A tribute to the interest shown by the chapters of her province and the efforts of Louisiana Alpha in making the convention possible was given by Gertrude Gardner Turner, Theta Province president.

Mrs. H. J. Lutchter Stark, Theta Province vice president, gave the principal talk of the evening. The splendid work of the Settlement School and plans for its development were covered by Mrs. Stark in sounding a plea for continued interest in the school after actives became alumnae.

On the final afternoon of the convention initiation was held for Betty Werlein, the pledge making the highest scholastic average in Louisiana Alpha during the past semester.

GERTRUDE GARDNER TURNER

Michigan Meeting

The Michigan members of Pi Beta Phi celebrated their second annual state meeting on Founders' Day, April 28, 1928, with an enthusiastic gathering in Ann Arbor, under the auspices of the Ann Arbor Alumnae Club and the Michigan Beta chapter.

With an attendance of 217, representing twenty-eight chapters, we enjoyed a happy reunion and express our united appreciation to our hostess for the delightful hospitality afforded us in Ann Arbor, and our sincere praise to all who assisted in the great success of such a splendid conference. We were especially privileged to partake of Michigan Beta's fortieth birthday party while at the same time we renewed the friendship ties of our national Founders' Day. We shall long retain sweet memories of April 28, 1928, in Ann Arbor.

After an hour of happy greetings in the foyer of the Michigan Union, luncheon was served in the Assembly Hall, and a festive sight greeted our eyes. The long speakers' table at which the twelve honor guests were seated was surrounded by twenty-seven small round tables each accommodating eight. Birthday cakes were in prominence. One large tiered cake upon which were forty small lighted candles formed the central decoration of the speakers' table, and it was flanked on each side by large bowls of flowers and lighted tapers, while individual corsages and place-cards with the Pi Phi seal marked the places of the honor guests. A small iced cake, festooned with a smilax canopy tied with wine and blue tulle, and set in a wreath of smilax, formed the central decoration of each of the twenty-seven small round tables, and it was flanked by two glass candle-sticks with tall lighted tapers. The programs tied with wine and blue baby ribbon, upon which had been printed an etching of Michigan Beta's chapter house, completed the decorations.

After the roll call of chapters the address of welcome given by the toastmistress, Mrs. Dorothy Jeffrey Wulp, Michigan Beta, was followed by toasts by Anne Marshall, Michigan Beta, Delta Province President, on "First Glimpses"; by Minnie Newby Ricketts, for the charter members of Michigan Beta, on "A Backward Glance"; by Elizabeth Jackson Shaffner, Pennsylvania Alpha, Delta Province Vice President, on "Looking at the Alumnae"; by Mary Thompson Reid, Michigan Beta, ARROW Editor 1892-'96, on "Visions of the Arrow"; and by Gail De Wolf, Grand Secretary, on "A Grand View." The singing of "Ring Ching Ching" opened the program and the "The Anthem" closed it, while songs by the Michigan Alpha and Michigan Beta girls were interspersed between addresses.

The Detroit Alumnae Club has graciously extended an invitation to all Pi Phis in Michigan to hold the next state meeting with them in 1929. That we may make our state files as complete as possible we earnestly solicit cooperation and shall appreciate the name and address of any Pi Phi residing in Michigan sent to the state secretary before next spring.

Michigan's Founders' Day

The celebration of Michigan Beta's fortieth anniversary which was combined with the celebration of the sixty-first anniversary of the founding of the National Fraternity, was marked by the presence of three of its Founders—Minnie Newby Ricketts, Fannie Read Cook, and Lucy Parker Huber—and a total of sixty-nine Michigan Beta alumnae and thirty-six active Michigan Betas. It began on Friday evening when the Founders were guests of the active chapter at dinner. This was followed by a theater party at which thirty alumnae occupied special seats at a performance of the Junior Girls' Play at the Whitney. The annual business meeting of the Association took place in the chapter house parlors at ten o'clock Saturday morning and the State Luncheon in the Assembly Hall of the Michigan Union at one o'clock. At six o'clock, Rebecca Downey White was hostess at an informal lap supper in honor of Michigan Beta's Founders. The guests who were invited, besides the Founders, were those who were intimately associated with Michigan Beta in the first twelve years of its existence, and included Mrs. Kelsey, Mrs. Cheever, Zuell Preston Tyler, May Copeland-Reynolds Drybread, May Thompson Reid, Dora Elmer, Jo Hempsted, Mary Anderson, Harriet Beard, Nancy Bentley Watson, Dorothy Sass, Alma Burgoyne Stebbins, Marie Winsor Stebbins, Jessie Strong Morden, Anne Marshall, Helen Wattles, Jennie Barber Plym, Harriet Haisley Griffin, and Effie Patch Yeaton.

During the evening, Lucy Parker Huber, assisted by Harriet Griffin Haisley, received in honor of the Founders, while at the same time, Elsa Apfel Fisher was at home in honor of Doris Stamats in the latter's room at the Union. The active chapter was hostess to the Michigan Alpha active girls at a dance at the chapter house Saturday evening and entertained them over night.

To the local group of Pi Phis, the whole occasion is one of sweet satisfying memory. May you not come again in 1938 for our fiftieth anniversary and another renewal of old Pi Phi associations and the attendant inspiration!

Arkansas State and Province Convention

The sixth biennial state convention of the members of Arkansas Alpha chapter of Pi Beta Phi was held at Fayetteville, Arkansas, on June 2, 1928. Sixty alumnae and active initiates were in attendance, including representatives from the three organized alumnae clubs at Fort Smith, Little Rock, and Fayetteville, and the active chapter.

Registration was held at the chapter house at ten o'clock. Wine and silver blue ribbon bows were given those registered. The regular business session of the convention followed with Ruth Morton of Fort Smith, Arkansas, president of the state organization presiding. The minutes of the last regular session of the state convention, held in Fort Smith in June, 1926, were read by the secretary, Ann T. Johnson of Fort Smith. Reports were submitted by the Little Rock, Fort Smith, and Fayetteville alumnae clubs, and the active chapter. Pauline Hoeltzel, as official delegate of the Little Rock alumnae club, presented its report. Elizabeth Paisley submitted the report of the Fort Smith alumnae club and Mrs. Allan Wilson, that of the Fayetteville alumnae club. Effie Eileen Metcalf of Batesville, Arkansas, submitted the report of the active chapter. Ruth Morton as chairman of the House Fund reported $1,100 in that fund. Mrs. E. M. Ratliff of Fayetteville, chairman of a committee appointed at the last convention to investigate suitable sites for the building of a new chapter house, stated various locations which had been considered. General discussion followed as to means of raising money for building purposes. A committee was appointed by the president with full authority to purchase a lot. Those named on the committee were Mrs. Donald Trumbo, Mrs. Allan Wilson, and Lorraine Williams, all of Fayetteville. At the close of the business session, officers were elected. Florence Kruger of Little Rock was elected president, Mattalou Marshall of Siloam Springs, vice president, and Leone Walker of Pine Bluff, secretary.

An invitation was proffered by Pauline Hoeltzel from the Little Rock alumnae club to hold the next state convention in Little Rock. The invitation was accepted. The convention adjourned to meet June, 1930, in Little Rock.

A special feature of the convention was the initiation of Mrs. Louis Heerwagen of Fayetteville, made possible by a dispensation from Grand Council. Mrs. Heerwagen was formerly a Pi Beta Phi pledge and filled all requirements for initiation but withdrew from school prior to that event. She was repledged and initiated at the chapter house immediately after the business session.

At one-thirty o'clock, a bridge luncheon was held in the Washington Hotel. A color scheme of wine and silver blue was carried out with crystal baskets of wine roses and blue larkspur forming the center pieces of the tables.

The closing event of the day was a cooky-shine given at the home of Mrs. E. M. Ratliff. Wine and silver blue ribbons were used in decorating the cleverly arranged "table." Fraternity songs and the passing of the loving cup marked the close of the sixth biennial state convention of Arkansas Alpha of Pi Beta Phi.

associated with that of THE ARROW. Her resignation as its editor, a position which she has held continuously since 1921, is accepted with the keenest regret and with an overwhelming realization of the devoted and extraordinarily splendid service she has rendered her fraternity. Ever since 1919, when she became assistant editor of the magazine, she has contributed so unstintedly of her time, her strength and her talent toward its development that it deservedly holds its unquestioned place as an outstanding publication of the fraternity world.

For such excellent literary representation Pi Beta Phi owes much to its retiring editor. For her unaffected exemplification of a true Pi Beta Phi character, it owes a debt which it can only attempt to repay through emulation. During all of Agnes Wright Spring's affiliation with Pi Beta Phi, from the time of her initiation as a charter member of Wyoming Alpha, through her term as a Pi Phi Fellow, and finally through her seven years as a member of Grand Council, her sincerity, her cheeriness, her modesty and her delightful humor have endeared her to all with whom she has come in contact. With her sympathetic understanding and her unselfishness she has enriched the hearts of those who have known her well.

Pi Beta Phi relinquishes Agnes Spring from its official circle with an assurance of its enduring esteem and affection.

VERMONT BETA, UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

The Balfour Cup Goes East

(The Balfour Cup was awarded by Grand Council to Vermont Beta for the year 1927-28 following a careful study and consideration of the Survey and Standardization report compiled by the Central Office. In the final summary of this report Vermont Beta stood highest in its province, received an exceptionally high scholarship report—38.9 out of 40, graded one hundred per cent on fraternity examinations, graded 9.69 out of 10 on cooperation, and 9.80 out of 10 by THE ARROW editor. These figures are given to show the high average the chapter attained to win the Balfour Cup, which has been held by Wisconsin A the past two years.)

—THE EDITOR

EVERYONE ALWAYS WONDERS how a chapter can get along without its senior class, and Vermont Beta feels that the senior class of 1928 was largely responsible for being awarded the Balfour Cup. The outgoing senior class was an unusually strong one, ranking very high in campus honors as well as scholastically.

The method which we follow to maintain a high scholastic standard is to elect a scholarship chairman. Her duty is to post a chart containing the averages of each individual. By this method we are able to keep in touch with each other's grades and perhaps lend a helping hand where there is a weakness. Also the class which has the lowest average must give a "feed" to the other classes.

The Panhellenic Council has made a new ruling at Vermont which will take effect in February. This rule states that no girl may be rushed if her average is below 75. Before this we have been allowed to rush regardless of grades. This will raise the scholastic standard of the Fraternity to a higher degree than ever before. The actives also plan to give every assistance to the pledges so that they may attain the Fraternity average.

Vermont Beta has held many campus honors in the past. We have an activities chairman who has a record of all girls participating in athletics and those affiliated with the various societies.

The chapter is unfortunate in not having a house. Because of this there might be a tendency to have a group which was not as well organized as others, but we give suppers, cooky-shines, and bridge parties which bring us together more often than our weekly meetings permit.

We are very fortunate in having a large alumnae association which takes active part in all our endeavors, and the cooperation between the alumnae and the actives has resulted in a strong chapter, in which exists unity and coherence.

DOROTHY GURNEY

THE EAST STEPS AT OLD MAIN, KNOX' COLLEGE

Slavery Debate Re-enacted

ACTIVE MEMBERS OF ILLINOIS DELTA chapter had the opportunity the week-end of October 5-6 to witness one of the most striking historical commemorations held in the Middle West for a great many years. Knox College of Galesburg, Illinois, has most fittingly re-enacted America's most famous debate, the Lincoln-Douglas controversy over slavery. This debate originally was held at Knox as the outstanding one of the seven given in that memorable campaign made by Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas.

It is this debate between Lincoln and Douglas which had such a tremendous effect on the presidential campaign that followed a few years later. Lincoln, despite the warnings of his friends, asked a series of questions of Douglas which lost him his fight for Congress but paved the way for his greater victory—the presidency.

With such richness of historical background every effort and means was used to make this re-enaction reproduce in spirit, patriotism, costume, and reverence the debate of seventy years ago. It is estimated that 20,000 people attended the ceremonies. The old platform on the east side of Old Main was reconstructed and so was an exact copy of the former one used in 1858. An old banner which showed the loyalty of Knox College to Abraham Lincoln was displayed and other emblems of the period were hung at the corners of the platform.

This event drew men of unusual renown and distinction. Included in the speakers of the Saturday afternoon were famous biographers of Lincoln such as Dr. William E. Barton, Carl Sandburg, General Nathan W. MacChesney, and Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed. President Britt, of Knox College, also an author of a Lincoln biography, addressed the assembled people. The invocation was given by the Reverend Haney, the grandson of the Reverend Richard Haney who delivered the invocation at the debate in 1858. Guests of honor at the anniversary and at a banquet held Saturday evening were the handful of men and women who had heard the original debate between the two leaders of Illinois.

One of the most interesting parts of the entire program was the procession from the site where Lincoln stayed when in Galesburg to the platform erected at Old Main. The old Lincoln buggy, used by the great man when he was campaigning in Carthage, formed a picturesque part of the march. At the rear were to be seen about fifty men dressed in clothes typical of 1850 and carrying historical banners inscribed as were those in the actual debate.

Indicative of the elaborate plans of the commemoration and of the value received by the local chapter, is the fact that there were three presentations of John Drinkwater's famous play, Abraham Lincoln, with Frank McGlynn here for the occasion to play his rôle of Lincoln. Mr. McGlynn, known in dramatic circles as the "great" Frank Mc-

Glynn, has made a deep study of the man Lincoln and his period, with the result that he was responsible for the play's long run in New York and other cities from 1919 to 1923. His physical resemblance and superior dramatic ability has made the rôle a living one to the people of United States. The second time he had played with amateurs, it was a real experience to have him at the Knox Theater working with the student cast. The local chapter is very proud of Betty Bennett, Des Plaines, Illinois, and a member of Illinois Delta, who was called back to play the part of Mrs. Lincoln. After four years of outstanding dramatic success she graduated last June and returned for this performance to take the outstanding rôle under remarkable circumstances. Another Pi Phi member, Alice Stevens, was selected for the cast which was chosen from the entire student body plus some outstanding alumni members. To insure the success of the play in every particular, other graduates of last year or a few years before were secured to lend their dramatic ability to the production of this piece. Needless to say, the presentations were successes from every standpoint.

It is easy to comprehend the value the students of the college received from such an event. As partial hosts to the small army of people who poured into Galesburg, the girls of Illinois Delta came in direct contact with famous men, the spirit of patriotism re-lived, and the real story of an event which had an influence on the history of our country that is too powerful to ascertain.

Students Reject Student Government

Student Government at the University of Wisconsin is no more. The faculty has accepted the self-deposed student senate's recommendation that its charter be considered defunct, and thereby has seconded the opinion of student leaders that there is no reason for maintaining an unimportant and unnecessary institution. Since 1916 the Men's Student Senate has been the highest council in student affairs. In October, the members voted to disband, after deciding that their actual powers were few and of little import. Self-government will be administered by five administrative boards. Centralization will be had by the union of the chairmen of these five bodies in the supervision of student elections. Otherwise, there will be no central board of control.—New Student

"Miss Evelyn" of Gatlinburg

"MISS EVELYN"

See her as she plays the organ each Sunday in the little mountain church-house where men, women and children have gathered to worship and to listen to her Sunday school lessons.

You will sit spell-bound in the shadows and listen as she sings the mountain ballads with the same accent and feeling as those mountain folk who learned them from great-grandfathers.

Watch this young woman as she goes along the mountain trails stopping to chat with the mountaineers who are eager for work on the new school building.

You will marvel how this modest woman in her quiet yet alert way has, through the past eleven years, supervised organization of classes, the running of looms, the outlining of farm work, the employment of teachers, the building of new improvements, or the purchasing of supplies.

It is she who can send a thrill through a huge Pi Phi Convention by telling of Little Pigeon and it is she who can go to the humblest cabin of Roaring Fork and help carry a little fellow with a broken leg down treacherous trails through darkness and rain to the safety of the little Jennie Nichol Hospital. No task is too great or too small for her mind and hands.

There is only one Miss Evelyn—Miss Evelyn Bishop, of New York Alpha, formerly head resident and now director of the Settlement School at Gatlinburg, Tennessee.

Through her keen understanding of human nature, Miss Evelyn readily won her way into the hearts of the mountain folk and she has always held their confidence. They turn to her for advice and comfort, for help and encouragement.

In 1917 Miss Evelyn became head resident of the school and entered at once into the community work, cheering mothers whose sons were fighting in France, helping to nurse those who were sick with influenza, assisting in arranging exhibits for the county fair, making improvements in the living conditions of the school, and in every way bringing new ideas and inspiration into the life at Gatlinburg.

At her right hand is Aunt Lizzie Reagan, the dear mountain woman, who has mothered the teachers and pupils and who has been a decided factor in bringing the mountain people and the school together.

For eleven years Miss Evelyn has directed this great altruistic work of Pi Beta Phi. Under her guidance the Jennie Nichol Hospital became a reality; the Gatlinburg News became an established institution; dormitories have been created; new departments have been added to the school; the standard of work in all handicrafts has been greatly raised; extension work has been organized and become a wonderful success at Sugarlands; the children have been taught to play and to develop as all splendid Americans should; scientific farming has become established; and the lovely new Administration Building has become a reality.

With the ability to work with her staff; to work with the Settlement School committees; and to cooperate with the mountain people there has been Miss Evelyn's sense of humor—a most essential asset.

The people who live up and down the creeks and "hollers" that lead into Gatlinburg are living happier, healthier, and more prosperous lives because they have been privileged to have—"Miss Evelyn."

Chapter Commandments

1. Wear thy pin proudly yet humbly lest it be shamed through thy vanity.
 2. Help thy sisters if thou canst, yet beware lest thou take away their own initiative and self-reliance.
 3. Advise if it seemeth necessary, yet overdo it not lest thou become a nuisance and an abomination in the sight of thy sisters.
 4. Let not thy studies worry and trouble thee all thy college days, yet take care lest thou come to regard them as mere trifles—bagatelles unworthy of serious effort.
 5. Honor and love thy fraternity yet overdo it not lest by thy blindness thou makest it seem unworthy of thy devotion.

A Sketch of the Settlement School Benefactress Who Founded the Magazine Agency

PI PHI ALUMNÆ the country over, who come to visit in Baltimore, make, almost invariably, the same request of their hostesses, "Could you find time while I am here to take me to Miss Reisinger's?" This, of course, from those who are not alumnae of Maryland A, for no matter where they are from they do not need to be taken there; they know the way to that hospitable home at number 6 Northfield Place, and thither they repair soon after their arrival in the city. To all others, Miss Reisinger's work for the Settlement School places her high on the list of Pi Phis. One is especially anxious to know and rarely does anyone miss an opportunity of becoming personally acquainted with her.

Many who are not thus privileged ask time and again for a sketch of her life and work, but up to the present date such requests have been consistently refused. Only at the solicitation of a close personal friend has consent for even a very brief article been won.

Blanche Genevieve Reisinger, a native Baltimorean, was educated at the Girls' Latin School of Baltimore and at Goucher College, graduating with honor, the president of her class, in 1898. Two of her closest friends in this class were Wanda Hartzhorn, later Mrs. Alexander Petrunkevitch, a distinguished writer, and May Lansfield Kellar, President Emeritus of Pi Beta Phi. From the date of her initiation, which occurred soon after the founding of Maryland A, Blanche was a vital force in the chapter. Her home was always available for every sort of fraternity gathering, and to it the out-of-town students went for weekends and for holidays as to a second home. They all enjoy recalling the warm hospitality offered on numberless occasions by Miss Reisinger and her delightful father and mother.

The year following graduation was spent doing postgraduate work in English and history at Cornell University. Most of the time since then ill-health has kept her at home, but during the years of suffering her loyalty to the Fraternity has never faltered. For the past fifteen years the Settlement School has been her big interest in life, as witness the fact that all the correspondence and bookkeeping of the magazine agency has been carried on by her personally.

In the reports published each year in the secret issues of THE ARROW, readers must have remarked the steady increase in the earnings from this source. But when one expresses grateful wonder, Blanche disclaims the credit, insisting that without the co-operation of loyal individuals among the alumnae, the results could not have been accomplished. She tells that the earnest support she has received from Miss Kellar and Miss Onken, during their respective terms as Grand President, has helped her wonderfully. And she thinks it worthy of note that in spite of the tremendous pressure of duties attendant upon this office, Miss Onken finds time to send in more subscriptions than any other person.

But best of all in this work for the Settlement School is the fact that its author and maintaining organizer derives untold pleasure from the service. Association through correspondence with individuals and clubs throughout Pi Phi-dom, brings to her, in larger measure, perhaps, than to any other member, the deep and broadening influence of fraternity life. Miss Reisinger's reply to anyone who speaks of the good she has accomplished is always to the same effect, "The Settlement School has done far more for me than I can ever do for the Settlement School."

Too Many Honorary Societies

At a recent district convention of Mortar Board it was stated that colleges and universities, particularly in the Middle West, have far too many honorary societies, and that their demands are over-taxing the energies of students. There was a hint of criticism for sorority chapters which allow their members to engage in too many activities, and the wish was expressed that somehow or other, the number of honorary groups could be reduced, in the hope that the value of those left could be increased.

The thought propounded by the Mortar Board delegates is worth serious consideration. Many chapters demand that their members take part in a specified number of activities. But there should be a maximum as well as a minimum number in which they may engage. The extra-curricular efforts should be limited when they appear to be interfering with studies or sane habits of living.

There is no denying the value of honorary societies in special fields. Many professional organizations supplement classroom work. These should remain and be supported. But the dozens of underclass honoraries, membership in many of which is based on political "pull" or friendship rather than merit, and whose record of achievements fail to justify their existence, should go. Sororities can help themselves in conserving the energies of their members for more useful purposes, by withdrawing from meaningless organizations.

The New "Arrow"

FRATERNITY JOURNALISM has, in the past few years made a remarkable advance in its dignity of purpose and degree of professional attainment. This, however, is not surprising when one must be exponents of the best in it.

The Bantas—father and son—and their organization have shown the way in this movement for a dignified and worthy fraternity press. Through Banta's Greek Ex-

GEORGE BANTA, JR.

considers the progress of the fraternity world in general. Hand in hand with the realization by Greek leaders of the place and value of fraternity in college and university life of today has come a like recognition that the publications which represent this fraternity world change, through the influence of a printing plant which produces one hundred and eighteen periodicals, and, lastly, by reason of the splendid idealism and fraternal devotion of George Banta, Sr.—a heritage abundantly carried on in the son—the George Banta Publishing Company has been a leader in this constructive program.

That such should be the case is not at all surprising. For half a century, "Banta" has been a name to conjure with in fraternity affairs. This, because those who carry that name have won the esteem and confidence of all who wear the badge of a Greek-letter organization. Phi Delta Theta owes a debt of gratitude to the father and son who have served so faithfully on its Grand Council. But not alone to Phi Delta Theta have their influence and vision been limited. The entire fraternity world has felt the inspiration of their achievements.

Foremost among the results of such a happy union of fraternity interest and life work is the high standard of journalism maintained and consistently upheld by the Banta Company. Not only are the Banta-printed magazines notable for their uniform excellence of typography and press work, they are moreover distinctly in the van of the present-day movement toward a combination of the highest artistic ideals of the printing profession with the special needs and demands of the Greek-letter press. The Banta organization has acquired during long years of association with fraternity people a background of experience that plays an important part in the service it now renders to so many groups. It is able to give its patrons a highly favorable ratio of value to printing expense when consideration is paid to all the factors involved. That its policies are sound in principle is abundantly proved by the success which it has enjoyed in its chosen field.

Pi Beta Phi is happy to announce that once again its ARROW will be among the Banta-printed publications after an absence of five years. It may be safely assumed that Pi Phis will welcome with delight the interesting and attractive new dress in which their magazine now appears. The format throughout has been designed in accord with those qualities which make for a page which is at the same time both readable and artistic. Nor has economy of expenditure been forgotten, for the new type arrangement is of a more condensed form—which means saving of valuable space. The new type format was designed by the technical staff of the Banta Company with the helpful criticism of THE ARROW editor. It embodies the sound principle that short lines are more easily read than longer ones, and can be used therefore with less spacing between them. The effect will be to reduce the bulk of the magazine without lessening the amount of reading matter it contains. The cover plate and department headings are especially designed to harmonize with the general type style and are also a product of the Banta organization.

Witnesses Capture of Peking

A most interesting account of the capture of Peking is described in a letter under date of June 10, from Talitha Gerlach, Indiana Gamma, who went to China in 1926 as foreign secretary of the Y.W.C.A. To many people the press reports of war in China and the capture of Peking have been nothing more than a Chinese puzzle, but Miss Gerlach in her letter gives a concise and interesting report of a history-making event.

The letter follows:

One week ago in the middle of the night of Saturday, June 2, Chang Tso-Lin, the Manchurian warlord and self-appointed head of the Peking government for the last two years, slipped out of Peking quietly, returning to his home in Mukden and leaving the city in the hands of a civilian committee. The third column of the Nationalist revolutionary army (troops under the command of General Yen Hsi-Shan) and the second column of the Nationalist revolutionary army (troops under General Feng Yu-Hsiang) were drawing close to the city, and old Generalissimo Chang decided to give up without fighting.

Observed from the outside, his retreat was dignified and orderly in every respect. For several days the commonest sight on the streets was that of soldiers in rickshas, in carts, in automobiles loaded down with their worldly possessions making for the railroad station. One detachment of troops was left in the city to help the police in maintaining order until the Nationalists should arrive. And perfect order was maintained.

COMMUNISTS FEARED

The city gates closed between seven and eight o'clock every evening. Some opened for a few hours each day to permit vegetables to be brought into the city; others were opened for no one; people on the streets after seven or eight o'clock were challenged; shops closed almost with the setting of the sun. Thus, in perfect peace and calm the city held itself in expectancy for several days. It had been feared that the Communists would take advantage of this transition period to start disturbances and, therefore, every possible precaution was taken to prevent an outbreak.

During this interim many copper notes became worthless and food stuffs rose in price. As is always the case in a period of stress, the poor people suffered most from these fluctuations. Let me say in passing that old Chang, when he departed, took with him much of the rolling stock of the railroads, the best furniture in the governmental residences, the machinery from the government mint and printing bureau, etc. Thus old Chang looted in high places, whereas his ordinary troops left the city untouched.

NATIONALIST FLAG APPEARS

One week later on Friday, June 8, the Fengtien troops who stayed to protect the city marched out one of the east gates of the city, singing as they went, while the troops of General Yen Hsi-Shan came into the city from the opposite direction. Immediately the long suspense was ended. The almost ominous peace and calm of the last few days took on a decidedly free and joyful atmosphere. People in greater numbers were seen on the streets going about their regular work.

The Nationalist flag appeared almost like magic from the door of practically every shop or place of business. The city remained peaceful and calm, but now the people were decidedly happy. The incoming soldiers were worn and very tired looking, but orderly and friendly. They paid for what they bought and were courteous, and what more could the shopkeepers ask? Today General Yen Hsi-Shan himself is expected in the city. Thus Peking changed from North to South with perfect orderliness and dignity and peace. It was, indeed, a remarkable demonstration of statesmanship.

Yesterday one slight complication arose, which we hope will be straightened out in a day or two. The soldiers of Feng Yu-Hsiang, mentioned above, have stationed themselves to the south and east of the city, remaining outside the walls, while the troops of Yen Hsi-Shan have actually entered the city. This was according to agreement among the Nationalist commanders. Furthermore, it was promised that when the Fengtien troops who had stayed to guard the city, left, that they would be permitted to pass safely through the Nationalists lines to the east.

PEKIN IS CUT OFF

This agreement has not been entirely adhered to and both Chinese and foreigners are deeply disturbed by this apparent breach of faith and trust. It seems that one of Feng Yu-Hsiang's commanders says he has orders from Feng to disarm and detain these "enemy" soldiers. How this affair will be settled, we do not know. We are sincerely hoping that these northern troops will be permitted to go on their way unmolested. They performed a good service in Peking and they should be granted safe passage, according to the original agreement.

For several days during the transition, Peking was entirely cut off from the outside world—trains had stopped running and telephone and telegraph communications were interrupted. Even now, one train a day is running between here and Tientsin, but it is not reliable. It does help to keep mail coming through. Telephone and telegraph connections have not yet been restored.

Yesterday, several of us took a ricksha ride into the South City, just to see the new flags flying. I felt as though I were starting out on a Fourth of July celebration. And what a picturesque sight it was! Large red flags with a blue field and a white sun in the center gracefully fluttering in the breeze. The narrow, busy streets of the Chinese city were a riot of color and the people were happy.

NEW PERIOD OPENING

China has achieved another milestone in its history. Although the area around Tientsin and Manchuria has not yet been settled, we can now say that the country is united under the Nationalist government. The problems of government and social rehabilitation are tremendous problems waiting to be solved. There probably are many stormy months and years ahead, for peace and unity are not achieved over night.

However, a new period of history is opening out before the country, a period which promises comparative peace and constructive progress. This peaceful transfer of Peking has been a model of the peaceful way in which things can be done when there is real co-operation and unity of purpose.

'Tis a great time to be alive and in Peking! I almost have to pinch myself to realize that I'm actually living through this great period in the history of China.

Dean of Women in the public schools, she became instructor in biology at her alma mater in 1913 and continued until 1917 when she was made assistant professor and in 1922 associate professor.

Miss Mack has been dean of women since 1917. She is a member of Phi Kappa Phi and an A.A.A.S. Fellow. Her home is in Dayton, Nevada.

Helping Hoover

Members of Pi Beta Phi were given the privilege of taking a prominent part in the past presidential campaign and election. Mercedes Janet Hurst, Indiana Beta, was appointed to the Republican National Committee headquarters in Washington to organize the college women throughout the country into Hoover-Curtis clubs. Her work was under the general supervision of Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican national committee in charge of women's activities. Mercedes taught journalism and history in the high school at her home, Peru, Indiana, following her graduation from the University of Indiana and during the past year she taught at Fort Wayne.

Another active worker was Margaret Wagner, Wisconsin Alpha, who did special work for the director of the Hoover-Curtis organization bureau. On college campuses, Rhea Shaw was an active leader at the University of North Dakota and Jane Clover at Northwestern.

National Food Contest Judge

Among the three nationally known authorities on home economics and food chemistry who served as judges in the $500 Cash Prize Recipes contest conducted by the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages in connection with the industry's national advertising campaign was Dr. Lillian B. Storms, Iowa Lambda, who is the director of the home economics department of the American Bottlers of Carbonated Beverages.

The purpose of the contest is to obtain from housewives, chefs, home economics teachers and their pupils, and others, as many new ideas as possible for the use of these "soft drinks" in the home, in hotels, restaurants, school lunchrooms, hospitals and elsewhere.

Winners of the contest will be announced December 1.

Recipes selected as probable prize winners will be tested at the George Washington University home economics department so that, under the rules for the contest, the judges may be assured that the recipes chosen are "desirable and practical for general use."

To Debate on Deferred Pledging

At the annual meeting of the Interfraternity Conference to be held in New York, November 30 and December 1, one of the features will be a debate upon the subject of deferred pledging. Two teams of three men each have been selected to present the arguments pro and con.

Up in the Clouds

Ethel Nimmo Lewis, Nebraska Beta, recently made the trip from Cheyenne to Omaha with her husband, an air mail pilot. Mr. Lewis piloted Will Rogers from Cheyenne to Salt Lake City, and was mentioned in Mr. Roger's Saturday Evening Post story of January 28.

James Murray, also an air mail pilot, one of the most expert and oldest in point of service in the air mail between Salt Lake City and Omaha, the husband of Evelyn Jensen Murray, Wyoming Alpha and Michigan Beta, has been transferred to the main offices of the Buehing Air Company in Washington, D.C.

General Federation President

Emma Eaton White (Mrs. Edward Franklin) of Indianapolis was elected president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the largest organization of women in the world, at the San Antonio convention in June. Mrs. White will be president for the coming two years.

Athletic Star

In the rotogravure section of the New York Times for September 30 was a picture of Mary Walton, Pennsylvania Alpha, with the caption "A Star of the Athletic World at Swarthmore." Mary is captain of the girls' basketball team which has been undefeated in four seasons, tennis champion of the college, and plays center on the hockey team.

College Club President

Laura Wright Carew (Mrs. Harold D.), Massachusetts Alpha, has been elected president of the College Women's Club of Pasadena, California, which has a membership of more than four hundred representing more than a hundred colleges in the United States, Canada, and Europe. Mrs. Carew is the wife of the literary editor of the Pasadena Star-News, who is also well known as a magazine writer.

Mae Siefkin Short (Mrs. Mac V.), Kansas Beta, is one of the twenty-five charter members of the recently organized Women's Aeronautical Association of Wichita. Mrs. Short's husband is the chief engineer of the Stearman Aircraft Company.

Distinguished Flying Cross

Marion Maddux Gray, California Beta, whose husband, Captain Hawthorne Gray, died last November in an attempt to establish a new world's record for aircraft, was given the Distinguished Flying Cross as a posthumous award to her husband. Following is the citation:

Hawthorne C. Gray, Captain Air Corps, United States Army. For heroism while participating in aerial flights. On March 9, 1927, he attempted to establish the world's altitude record for aircraft, but due to faulty oxygen apparatus, he fainted at an altitude of 27,000 feet, recovering consciousness after fifty-two minutes when his balloon having overshot its equilibrium point, descended to an atmosphere low enough to sustain life. Undaunted by this experience, Captain Gray on May 4, 1927, made a record attempt when he attained an altitude of 42,700 feet, higher than any other earth creature has ever gone. On his descent, however, his balloon failed to parachute and it was necessary for him to descend 8,000 feet in a parachute.

With faith still unshaken and displaying great courage and self-reliance, Captain Gray on November 4, 1927, made the third attempt, which resulted in his making the supreme sacrifice. Having attained an altitude of 42,000 feet he waited for ten minutes, testing his reactions before making a last rapid climb to his ceiling and a more rapid descent to safe atmosphere. Undoubtedly his courage was greater than his supply of oxygen, which gave out at about 37,000 feet.

Defends College Girl

In an interesting interview in the Pittsburgh Press, Mabel Scott Brown (Mrs. R. D.), Columbia Alpha, Pi Beta Phi cataloguer and in charge of the Central Office, comes to the defense of the overly criticized college girl. A part of the interview follows:

"The college girl is so well organized. She works well in groups. She will sacrifice anything for the good of the organization of which she is a member. And it is not only for her own group but for others. She wants fair play for all."

The college girl may be a leader, have initiative and ability to do things, but do not think she is restive under guidance, Mrs. Brown warns.

"She welcomes direction from older people. She wants to be shown the right way to do things. And she is unusually efficient. When her mother was in college she could not face the problems the college girl of today meets. Suppose the fraternity wants to buy a house. The college girl of today would know how to float a bond issue. Her mother would have had to say, 'wait till I go home and ask papa.'"

The college girl is as keen as the business woman of fifty, Mrs. Brown asserts. She may not have the knowledge and the experience but she has thoughts and ideas and a vocabulary.

The woman's social college fraternity has reached a position never heretofore accorded it, the cataloguer says. Formerly frowned upon by deans and college presidents, today it is their first aid in building programs, in disciplinary measures and everything else. When prey wants to build a stadium he says to the fraternities, "Get out and hustle." And they do.

Women and Journalism

Women read newspapers more than men, and therefore papers should cater to women readers.

That is the opinion of Mrs. John C. Gorman of Winterset, who took charge of the Winterset Madisonian when her father, Ed. M. Smith, became secretary of state recently.

Just as many dissatisfied customers complain to a woman editor as to a man, Mrs. Gorman has found, but she declares she is becoming more independent daily.

Thirteen Pi Phis were among the seven hundred young women from various mid-western colleges and universities who attended the Y.W.C.A. Conference at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, August 17-27.

Ten days were devoted to interesting and inspirational meetings, hikes and stunts, and many good times, but probably best of all was the opportunity to meet girls prominent in activities on other campuses and the beginning of lasting friendships with thirteen wearers of the Arrow.

Pi Beta Phi had the largest representation of any fraternity present at the Mid-Western Conference of Women's Self-Government Association, held at Carlton College, Northfield, Minnesota, April 18-21, 1928.

New Arrow Editor

PI BETA PHI IS FORTUNATE in securing Josephine M. Coates as the new editor of THE ARROW. She is unusually well qualified for this position from the standpoint of her interest in the fraternity, and her training in journalistic work. Her home is in Wausau, Wisconsin.

She was initiated into Illinois Beta, attending Lombard College for one year, and was graduated from the School of Journalism at the University of Wisconsin in 1924. With a background of academic training and active newspaper experience, she organized a department of journalism at Sullins College, Bristol, Virginia.

In college an enthusiastic worker for Pi Phi, our new editor was not less interested after graduation. She has kept in touch with Pi Phi interests, although not in an official capacity, and comes to her work with an excellent grasp of the program of the fraternity. We are glad that we have a member so well equipped to take the position made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Spring.

Literary Editor Appointed

(Esther Fuller, Iowa Zeta, has been appointed editor of the department "From Pi Phi Pens" and will begin her work in the February issue of THE ARROW.—The Editor)

TO READERS OF THE ARROW: Being editor of the book section of THE ARROW sounds like an office that would require a literary person.

ESTHER FULLER, Iowa Z

If hurrying out on a street car to get the details of an accident, if riding all over town with a photographer in search of an elusive person who has done something worthy of attention from the news column of our paper, if sitting at a typewriter afterward trying to make the letters assume the shape of words and the words fall into thoughts—all this in time for the next edition—well, in short, if being employed by a newspaper can be classed as literary work then I am a literary person. For since my graduation last June I have been reporting on the staff of the Tribune-Capital in Des Moines.

A catalogued list of the things I did during the last four years while I was a member of Iowa Zeta chapter located at the University of Iowa, Iowa City, wouldn't mean much insofar as being the editor of this section goes. My main connection with Pi Beta Phi in a literary way has been through the time that I was corresponding secretary for my chapter and when I was one of the reporters for the convention daily at the Breezy Point convention. My greatest thrill in this work came when I almost missed the special train back to Minneapolis because it took so long for me to write up that last convention session.

However, I majored in journalism when I was an undergraduate, and took my degree in that work last June. During my four years, I worked on the school's daily newspaper in the various departments. During that time there was also a more or less active interest in the literary magazine published on the campus.

As for plans for the book section—my biggest hope at the present time is that in some way I can get the names of one-half, or even one-fourth, of our Pi Phi writers within the next few weeks—and that every Pi Phi who returns triumphantly from a trip to the publishers will consider it her bounden duty to write me the next day and tell me all about the forthcoming book or article.

Always a joy to those who play Santa Claus to the children is the announcement of new children's books. Two new ones by Dorothy Rowe (Mrs. Benjamin March), Maryland Alpha, have recently been published by the Macmillan Company. The Moon's Birthday, a companion volume to The Rabbit Lantern, gives more fascinating stories of Chinese children and customs, and The Begging Deer contains stories of the children in the land of kimono and cherry blossoms.

The Moon's Birthday is labeled "Ages 6 to 8," but anyone of any age would enjoy it. Mrs. March was born in China and her knowledge of customs and living combined with her subtle charm and appreciation of children's quizzical dispositions produces a most entertaining series of stories. The illustrations with these stories are particularly significant—the artists are Chinese, K'o Shuang and Ma Tzu-Yu—and this book alone contains eight full page color plates.

In a sense, Mrs. March's stories are sugar coated lessons for children, for in The Begging Deer is the story of Ukiko, a little girl, whose name means happiness, and the story of Yuki who hated arithmetic lessons, but finally found that they weren't so difficult after all, and many others all having a delightful background and interesting events so that a child's comment at the conclusion of a story is very certain to be that oft repeated request, "Just one more story, please, mother."

Olive Rathbun Wilcox, Wyoming Alpha, who is private secretary to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, had an interesting article in a spring number of the Institute section of the New York Herald-Tribune.

In this day of everyone dieting for some ailment or another, Stefansson gives some advice that explodes a number of theories. Most people raise their hands in horror when you suggest having meat three times a day, but Miss Wilcox says: "Stefansson has learned in the fields of dietetics in the Arctic that white men can retain perfect mental and physical health on a diet of meat alone." The explorer and some of his friends are now attempting to prove that the same mental and physical health can be maintained in New York City on a meat diet as in the Arctic regions.

Along with the recipes for preparing meats in the Institute department, Miss Wilcox gives several that Stefansson recommends. Among them frozen liver—served raw, frozen a little harder than ice cream.

Jack Sprat by Isabel Jones Campbell, Oklahoma Alpha, is announced by the Coward-M'Cann, publishers for 1929 publication. Mrs. Campbell's work in Harper's Bazaar and other magazines is well known, especially "Cock-A Doodle-Do" which appeared last year.

The latest work, Jack Sprat, was completed this past summer while the writer was summering near Falls Village, Connecticut.

It is a story of family life—has no hero or heroine and the four major characters are of equal importance. Coward-M'Cann is a new publishing firm, but both members are familiar with the business as they were associated with Bobbs-Merrill for a number of years. The list offered for fall selling is an ambitious one, and among things are Thornton Wilder's plays and the Literary Guild choice for September, Villon.

Margaret Weymouth Jackson, Michigan Alpha, continues her literary work with an interesting story, "Monkeyshiners," which appeared in the July 28 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. With that story Mrs. Jackson achieved the ambition many seek—her name was on the Post cover.

Olive Gilbreath, Michigan Beta, is the author of an article in Har- per's Magazine for September, entitled "China's Covered Wagon." Harper's said of her: "As this issue goes to press Olive Gilbreath, a trained observer of foreign conditions who writes for Harper's from time to time, is on her way back from Peking to the United States by way of Siberia and Russia. Her article describes a migration of astonishing proportions; she tells us that this migration is the all-absorbing topic of today in Northern China." Olive is the author of "Miss Amerikanka," a Russian story which appeared in 1918, and of "If Today Have No Tomorrow," a story of the Russian Revolution which appeared in 1926.

Hope Chipman, Michigan Beta, is co-author with Warren R. Good of a geometry which is being published by Lippincott Company, and will come from the press during the winter. Hope is teaching mathematics in the University High School at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

My Fraternity

My fraternity is my college home—never a mere political organization to put me "in line" for anything but life. It is sacred. Its purpose in relation to me is to make me a bigger and better man. Therefore, in return, I owe at the very least, this much: first, to be a man myself; second, to go even so far as to make great sacrifice, if necessary, to get the right men in and keep the wrong men out; and third, to do my part always to see that the social and intellectual and moral life of the fraternity is kept to the high level of the ritual.—The Purple, Green and Gold of Lambda Chi Alpha by way of The Angelos of Kappa Delta

The Flag of Old Smoky

(The "Trader Horn" of Gatlinburg discovered by Blanche Curtis delivered an address on the history of Gatlinburg at the annual Old Timers' Day celebration, which took place while the Settlement School committee was holding its regular summer session. Mrs. Curtis prevailed upon him to write the history for THE ARROW and the following article by Jim Lawson appears exactly as it was submitted to Mrs. Curtis.—THE EDITOR)

PERPETUALLY ENVELOPED in a dreamy and mysterious blue haze, the Great Smoky Mountains stand like silent sentinels of a remotely distant, yet strangely near, terra incognita—or like unnoticed monuments of a weirdly romantic history, ancient and modern, that has almost faded into oblivion, while the world rushed swiftly, madly by with its eyes shut.

Some of the almost enclosed valleys of this region have long been called "coves" which is a national term. One of the first of these to be settled was then called "Miller's Cove" but now contains the thriving, industrial village of Walland, situated just within the Chilohowee Range which is the outer or western parallel range of the Great Smoky Mountain System—Little River, flowing swiftly down from its many lofty sources in the main range, unites its rushing waters and cuts through the outer range at Walland; and the mountain breeze blowing steadily down through "the gap" all night causes all the tree-tops in the gap to lean one way thus growing slightly bent. This gap is the western gateway of the Smoky Mountain Region. The valley within called Miller's Cove was thinly settled soon after the settlement of Knoxville and Maryville or ful valley which appears to be entirely surrounded by mountains but has an almost invisible outlet down the narrow defile of Cove Creek to Walden's Creek and West Pi-soon after the revolution. The village and name of Walland are more recent.

One of the next valleys to be settled was Wear's Cove, a beautigeon River. Wear's Cove was probably discovered and claimed by Samuel Wear but he never settled there; instead he settled on West Pigeon River just above the mouth of Walden's Creek. He was a soldier of the Revolution and one of the founders of the "State of Franklin" or "Frankland," and the state of Tennessee and the County of Sevier. A marble monument has recently been erected to his memory in an old long-neglected cemetery, on his old farm where it is said that he and some of his family and neighbors were buried. Around Wear's pioneer home, a stockade was erected as a partial defense against Indian attacks. This crude, wooden fortification was called Wear's Fort. About 1795, three settlers, Aaron Crowson, William Hatcher and a man named Percyfield or Percival, camped awhile at Wear's Fort, preparing to settle in the beautiful, vacant valley of Wear's Cove. On a preliminary visit to his new home, Percival was ambushed and killed by Indians. His friend, Crowson, who was with him, escaped to Wear's Fort and, returned with three other men, found poor Percival's body on the mountain and carried it into the valley and buried it. The grave is well known to this day, marked by two rough stones but with no inscription. Soon after this bloody tragedy Crowson and Hatcher began to build their new homes in the valley. Other settlers soon followed; a prosperous community gradually grew up and the Indians never molested the peaceful valley again, till the time of the Civil War. The name, Wear's Cove, was afterward changed to Wear's Valley and Wearwood.

Early Gatlinburg

Gatlinburg was settled, it seems, sometime from 1801 to 1807, the first settlers coming over the Indian Gap Trail, probably on horseback and on foot from South Carolina and North Carolina—a few came in later from other directions. The place was first called, "The White Oak Flats" but the Post Office name was changed to Gatlinburg in honor of a man who kept a store there just before the Civil War—and now let us return to Miller's Cove and Wear's Cove.

At the outbreak of the Civil War, the people of the Smoky Mountain Region were almost unanimous for peace. They did not want war or anything that might bring war. Very few of them had any slaves—they did not see much of the benefits or evils of slavery, or think much about it. They were for peace and the status quo. But Tennessee seceded from the Union and the mountaineers, from Little River Gap to the top of Smoky, stood up and protested that they had not seceded. A mass meeting of men from the mountain coves and many from below the mountains, convened in the open air near the banks of Little River just above the Gap. They had dinner and a speech or two and a muster or drill, but they had something more serious before dinner. They cut two long, straight poles and spliced them together. The skillful blacksmith, Aaron Burns, bound the splice securely with strong, iron bands. The ladies had made a silk flag—the stars and stripes. This banner was fastened securely on the pole then, with the aid of ropes and long forked poles, they raised the tall flag staff and settled it in its place. The flag opened its folds and waved on the soft breeze. A great cheer rent the air and echoed and re-echoed from the rugged mountain sides. And thus did these quiet, conservative, peace-loving mountaineers declare their loyalty to the old flag, and openly challenge eleven sovereign states to mortal combat. The spot was right where the Walland Hotel or Chilohowee Inn now stands but there was no village and no hotel there then, only one lonesome cabin in sight—one family to watch the fate of the flag but, yet, that wild and lonesome glen by the side of a mountain road and a roaring mountain stream, faced the opening of Little River Gap—at that time the principal open gateway to the Smoky Mountains.

A New Flag

The flag was not on a rope and pulley to raise and lower each morning and evening when the bugle sounds reveille and retreat, but it was fastened to the mast and there it proudly floated day and night, summer and winter, till the wild storms tore it to tatters. Once a company of Confederate cavalry started from Maryville to search for men and rifles in the mountain coves. A secret message reached Miller's Cove ahead of them and thirty mountain men assembled to defend the flag. It was a bright, beautiful moonlight night—the flag waved and fluttered in the breeze coming down from old Smoky; all was quiet and peaceful. The guard sat among the paw-paw bushes on the opposite bank of the narrow river, their long rifles resting across their knees, their ears alert for every sound. They were not accustomed to war but each man was a super-expert in rifle-shooting, able to hit a squirrel's eye in the top of a high tree. Presently the faint sound of iron-shod hoofs striking on flinty rocks could be heard far down the river, approaching nearer. Again Captain Elijah Hatcher, an old farmer armed with a long rifle repeated his command of caution, "Boys, don't shoot unless they disturb the flag, but if they do, then shoot to kill." The enemy approached, the guards steadied their rifles for deadly work, then, above the din of tramping hoofs, rang out the sharp command, "Halt"—and all was still. The guards silently caressed the locks of their long rifles and watched and listened. The moment was laden with danger—a word, a motion, might bring a flash of flame, a stroke of ready death from thirty rifles. Then, over the rippling waters came words to this purport: "Soldiers of the Confederacy, we are fighting for a new flag, the stars and bars that we all love, but on that tall pole is the old flag, the stars and stripes that our forefathers followed in the dark days of the Revolution. Don't molest it; don't insult it; boys, salute the flag." And every Confederate soldier saluted the Union flag and some of them rode in a circle around the tall pole and swung their hats and yelled, "Hurrah, for the old flag!" Then they rode out of the jaws of death, away from the muzzles of thirty silent rifles—for not a shot was fired.

They rode on up the river in the night and searched the next day for men and rifles but found none. In every log house of the mountain caves the women and children treated the invaders like friends and gave them the best dinners that they could, and in the afternoon, the Confederates rode back down the river, passed the tall flag staff again and returned to Maryville without further incident. But the war grew worse—the defenders of the flag nearly all scouted through to Kentucky and joined the Union army. But the flag still floated in solitary grandeur as if to guard the Gap and, the next year, after the storms had torn it to tatters, another company of Confederate cavalry came along and camped by the tall pole. Two of them called at the cabin in sight and asked for an axe. The old woman fearing they might have designs on the flag pole, gave them a very dull old axe; later, she heard its dull, beating strokes and, after dark, she heard the sound of the tall pole falling like a tree. The Confederates tore the remains of the banner from its staff and carried the stars away and dropped the ragged stripes to the ground. The next day two little girls gathered the soiled fragments of red and white silk and played with them. The old flag had fallen in the Smoky Mountains—would it ever be restored again?

Parson Brownlow

And what about Wear's Cove with its memories of early Indian war? Since the day of the Percival tragedy in 1795, this beautiful valley had been settled in peace and remained undisturbed. But the news of secession aroused the people from their slumbers. They held a public meeting, condemned secession, and declared that they were for Union and peace, and they would have peace if they had to fight for it—their mountain-walled valley must be sacred from hostile invasion. So they organized a military company, similar to the "minute men" of the Revolution which they called a "home guard." Soon after this, a distinguished visitor sought refuge in this secluded valley. He was Parson Brownlow, the famous union editor of Tennessee, the most vitriolic writer in America, a man of rough speech and kind heart. He had suspended publication of his paper, The Whig, and sought safety in the shadow of the mountains. He rested awhile in the home of Postmaster Valentine Mattox of Wear's Cove. One night his assistant editor, William Rule, arrived at the Mattox home—Rule had scouted through Knoxville to warn Brownlow that his enemies were on the trail. The next day Brownlow and Rule went to the home of "Squire" Richard Crowson. About that time a wild rumor came from some unknown source that the rebels were coming, burning houses which they had threatened to do. The rumor was false but the "home guard" shouldered their long rifles and hastened to Crowson Gap to meet the hostile invaders. As the guard passed "Squire" Crowson's house, Brownlow appeared on the porch—some of the guards recognized him—"Brownlow! Brownlow! a speech from Brownlow!" they called, and this was his speech—a motto of the Revolution: "Boys, trust in God and keep your powder dry." With this speech ringing in their ears they marched on to the gap to defend their homes but the enemy did not come that day; after that superior forces of Confederate cavalry often dashed in suddenly, making resistance impossible and searched the valley for men, arms, and horses. From "Squire" Crowson's house, Brownlow went farther up the valley to the home of Alexander Andrew Coulter, a firm Union man and a near relative of Alexander H. Stephens, Vice President of the Confederacy. But Coulter's house was in a very open place so Brownlow soon visited the home of Reverend J. B. Lawson and expressed his desire to go next to the wild mountains since the danger seemed to increase every day. Preacher Lawson was not a native of Wear's Cove but from Greeneville, Tennessee, descended from the Lawsons and Byrds of "Old Virginia"—he had refused to hold public office as tax collector for the Confederacy and deliberately cast his lot with the almost hopeless, loyal Union people of the Smoky Mountains. He did not know the mountains so well as some of the native people so he called in consultation Professor Bryson McFall, a backwoods teacher and hunter who knew the mountains almost as well as he knew Webster's Spelling Book. When Brownlow asked, "Brother McFall, can you take me to a place where the rebels can't find me?" the backwoodsman declared very emphatically, "Parson Brownlow, I can take you to a place where the very old Satan can't find you." Brownlow instantly replied, "All right, Brother McFall, that is the very place I have been looking for these forty years."

The young Mrs. Lawson, now a venerable widow, heard that conversation and can relate it today as if she heard it yesterday. Five men, Brownlow, Dowell, Keener, Lawson, McFall, went out and camped awhile in the mountains. All were fugitives—on the black list for their known loyalty to the Union. But soon Brownlow returned to Knoxville, voluntarily surrendered to the Confederates and was put in prison and kept there until he wrote to the Confederate Secretary of War and proposed, "If you will give me a pass through the lines I would do for your Confederacy, what Satan has never done—I will leave it." Audacity won—the pass was given but Brownlow's friends in Wear's Cove had only seen the beginning of their sorrow. The home guard could not cope with the forces that came so frequently and so suddenly against them. They were driven into the woods like wild beasts. With great danger and difficulty they did a little farm work, provided for their homes the best they could, and then most of them scattered through by night, marched on foot to Kentucky and joined the Union army. Wear's Cove and its immediate environs, with about sixty dwelling houses at that time, furnished seventy-four union volunteers. Men and boys enlisted, over and under military age—only a few were left at home to take care of the women and children the best they could through all sorts of danger and difficulty.

"Thomas's Legion"

There was more division of sentiment in Gatlinburg than any other community in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee. Its first settlers came over the Indian Gap trail from the Carolinas and that trail still remains a direct connection with all the South. Travel, trade, and relationship sometimes affect political sentiment. And then Colonel Thomas, the famous white chief of that remnant of the Cherokee Indian tribe in North Carolina, came over and established a military camp at Gatlinburg and tried to hold the entire Smoky Mountain region for the Confederate cause. His block house, or main building, stood on the Burg Hill with the camps and cabins of his dusky retainers near by.

He had a mixed regiment of Indians and white men, known as "Thomas's Legion." Many citizens enlisted, more or less willingly, in his force. He did a lot of work on the rough roads, changing and improving some parts of roads, both below and above Gatlinburg, and made a road part way toward Alum Cave and tried to manufacture chemicals at or near the Cave. But he did not make the Indian Gap trail, as has been so often stated, for it was in constant use long before his time. He seemed to dream of a little military and industrial kingdom of his own here in the Smoky Mountains and some of his work appeared to be for the public benefit but a regiment of red and white laborers, loafers and guerillas cannot live on mountain land and ice cold water—they must have food. So they raided around and took the corn from the crib and the bacon from the smoke house, and honey from the hive and the cattle from the pasture until they almost starved the people to death. And the people began to weary of their over lords and long for real peace and freedom—and return to the old flag. Some who had once enlisted in the Legion deserted and fled to the Union army. A Union soldier revisiting his home near Gatlinburg, was captured by guerillas and murdered. A neighbor trying to rescue him was killed also. These tragedies embittered the people and the heavy hand of military despotism and oppression still rested on Gatlinburg and the surrounding country. Even in Wear's Cove, beyond that big mountain, houses were robbed, horses stolen, and boys at work in the corn field were captured and taken to Gatlinburg to be conscripted for the Confederate service. But one night a force of Union cavalry suddenly arrived in Wear's Cove and called for guides to lead them over the mountain to Gatlinburg.

Civil War Ends

They had important business there which must have immediate attention. Guides were soon found and one of the few men left in the valley and the weary march began. Sometimes riding, sometimes leading their horses, they took the rough back road among the gray rocks and big chestnut trees along the foot of Cove Mountain and over a high gap and down through Little Green Briar Cove and up that long weary trail to the top of Horse Ridge and then over Rich Mountain down to Laurel Creek lighting the descent with a long line of pine torches. Soon after they reached the foot of the mountain a lonesome cabin appeared by the trail and an old woman aroused by the tramp of iron shod hoofs on the rocky trail, came out and gazed on the strange scene. Her two eldest sons were far away in the Union army and she with the remainder of her little family, lived with dread of the guerillas. What new danger must she face now? Who could these dark clad troopers be? Then she caught a glimpse of the flag. "Glory, glory," she shouted. "There's the old flag." An officer took it from the bearer and held it above her and let its silken folds reach her head. She threw up her arms, pulled the flag down, embraced and kissed it while tears of joy gleamed on her faded cheeks. The old flag had returned to the great Smoky Mountains. Then the troops rode over the next gap and down Fighting Creek and West Pigeon River toward Gatlinburg. When day dawned they were spreading out like a blue cloud over the open field. The Confederates fired and fled up the ridge from their camp, continuing to fire, Indian style from behind trees on the mountain, most of their bullets whizzing over the heads of the Union troops with a long drawn sound—the swan song of Confederacy supremacy in the Great Smoky Mountains.

The Union troops in the open field could only fire at the puffs of smoke on the mountains, unable to see what effect their shots had on the invisible and retreating foe. The skirmish lasted several hours. Captain Jasper of the Union Army was severely wounded; a boy, Henry Walker of Wear's Cove, son of one of the guides, shot himself accidentally with a captured gun after the battle was over and died some time later. Colonel Thomas fled to North Carolina—his dream of empire shattered. He died insane.

This was the last battle of the Civil War in the Smoky Mountains and the last battle of 250 years of intermittent war between whites and Indians east of the Mississippi from Jamestown, Virginia, to Gatlinburg, Tennessee. This is a historic spot made famous by historic events.

Today

And now, when we stand on the crest of the Burg Hill and look out over this peaceful village of Gatlinburg, we see no sign that it was ever the scene of strife and war. The quail whistles merrily in the field; the wood thrush sings on the mountainside; the automobile hums along the pike on the bank of the rippling rivers. Summer homes of city people dot the green knolls. Mrs. Duffield's white cottage stands where the block house was burned, on the crest of the Burg Hill and, on each side of it, stand the cottages of Miss Evelyn Bishop, the principal teacher and Miss Laura Thornburgh, the gifted writer. Has the pen supplanted the sword?

Near one side of the old battle field, near where the firing began, stands Riverside Hotel—and near the other side where the contest was settled forever in the Smoky Mountains, stands Mountain View Hotel. And in the very center of the old battle field, where bullets from each side criss-crossed in their whizzing flight, stands Pi Beta Phi School, one of the best country schools in the United States, yes in the Re-united States—for the flag that floats over the school is in color and spirit the same old flag that drooped in despair at Valley Forge and waved in triumph at Yorktown, the flag that faded at Little River Gap and shone anew at Gatlinburg—the flag that the widowed mothers of the mountain coves never forgot in the days of their deepest grief—the flag of the Smoky Mountains—the old "Stars and Stripes."

Panhellenic Congress

WHATEVER OF HIDDEN MEANING may lie beneath our varying fraternity symbols, the basic fabric of all is the same—enduring friendship which shall be the inspiration of such unselfishness as leads to an uncircumscribed service. However short we may fall of this goal, it is one toward which we strive, and it is this goal which National Panhellenic Congress keeps ever in mind.

National Panhellenic Congress believes as strongly in the development of fraternity individualism as does the fraternity believe in such development in its members. There is no desire or attempt to curtail such fraternity individualism. However, just as the fraternity works toward the solving of its problems and the planning of the most progressive program through the conference of experienced members, so National Congress seeks to work. Because of the great weight which is given in fraternity evaluation to the attitude found in our college Panhellenics, every effort is being put forth to the end that each college Panhellenic may reflect the spirit found in National Panhellenic Congress.

There is a splendid spirit of comradeship and understanding in National Panhellenic Congress—but National Panhellenic Congress as such is composed of but one voting delegate and two alternate delegates from each fraternity. The realization of the aims of National Panhellenic Congress can never come until everyone who wears a fraternity pin constitutes herself an active member of the real National Panhellenic Congress. When each believes and admits that the wearing of a fraternity pin cannot of itself appreciably change us from those of our associates not so favored; that not all that is good can be held within the confines of a fraternity and that if such were possible no one fraternity could encompass all that good; that fraternity means not greater privilege but increased responsibility—then we shall approach the goal which is set for all fraternities and for that alliance which they form as National Panhellenic Congress—greater capacity for true friendship and unselfish, uncircumscribed service.

Health Program Includes Interesting Experiment

AT THE ALPHA PROVINCE HOUSE PARTY last summer, Dr. Edith Gordon, secretary of the Health Program committee, gave a forty-minute talk on the Pi Beta Phi Health program. An excellent discussion followed about how to make Positive Health a practical thing in each chapter of the province.

As an outgrowth of this discussion, Alpha province has been selected as a demonstration province in the matter of health. The idea of trying out a detailed health program in the chapters of a single province in order to secure a practical working plan for general use in all chapters has long been in the mind of Dr. Edith Hedges Matzke, chairman of the Health Program Committee. Already the good work is under way.

During the summer, the Health Program committee prepared a record sheet for use in this connection. This has been printed and furnished to each chapter. There is a local health chairman and committee representing each college year in each chapter. Assisted by an Alumnae Advisory member, this committee will be responsible for collecting the record sheets each month, analyzing the data and sending it on to Dr. Gordon at the end of each semester. The report on this experiment promises to be the most interesting part of the report on the Health Program at Convention.

With the purpose of dramatizing the health idea and bringing out the underlying principles of the Health Program in a definite way, the Health Program committee of Pi Beta Phi is offering a prize for a pageant, play, poem, song, or story that best illustrates the Pi Beta Phi Ideal of Health. Material is to be in the hands of the Award Committee by May 15, 1929, and the award will be announced at Convention. The Award Committee is composed of Dr. E. H. Matzke, Mrs. M. A. Brannon, and Mrs. F. A. Rugg.

A detailed circular of information has been prepared for contestants. If you are interested, write to the Central Office for a copy of the Pi Beta Phi Health Program Prize Contest Rules.

The Alumnae Editor wishes to acknowledge the following annual club reports which arrived too late for the MAY ARROW: Los Angeles, Wichita, Sioux City, Northern New York, New Jersey, Toronto, Akron, Morgantown, Richmond, Ames, Carrollton, Des Moines, Cheyenne, Fayetteville, Wyoming, Muskogee, Ponca City.

Birmingham, Alabama.—Meetings will be held monthly at the homes of members. Mrs. Arthur Nichols, president.

Burlington, Iowa.—The club year begins in October. All meetings are held the third Thursday of each month, with two members acting as hostesses. Dinner at six o'clock, followed by business meeting, program, and social hour.

Decatur, Illinois.—Tuesday evening October 9, 7:00 P.M.—Dinner and bridge for alumnae and their husbands or friends at the Country Club; Florence Burner Metzler, chairman. November 17—Homecoming cooky-shine, Pi Beta Phi house; Edith Clark, chairman. December 11—Christmas party; Olga Keck McDavid, chairman. January 8—Afternoon bridge; Betty Holt, chairman. February 12—Evening meeting and house shower; Jessie Lockett, chairman.

Denver, Colorado.—All meetings are luncheons at one o'clock. Saturday, November 10—Mrs. Frederick B. Shaw, 211 Vine Street, chairman; Mrs. Lowell White, Panhellenic Reports. Monday, December 3—Mrs. Florence Denny Morrison, 1415 Elizabeth Street, chairman; Mrs. Charles Patch, Settlement School Meeting. Saturday, January 5—Mrs. Daisy Cones Taylor, 4605 Montview Boulevard, chairman; Mrs. Paul Barker, bridge. Monday, February 4—Mrs. Golding Fairfield, 2244 South Milwaukee Street, chairman; Mrs. Wendell Hedcock, study program.

Duluth, Minnesota.—Meetings are held on the first Saturday of each month with two members acting as hostesses. November 3—Jessie Blu and Betty Donbenberger, Settlement School meeting. December 1—Florence McDevitt and Ruby Olmstead. January 12—Nell Parker and Carolyn Krebs, constitution meeting. February 20—La Verna Houghton and Ruth Sloane, examination questions.

Fort Smith, Arkansas.—October 1—Vacation Echoes, Active Chapter. November 5—Endowment Fund. December 3—Settlement School. January 7—Social meeting. February 5—Study of constitution and history.

Glendale, California.—The Pi Phi in Glendale have been holding social meetings once a month for several years, but in December, 1927, they voted to apply for a charter and become an organized group. This step added new enthusiasm and increased the membership considerably.

Meetings are held on the fourth Friday of each month, at the homes, with a hostess committee serving the luncheon. Business follows and then a short program, or cards. The many interests of the fraternity are taken up through committees, which work with a great deal of enthusiasm and success.

Indianapolis, Indiana.—The monthly meetings will be held twice during the year on Friday evening. A travelogue by Mrs. T. G. Wesenberg, professor of English in Butler College, together with informal discussions on their recent trips to Europe by Sarah Birk and Martha Hawkins are being looked forward to.

Los Angeles, California.—November 10—Breakfast, Saturday 10:30 at home of Elizabeth Sawyer von Kleinsmid with Mrs. Ben Gerwick, Province Vice President, as guest. Friday, December 14—Luncheon, 12:30, Gamma House, 647 West Twenty-eighth Street; interior decorating, Edgar Willman. Saturday, January 12—12:30, Hollywood Studio Club, 1215 Lodi Street; Books and current literature review, Mrs. J. Vally. Saturday, February 9—2:00 P.M., Settlement School, bridge benefit.

There will be get-together luncheons on the first Monday of every month, at the Orange Tearoom, 645 South Flower Street, at twelve-fifteen. All Pi Phis are cordially invited.

The bridge groups will continue to meet once a month, during the entire year. Any Pi Phi who wishes to join a group, call Mrs. Ward Henry, Gr. 3335. The groups usually meet in the evenings, the time designated by group leaders.

Miami, Florida.—All meetings this past year were luncheons at 12:30 P.M. on Monday, every two weeks. Usually at some centrally located tearoom. Advance notices in the paper. During the winter season visiting Pi Phis invited and in the summer active girls home from college.

Mrs. Herschel H. Everett was 1927-28 president of Panhellenic. February—Panhellenic tea. April 28—Founders' Day banquet at Country Club Estates.

Minneapolis and St. Paul, Minnesota.—All meetings are held in the chapter house. November 13—Dinner meeting, six o'clock; hostesses, Mrs. Jack Smalley and Mrs. Richard McFarland. December 11—Christmas cooky-shine, six o'clock; hostesses Grace Merchant and Marion Fleck; entertaining St. Paul Club and active chapter. December 29—Annual Christmas luncheon, one o'clock; hostesses, Isabelle McLaughlin and Mrs. Edwin Fierke. January 8—Dinner meeting, six o'clock; hostesses, Mrs. E. K. Pickett and Mrs. Frederick Bass; Settlement School program. February 12—Card party, two o'clock; hostesses, Mrs. Dean Swanson, Mrs. Norman H. Tufty.

Morgantown, West Virginia.—November 14—Settlement School meeting with Elizabeth Cramer as leader; hostesses, Kathleen Miller and Frances Howard. January 9—History and constitution with Bessie Wade as leader; hostesses, Nellie Phillips and Marie Sturgis. February 13—Business and bridge; hostesses, Stella Gregg and Della Warman.

New York City.—Meetings are held the first Saturday of the month at 2:30 P.M. November—Constitution and reorganization meeting. December—Review of the current theater and Christmas party. January—Discussions and reviews of current books. February—Musical.

Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.—All regular meetings are held on the second Saturday of each month at 1:00 P.M.

Toronto, Ontario.—November—open Settlement School. December—Birthday party with the actives. January—Business meeting. February—Constitution.

Ponca City, Oklahoma.—Meetings are held the third Friday of each month. November 16—Settlement School, Mrs. Verne Van Winkle and Mrs. Dan Neil. December 21—Roll call on ARROW articles, Mrs. Orville Savage and Mrs. Neil Hartpence. January 15—Study of the constitution and history, Mrs. Ivan Williams and Ella Merry. February 15—Interest of nearest chapters, Mrs. Frederick Skeetop and Mrs. W. D. Edwards.

Poudre Valley.—November 15—Settlement School by Agnes Spring; hostesses, Mildred Ryan and Helen Ricker. December 20—Christmas party; hostesses, Agnes Spring and Ella Shawver. January 17—Miscellaneous program; hostesses, Marjorie Robinson and Rebecca Petty. February 21—Constitution by Eleanor Anderson; hostesses, Ruth Richmond and Ruth Keagy. The meetings are held the third Thursday of each month.

San Francisco, California.—December—Settlement School Benefit, chairman, Elsie Howell. February—Pi Beta Phi Tea, chairman, Mrs. Le Roy Briggs. Unscheduled meetings, chairman, Mrs. Otis B. Hergert.

Shreveport, Louisiana.—November 16—Book review by Eloise Grimm; hostesses, Mary Bain and Lillian Powell. December 14—Social meeting; hostesses, Elizabeth Hooks and Ursie LaRue. January 18—History, constitution and annual examination questions with Carrie Williams as leader; hostesses, Adele Dorchester and Carrie Williamson. February 15—Open meeting.

Syracuse, New York.—Wednesday are luncheon meetings and Friday are evening. Wednesday, November 7—Constitution and history by Mrs. G. W. Gray; hostess, Mrs. G. H. Merry. Friday, November 23—Mrs. F. L. Stone. Wednesday, December 5—Mrs. W. W. Nicholson, Jr. Wednesday, January 2—Breakfast; hostess, Mrs. P. A. Wood. Friday, January 18—Mrs. G. W. Gray. Wednesday, February 6—Breakfast, Mrs. A. O. Magnificent Gift to G. W. University

A gift of $1,000,000 from the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite Masons of the Southern Jurisdiction, to George Washington University, for the establishment of a school of government, recently was announced by the Supreme Council and the Trustees of the University. The school will be in operation upon the opening of the fall semester of 1928.

According to present advice the School of Government, when organized, will have three branches: one dealing with government from the standpoint of federal state and local governments; one embracing training for foreign service, and a third covering preparation for social service, public hygiene, chamber of commerce, public safety and welfare work.

The million-dollar fund is to be set aside as endowment, the income from which will be used to carry on the work. No building program is in immediate contemplation. According to President Cloyd Heck Marvin, "The question of buildings is not paramount at this particular time. The question of personnel is the essence of the problem."

This is the largest gift ever received by George Washington University in its 107 years of existence, and is among the largest ever made to any educational institution in the National Capital. The disposition of the fund will be entirely in the hands of the University Trustees, the donors retaining no jurisdiction.

This liberal endowment is expected to make Washington the center for students of the science of government. The gift, which is in line with the educational policy of the Supreme Council, is in the form of a memorial to "George Washington, the Mason," and will carry into execution the desire expressed in Washington's will that there be established in the National Capital a university where the youth of the land might acquire knowledge in the principles of politics and good government. While the securities left by George Washington specifically for the establishment of such an institution became worthless, George Washington University, founded in 1821, is regarded as fulfilling Washington's ideal.

In Memoriam

*Even such is Time, that takes in trust
Our youth, our joys, our all we have,
And pays us but with earth and dust;
Who in the dark and silent grave,
When we have wander'd all our ways,
Shuts up the story of our days;
But from this earth, this grave, this dust,
My God shall raise me up, I trust.*

FLORENCE CLUM TEMPLE Pennsylvania B

Florence Clum Temple, Pennsylvania Beta, died on September 24, after a short illness which resulted in paralysis.

FLORENCE CLUM TEMPLE
Pennsylvania B

The entire fraternity is deeply grieved and shocked to learn of the sudden passing of Florence Clum Temple who for so many years served as circulation manager of the ARROW.

Mrs. Temple was taken ill at Ocean City, Pennsylvania, on September 1, and passed away two weeks later. A short funeral service was held at Philadelphia and the remains were taken to Carbon-dale, Pennsylvania, to be laid at rest beside that of the grandparents of the deceased.

Florence Clum prepared for college at Peddie Institute, Hightstown, New Jersey, and finished second in her class in 1908. Her zeal for high scholarship standing was carried into Bucknell University where she graduated in 1912, cum laude.

In college activities, she won the freshman declamation contest and was on the sophomore and junior programs, she also served on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet for three years. In her junior year she was sent to Granville, Ohio, as Y.W.C.A. delegate from Bucknell. In her senior year she was president of the Women's League.

Mrs. Temple's fraternity life began when she was a freshman and her interest in Pi Beta Phi was demonstrated while she was Pan-hellenic representative as a junior and chapter president as a senior. As circulation manager of THE ARROW she made friends all over the world and gave unstintingly of her time and strength in performing this great labor of love.

For a time Mrs. Temple taught civics and American history in the Stevens High School for Girls at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, where she was a most enthusiastic worker in the Pi Beta Phi alumnæ club. At the time of her death she was holding an exceedingly responsible teaching position in Philadelphia.

Pi Beta Phi extends sincerest sympathy to the mother, Mrs. Estella P. Clum, and to the two lovely daughters who survive this most devoted and loyal member of the fraternity.

BEATRICE BECKWITH
Michigan B

Beatrice Beckwith, younger daughter of Mrs. James Beckwith of Marshall, Michigan, passed away at Sheridan, Wyoming, August 18. Beatrice had been spending the summer on a ranch, apparently in the best of health, when she became suddenly ill on August 4 with spinal meningitis. She was taken immediately to a hospital at Sheridan and her mother was sent for, arriving just a short time before her daughter's death.

Beatrice Beckwith was born at Marshall, Michigan, August 28, 1898, and graduated from Marshall High School in 1917. The following fall she entered the University of Michigan where she was initiated into Michigan Beta. Her four years at the University were crowded with many activities, including several important campus offices. She was elected to Wyvern, honorary Junior girl's society and Mortarboard. During her senior year she was treasurer of the University Y.W.C.A. and president of her chapter. Her influence in the chapter house was always for the highest good, her sense of fairness and far-seeing wisdom contributing much to the tolerant, happy spirit of the chapter.

After her graduation, she taught school in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and then opened a tea room, The Village Inn, in Bloomfield, Illinois, which proved a most successful undertaking. Her splendid executive qualities made a most lucrative profession of this business venture.

Besides her mother, one sister, Hazel Beckwith Kinch, Michigan Beta, and a brother-in-law mourn her passing. Her classmates are deeply shocked and grieved at the death of their beloved contemporary, but carry the memory of her exemplary life as a life-long inspiration.

ANNE PALMER BURGESS
Ohio I

Anne Palmer Burgess, Ohio Gamma, died in New Haven, Connecticut, August 18, following the birth of a baby daughter. She was one of the founders of the chapter at Wooster and always one of the leaders, as well as being very active in class, religious, and literary organizations in the college. After graduation cum laude she taught three years in a girls' school in Brazil and traveled through much of that country during her vacations. Upon returning to the states she entered Columbia University where she took her M.A. degree in languages, being able to speak seven different ones. Her interest was so keen in language study, that when landing in Brazil and being unable then to speak Italian or Spanish, she was able to make herself understood by speaking in Latin which she had enjoyed in school. At the time of her death she was completing her Ph.D. thesis.

During the war she taught in an American school for Spanish girls and traveled through France and Spain, where she met her husband in the American embassy.

Piano, too, was one of her special interests and was her hobby for recreation.

Last year Wooster College conferred upon her the honor of Phi Beta Kappa. In spite of her large interests in literary lines and a great desire for further travel, she had a deep home spirit and loved best to be with her two daughters and husband, refusing the invitations to act as dean of women at Wooster or later the responsibility of trustee of her Alma Mater.

Her death is a severe shock to her friends and her family. Pi Beta Phi extends sincere sympathy to her husband and children.

LORRAINE SMITH
Illinois Δ

Lorraine Smith, of Galesburg, Illinois, Illinois Delta chapter of Pi Beta Phi, died on August 9. While attending Camp Allegro, Silver Lake, New Hampshire, Lorraine contracted infantile paralysis of the bulbar type and died within five days, before her mother could reach her.

Dean W. E. Simonds of Knox College said, "It was with the deepest regret that we learned of the death of Lorraine—whom we regard as one of the most brilliant women who have attended Knox College." During her two years at Knox, Lorraine had maintained a straight A average. She was to have been a junior this year. Last spring she was elected to the position of editor-in-chief of the Knox College annual. Her interests in college activities were varied and included athletics, the Y.W.C.A., the Glee Club and journalism.

This untimely death brings to an abrupt end a useful, brilliant and charming life of an unusual girl.

LORRAINE SMITH

Few young people could leave such a record of promise and achievement. As a Pi Phi sister Lorraine held a warm place in a great many hearts. She was a most loyal and active member of Illinois Delta and it will be long before we become accustomed to Lorry's absence. She had recently been re-elected corresponding secretary in which office she fulfilled her duties most capably. Lorraine had a lovely voice and she always sang the last verse of "Speed Thee" as a solo at Cooky-shines. Our friendship with her was a great privilege and we shall miss her sorely.

To her mother, Mrs. Nellie J. Smith, Pi Beta Phi extends sincere sympathy.

FLORENCE WOODMAN GRAVES
Idaho A

Florence Woodman Graves, Idaho Alpha, passed away at her home in Seattle, Washington, July 17. Florence graduated from the university in 1924.

MYRTLE MAGUIRE KIELEY
Massachusetts A

Where would Pi Beta Phi be today without the host of girls who never do anything to compel the outside world to look and acknowledge them but who, by their loyalty, humility and exemplary life really mold the lives of those with whom they come in contact? Such a girl was Myrtle Maguire Kieley.

In 1901 she entered Boston University, College of Liberal Arts. Immediately her beautiful influence was felt as she drew to herself a small circle of devoted friends. In 1903 she was initiated into Massachusetts Alpha and from then until her death was a consistent, devoted member of Pi Beta Phi, always upholding the highest ideals. After her graduation in 1905 she taught school until her marriage to Edmund Kieley of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

In 1926 a trouble developed which did not yield to surgery. From that time until her death she suffered, but her family was not permitted to know it for fear of causing worry. In June, 1927, she simply stepped into the Land, near the border of which she had always lived. It was only a little journey to her, her life had been so pure, but her two children, Calvin and Anna, her mother, and her husband, as well as those Pi Phis whose privilege it was to know her, can hardly bear the loneliness.

Surely our lives are infinitely richer by her friendship and example and Heaven is much nearer because of her presence.

CLARA NOYES PRIDDY
Massachusetts A

Clara Noyes Priddy, Massachusetts Alpha, passed away February 1, 1928. She was very dear to a large circle of Pi Beta Phi sisters, both of Massachusetts Alpha and other parts of the country, where she has lived at different times. She had a rare personality of loyalty, enthusiasm and unselfishness, which will always be missed by all those who knew her.

MIRIAM DOYLE
Massachusetts A

Miriam Doyle was killed in an automobile accident in Buffalo, New York, on July 17. We mourn the loss of one of our most versatile and beloved members.

SUSANNE FENIMORE SMITH
Iowa Z

Susanne Fenimore Smith, Iowa Zeta, passed away at her home April 29, 1928.

BERTHA MARTIN POWELL
Indiana A

Bertha Martin Powell, Indiana Alpha, died July 15, after an illness of several days. Mrs. Powell had suffered some time from neuritis, but only a few days before her death pneumonia developed. She was a student in Franklin College, and was married to Dr. P. L. Powell, dean of Franklin College, on August 7, 1901. Mrs. Powell was a dignified, gentle, kind member, willing at all times, when her health permitted, to do whatever she could for both active and alumnae chapters. She was a devoted worker in the Baptist Church, having a large class of young women, who were influenced by the standards and ideals of their teacher. She was interested in all of the college activities, as well as concerned with the students themselves. The college, the church, and Pi Beta Phi local chapter and alumnae club mourn the loss of so splendid a woman, and extend sympathy to her husband, Dr. Powell.

ELLEN KING HOFFMAN
Iowa E

Mrs. Thos. L. Hoffman (Ellen King), Iowa Epsilon, passed away July 15, in San Diego, California.

EVELYN BRYANT MARTIN

Mrs. Percy M. Martin (Evelyn Bryant), died at Harper Hospital, Detroit, April 29, 1928, following an operation. She was buried in Bay City, Michigan.

LUCY MEANS HISCOX
California A and B

Mrs. Richard Hiscox (Lucy Means), California Alpha and

Beta, died January, 1928, in Burlingame, California. Besides her husband and small daughter, she is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Means.

GRACE SCHAEFER

Grace Schaefer died in Washington, D.C., September, 1928.

MARY HALLOWELL PATCH

Mary Hallowell Patch died August 9, 1928.

FRIEDA PENOYER HEMENWAY

Mrs. Earl L. Hemenway (Frieda Penoyer) died in child birth at South Haven, Michigan, April 21, 1928. Besides her husband and the infant daughter, she leaves a five-year-old daughter.

ELEANORE BOYER

Eleanore Boyer died in Cleveland, Ohio, April 16, 1928. She became a member of Ohio Alpha April 20, 1919. Eleanore was a brilliant student and was especially suited to teach in the Cleveland, Ohio, schools. She underwent a surgical operation for the removal of her appendix in a Cleveland hospital. Her death came as a great shock to her friends.

She was always a loyal Pi Beta Phi and deepest sympathy is extended to her sister Faye, Ohio Alpha, of Sidney, Ohio.

ALPHA PROVINCE

ONTARIO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

Chartered, 1908

Pledge Day, October 24, 1928

GRADUATES: Dorothy Clark, Marion Clark, Isabel Godfrey, Charity Smith, Mildred Wilkins.

The annual house party was again successfully held at Jackson's Point, Lake Simcoe, at the close of the college year.

Several members of Ontario A attended the splendid province house party at Cornell. They returned with a number of new and attractive plans.

Margaret Husband, Flora Featherstengah, Margaret Langley and Ruth Pearce went abroad during the summer as members of the Overseas Educational League tour. They toured Great Britain, Belgium, and France. Helen Appelbe went to Labrador.

Margaret Langley, one of the first graduates of the new course, occupational therapy, was appointed to the teaching staff of the Kingston Asylum.

The chapter apartment was redecorated for the opening of the fall semester.

RUTH PEARCE

MAINE ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MAINE

Chartered, 1917

Pledge Day, March 6, 1929

Maine A started under a handicap this fall because only twelve actives returned. Consequently, extensive plans for raising money were necessary. In order to do this the chapter gave a confetti stag dance, a peanut sale and a movie.

Besides extensive new equipment for Crosby Hall, the engineering building, the University of Maine has two new buildings this year—Rogers Hall and a new greenhouse, both units of the agriculture department.

Ruth Dow, Lydia Douglas, Rena Campbell, Geneva McGary, Ethel Saunder, Hazel Sparrow, Hazel Lindsey, Lucille Smith, Vivian Vantassel, Pearl Woodard and

Lucille Buckley attended the summer session.

The chapter is sorry to lose Rena Campbell who has been on the home economic faculty. Rena has gone to the University of Michigan to do graduate work.

Several of the chapter have become engaged to be married: Cleo DeGagne to William Walker, A T Ω; Geneva McGary to George Winter, A T Ω; and Sally Pike to Richard Gleason, Φ M Δ. Caroline Peasley, who was graduated with the class of 1928, was married, last June, to Earl Fuller, A T Ω.

The University of Maine was fortunate to have Governor Brewster for the speaker at the Vesper Hour, recently. Katherine Buck played several selections on the piano.

The fraternities on the campus tried out the deferred system of rushing this year. There will be no rushing until February, 1929. This gives the freshmen an opportunity to really become acquainted with the upperclassmen before the rushing season begins.

VERMONT ALPHA—MIDDLEBURY COLLEGE

Chartered, 1893

Pledge Day, November 3, 1928

GRADUATES: Katherine Brainerd, B.A., 39 Seminary St., Middlebury, Vt.; Jane Carrick, B.A., Newton Highlands, Mass.; Evelyn Dakin, B.A., 53 Elm St., Worcester, Mass.; Alice Fales, B.A., 3512 Montclair Ave., Detroit, Mich.; Jane French, B.A., 50 Larchmont Ave., Larchmont, N.Y.; Evelyn Quick, B.A., Elmwood St., Watertown, Conn.; Lois Robinson, B.A., Taft School, Watertown, Conn.; Louise Robinson, B.A., Taft School, Watertown, Conn.

Just before the closing of college in June, the Panhellenic Council decided to shorten the period of rushing to six weeks. The shorter period replaced the longer period which was used for several years.

Many important changes were made in the faculty staff of the college. Professor Robinson, for many years professor of Latin at Middlebury, resigned from the faculty last spring. He is now professor of French at the Taft School in Connecticut. Doctor Longwell and Professor Hathaway returned from Europe where they spent their sabbaticals. In the department of public speaking and drama, Vincent Goodreds replaced Professor William F. Morse who went to Tufts College. Benjamin H. Beck was chosen athletic director and coach for the coming year. President Moody and his family will spend four months of the year abroad, beginning in October. During his absence Dr. Howard will take his place as college chaplain.

The college, recently, had the opportunity of seeing President and Mrs. Coolidge as they passed through Middlebury. The chapter presented Mrs. Coolidge with a bouquet, tied with wine and blue ribbon.

Dedication services for the new wing of the Egbert Starr Library were held during Commencement week in June. The college was greatly benefited by this addition, both by its beauty and by the space which is now available to the students for reference and study.

At the end of the last semester, the Banshees, local senior women's honorary society, became a member of the national society of Mortar Board. Thelma Gates was the Middlebury representative of this board at the Mortar Board convention held in California. She is also president of the Student Government Association.

The chapter was well represented in college affairs last spring. Ruth Spaulding was chosen junior marshal for the Commencement exercises in June. Evelyn Dakin was a member of the Senior Ball committee. Elizabeth Parker and Alice Hagen were elected to the all-midd volleyball team. Virginia Ladd was captain of the junior class team. Mary Alice Drake and Mary Hough played on their class teams. Christine Allison was chosen the assistant editor of the college weekly publication.

Ruth Moore and Miriam Roberts were pledged soon after the opening of college.

The delegates to the Alpha Province house party, held in June at Cornell University, have returned to college with many new ideas and helpful suggestion.

FRANCELIA ROSE

VERMONT BETA—UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT

Pledge Day, February, 1929

INITIATED, March 26, 1928: Lucy Bracken, '29, Woodside, N.Y.; Marjorie Bracken, '31, Woodside, N.Y.; Jane Corwin, '31, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Anna Darling, '31, Port Jefferson, N.Y.; Ruth E. Field, '31, North Easton, Mass.; Frances French, '31, Proctor, Vt.; Dorothy Gurney, '30, Burlington, Vt.; Margaret Stanley, '31, Waterbury, Vt.;

Elizabeth Templeton, '30, Irasburg, Vt.; Mary Turner, '29, Montagne City, Mass.; Agnes Wheeler, '29, Wilmington, Vt.; Harriett E. Wright, '31, Essex Junction, Vt.

GRADUATES: Irene Bates, Ph.B., Springfield, Vt.; Elizabeth Billings, B.S., 10 S. Willard St., Burlington, Vt.; M. Elizabeth Burke, B.S., Essex Junction, Vt.; Carolyn Hyde, B.S., Benson, Vt.; Frances C. Knight, B.S., 10 S. Willard St., Burlington, Vt.; Ruth E. Lovell, Ph.B., Springfield, Vt.; Della E. Martin, Ph.B., N. Ferrisburg, Vt.; Elizabeth A. Mildon, Ph.B., Burlington, Vt.; Marjorie Purinton, Ph.B., S. Easton, Mass.; Mildred Roberts, B.S., Troy, N.Y.; Marion E. Sargent, Ph.B., Burlington, Vt.; Margaret M. Wood, B.S., Flushing, N.Y.

The University of Vermont opened September 17 with a record attendance. The usual freshman mixer was substituted by a freshman banquet which was held only for the freshmen.

The ranks of Vermont B have been greatly depleted by the loss of twelve seniors. However, several of the recent graduates live in Burlington, where they have taken positions. The chapter now consists of twenty-five members. Barbara Douglas was pledged in June.

The junior class regrets the loss of Harriett Puffer, who transferred to Simmons College in Boston; Elizabeth Templeton, who is in Boston; and Doris Kibbe who is completing her junior year at the University of Grenoble, Grenoble, France. The sophomore class lost Anna Darling who has transferred to Cornell University.

Burlington had distinguished visitors during the opening days of college. President and Mrs. Calvin Coolidge were in the city for an hour, making the brief stop to pay homage at Mrs. Coolidge's father's grave, and to revisit the scenes of her youth. The party motored by the university campus, while thousands of students and citizens stood by. Mrs. Coolidge was a graduate of the University of Vermont, and a member of Vermont B. The chapter presented her with flowers at the train.

Vermont B is thrilled over winning the Balfour Cup, and will do her best to maintain further the standards for which this cup is awarded.

Vermont B welcomes the new Alpha Province President, Charlotte Brown, '27, of Vermont B.

DOROTHY GURNEY

MASSACHUSETTS ALPHA—BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1896

Pledge Day, December 14, 1928

INITIATED, June 7, 1928: Jean Clough, '31, 546 Fifth St., Las Animas, Colo.

Massachusetts A opened her college year September 19 with seventeen active members in the chapter. From September 21 to September 24 the chapter held its annual fall house party at Wrentham, Massachusetts. Plans for rushing and the business for the coming year were thoroughly discussed.

Jean Clough was initiated in June and after the ceremony, a banquet, given in her honor, was held at the Saracen's Head in Boston. Following the banquet, the chapter had a theater party for Jean.

The results of the election of officers for $\Gamma \Delta$ were as follows: Hazel Fitts, vice president; and Dorothy Warner, chairman of the room committee of $\Gamma \Delta$. Priscilla Brown was elected vice president of Y.W.C.A.

W.A.A. had a house party at Ipswich from September 28 to October 1. Many members of $\Pi \Phi$ attended.

The Y.W.C.A. held a tea for all freshmen on September 21. The purpose of this tea was to get all new members acquainted with the work of Y.W.C.A., and to give the upperclassmen a chance to meet the freshmen.

Maria Edmonston, who was graduated last year, and who was elected to $\Phi \beta \kappa$, was the winner of a prize given by Senator Bacon for the best essay on the Constitution of the United States.

Mary Ryerson was the winner of one of the scholarships given at Boston University, and Eleanor Ham who transferred to Simmons College won the only scholarship given in the social service department at that college.

New plans for rushing were made by the local Panhellenic. Formal rushing will be held in December instead of in September. All rushing parties will be given on the same night.

RUTH HOLLINS

NEW YORK ALPHA—SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1896
Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

New York A pledged the following girls: Margaret Brown, Portland, Me.; Lillian Bruns, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Isabelle Cutting, Brooklyn, N.Y.; He'en Craine, Hamilton, N.Y.; Alice Coffman, Mannington, W.Va.; Eleanor Donovan, Redwood, N.Y.; Ruth Gray, Syracuse, N.Y.; Dorothea Harnden, Schenectady, N.Y.; Vance Sullivan, Washington, D.C.; Marian Wilner, Pontiac, Mich.; Virginia Winslow, Portland, Me.; and Madeline Yost, Fullerton, Pa.

The Syracuse University campus has been greatly improved since college closed in June. The women's gymnasium was moved near the stadium to make room for a new million dollar chapel, known as the Hendrick's Memorial Chapel. The home economics department recently opened a cafeteria for students and professors.

A rule, prohibiting cars from driving or parking on the campus which was inaugurated this fall, has proved a great boon to the appearance of the campus, and to the safety of the students. Only professors or persons who have special passes, may drive a car through the entrances which are guarded by special policemen. This made it possible to grade and seed large tracts of land which improved the appearance of the campus. The university is also working on new athletic fields for both the men and the women.

The proposed medical center which is to be composed of four hospitals and a medical college is in the process of construction. One hospital was completed and another is near completion.

A $\Gamma \Delta$ and $\kappa \alpha \theta$ fraternities will soon have new houses. The first will be of red brick and the latter of gray stone.

The chapter house has undergone considerable improvement through the efforts of a committee appointed last spring. Every active member pledged fifteen dollars to be earned during the summer. Several of the city girls and those out-of-town girls who could, returned to work on the house the month before college opened. They painted the furniture in all the upstairs rooms, decorated with delicate colors which harmonize well with each other. The music room was redecorated in mulberry and blue. New pieces of furniture were bought for the other living-rooms. The alumnae chapter installed new showers and a heating system for the water. The floors were refinished, and the outside of the house painted.

Classes began September 21, and an eight-day rushing season was opened the following day with a tea. The chapter entertained at four parties besides the tea—a paper doll party at which paper costumes were worn, a sport party, and two formal parties. Informal pledging took place Monday night, October 1.

The chapter is fortunate in having Mrs. Lura Boyd an alumna of New York A as house mother this year.

A silver cup was won last spring by Prudence Hawkins, manager of the women's rifle team, for having the highest record in marksmanship. Alice Evans was chosen as an associate editor of the year-book, the Onondagan.

The chapter joins in welcoming Charlotte Cropley Brown, the new Alpha Province President, and is looking forward with pleasure to meeting her.

MARION E. CLAYTON

NEW YORK GAMMA—ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY

Chartered, March 20, 1914
Pledge Day, October 1, 1928

GRADUATES: Dorothy Colby, B.S., Belle-rore, L.I.; Marion Delmage, B.S., Hermon, N.Y.; Janet Gordon, B.S., Taylor, Pa.; Margaret VanBergen, B.S., Brooklyn, N.Y.

New York Γ pledged the following eight girls: Jean Ayres, Elizabeth Dewhirst, Margaret Hiller, Eleanor MacDonald, Doris Suhrland, Averil Thompson, Elaine Wheaton and Katharine Wheaton.

As a result of the spring elections Dorothea Born was elected president of W.S.G.A. She is also a member of campus council. Alixe Barclay is president of the literary club, and Jessie Brainard vice president of the economics and the debate clubs.

The chapter was well represented in all the sports. There were $\Pi \Phi$ contestants in both the tennis and the archery tournaments, Eleanor Collie being runner up in the former. There were five Pi Phis participating in the annual Canoe Regatta held Commencement week. Lucille Clarke was awarded a letter in basketball, and Eleanor Collie and Gertrude Wolley were members of the squad. W.A.A. announced the various managers of women's sports, several of whom were Pi Phis. Lois Stephens is a manager of archery, Dorothea Born of basketball, Lucille Clarke of tennis, and the assistants of the latter are Doris Richardson and Grace McKenney.

A part of the Class Day exercises in June was given over to the tapping of juniors for Kalon, the women's honorary society. Of the seven members chosen two were Pi Phis: Alixe Barclay and Dorothea Born. Margaret VanBergen was initiated into $\Phi \beta \kappa$.

During the summer, the Canton alumnae held their annual picnic. About twenty-five Pi Phis attended, both alumnae and actives.

There were many improvements made on the campus this summer. Two new tennis courts were built on the dormitory grounds, and a new wing was added.

Margaret VanBergen, a graduate of last June, announced her engagement to Vincent O'Brien, $\Sigma \Lambda \text{E}$. Ruth Lewis was married in August to Emerson VanDusen, $\Sigma \Lambda \text{E}$. Carol Blood announced her engagement to Alden T. Stewart, a member of $\beta \theta \Pi$. Jessie Brainard announced her engagement to Ralph Emblidge, $\beta \theta \Pi$.

LUCILLE V. CLARKE

NEW YORK DELTA—CORNELL UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1919

Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

Although the rushing season this year started earlier than usual, the chapter house was in order after some redecoration. The girls had painted and redecored the third floor rooms. New curtains were hung in the dining-room.

New York Δ repledged Mary Bishop of Lyons, N.Y., who was pledged too late in 1927 to be initiated and who was not in college last year.

The chapter welcomes Anna M. Darling of Port Jefferson, N.Y., who transferred here from the University of Vermont.

The chapter is well represented in college activities by having three house-presidents of university outside houses: Doris Montgomery of 706 E. Buffalo St.; Dorothy Wertz, of Craig House; and Helen Allyn, of Risley Cottage, one of two remaining outside houses of the Risley group. Next year a new dormitory will take the place of some of these houses.

Dorothy Wertz is vice president of the Women's Athletic Association and class soccer manager. Muriel Gardner, publicity manager of the junior class, is secretary of the W.A.A. She is also sophomore baseball manager, on council and a member of the sophomore crew. Beth Ross who was chosen on the rifle team last spring is also on the sophomore crew. Virginia Urban who was on the freshman tennis and baseball teams is sophomore track manager. Thorstina Olsen, former captain of the freshman baseball team and member of the hockey team, is sophomore tennis manager and also the sophomore sports manager on council. Elfrieda Pope received in 1927 the German prize, in 1928 the French prize, and at the close of her junior year she was elected to $\Phi \beta \kappa$.

Margaret Gould attained one of the highest literary posts a Cornell co-ed can get when she was made women's business manager of the Cornell Daily Sun. Margaret is also one of the freshman discussion group leaders. Virginia Ryan, '31, is working on the Sun competition. Jean Warren is managing editor of the Cornell Countryman, the agricultural magazine.

Last spring New York Δ was the winner of a new Panhellenic scholarship cup, presented by $\Sigma \Delta \text{T}$ who had won the former cup permanently by earning it three successive years.

From June 19 to 22 the chapter house was the headquarters for the Alpha Province house party, to which each chapter sent two delegates and an alumnae representative. The mornings were given over to talks and discussions of national as well as local interest. The afternoons and evenings were spent in entertainment of various kinds. A bus trip was taken to Enfield Glen where a picnic supper was enjoyed. Another trip was made by boat to Taughannok. Dr. Edith Gordon told about the Settlement School and gave a talk on health. On the last evening of the party, a formal banquet was held in the Dutch Kitchen of the Ithaca Hotel.

The chapter attended the wedding of Margaret Desire Kimberly (Peg) '27, and George Louis Smith, C.U. '27, at the brides home in Auburn, N.Y., on May 4.

The marriage of Gretchen Field Fischer (Peg) and H. Slay Harshbarger, of the public speaking department, took place in Shenandoah, Iowa, on September 1.

PENNSYLVANIA ALPHA—SWARTHMORE COLLEGE

Chartered, 1892
Pledge Day, October 14, 1928

Initiated, April 18, 1928: Ruth Davis, '31, 367 King's Highway, West, Haddonfield, N.J.; Olive Filer, '29, 424 N. Vendome Ave., Margate, N.J.; Louise Fisher, '31, 424 Montgomery Ave., Haverford, Pa.
Graduates: Dorothy Brown, B.A., 15523 Lakewood Heights Blvd., Lakewood, Ohio; Phyllis Harper, B.A., Chicago, Ill.; Elizabeth Hopper, B.A., 67 W. Johnson St., Germantown, Pa.; Katherine Rittenhouse, B.A., 6025 Jefferson St., Philadelphia, Pa.; Margaret Somerville, B.A., 5600 Sixteenth St., Washington, D.C.; Esther Wilson, B.A., Toughkenamon, Pa.

The opening of college this year marked the beginning of a new era in the life of Pennsylvania. The chapter came back, not to a two by four chapter room, but to a real lodge, large enough to be quite comfortable. The alumnae were really responsible for its existence since, without their aid, the lodge would still be a dream and not a reality. Several classes presented china, silverware and other useful things and the alumnae gave many gifts. It is a custom for the freshmen and seniors to unite in giving the chapter a present, and this year a wall hanging was chosen which adds a great deal to the hominess of the living-room. There are five rooms in the lodge—a guest room and bath on the second floor, the main room on the first floor, and a meeting room and kitchenette in the basement.

A new system of rushing was inaugurated this year. The rushing period was reduced to four weeks and the system of preferential bidding was used. During the first week there was no organized rushing and fraternity pins were not worn. Rushing during the next two weeks, consisted of luncheon dates and afternoon dates. During the last week each fraternity had a special day on which it could have a final party. All rushing was done on campus and was done in the open.

A suggestion was submitted to Panhellenic that all fraternity dances be held on campus or in Swarthmore. It was the custom in the past to have these affairs in nearby clubhouses, but as a new student building was built adjoining the lodges, the idea of using it for such dances was proposed by the college authorities.

The chapter welcomes Josephine Steckel, a transfer from Iowa Wesleyan.

Members of Pennsylvania A are in a great many activities on campus. The captains of all of the athletic teams are Pi Phi's. Lee Tily will lead the hockey team and have four other actives on the squad. The chapter has five of the eleven members of the athletic council. They are: Anna Rickards, vice president; Lee Tily; Mary Walton; Marion Staley; and Jean Harvey. Elizabeth Ogden is treasurer of Women's Student Government, chairman of honor committee, senior class vice president and president of English club. Martha Wood is secretary of the sophomore class. Betty Lou Thompson was elected to the Little Theater club.

BETTY CASTLE

PENNSYLVANIA BETA—BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1896
Pledge Day, October 21, 1928

Initiated, September 22, 1928: Frances Davidson, '31, 66 Lincoln Ave., Rockville Center, N.Y.; Elizabeth Dill, '31, Biglerville, Pa.; Nancy Griffith, '31, 34 Brown St., Lewisburg, Pa.; Mary Gross, '31, 726 South Twenty-eighth St., Harrisburg, Pa.; Grace Mathewson, '31, 524 Fifth St., Dunmore, Pa.; Dorothy Showalter, '31, 222 Chestnut St., Mifflinburg, Pa.; Alice Sweetley, '31, 1787 Memorial Ave., Williamsport, Pa.; Marie M. Trunk, '31, 227 E. Lincoln Highway, Coatesville, Pa.

This year the chapter will enjoy a new suite in Hunt Hall, the dormitory which was completed last February. With new furniture, rugs and hangings, the suite is very attractive.

Several actives left Bucknell this year to attend other colleges: Marion Iszard, is attending Miss Ilman's College in Philadelphia; Margaret Schuyler, is going to New Jersey College in New Brunswick; Evelyn Johnson is studying at Beaver College in Jenkintown, Pa.; and Ruth McAllister, transferred to Ohio State.

Mary Elizabeth Evans returned to Bucknell University after a year's absence during which she attended the University of Wisconsin.

The chapter is well represented in activities. Helen Steinhilper is president of Student Government, and president of Panhellenic. Doris Siner is house president of Hunt Hall and vice president of the girls' senior class.

Plans are being formulated for a pledge study hall which is new to this chapter.

Elizabeth James was awarded the $\Pi \Phi$ scholarship ring at symposium last June for high grades in her four years' work.

Pennsylvania B announces the marriage of: Jane Reese, '28, to Arthur Harris, $\Gamma \chi \Lambda$, Bucknell, which took place last June; Gertrude Gauchaur to Eugene O. Banker of Huntingdon, Pa., on September 20, 1928; and Polly Lindy, '26, to Lawrence Krebs, '25, $\Sigma \Lambda E$, of Bucknell.

DOROTHY LEVEGOOD

PENNSYLVANIA GAMMA—DICKINSON COLLEGE

Pledge Day, October 24, 1928

Dickinson opened its 147th year on Thursday, September 20, with the president officiating. The members of the upper classes welcomed the former dean as president and are looking forward to the coming year under his guidance. President Filler is the father of two Pennsylvania Pi Phis. In addition to a new president, Dickinsonians also welcomed nine new professors. Three of the wives of the new members of the faculty—Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Pritchard and Mrs. Thompson—have consented to become $\Pi \Phi$ patronesses.

At the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. reception the new members of the faculty and their wives were introduced to the student body. This year, instead of the entire faculty receiving the students in Memorial Hall, they were divided into three groups, thus affording an opportunity for greater intimacy with students.

For many years Dickinsonians have been looking forward to the building of a new gymnasium. This year, that hope is being realized. The new gymnasium, situated on High Street directly opposite Bosler Hall, is nearing completion. The Athletic Association scheduled the first basketball game in the new building with the University of Pennsylvania on January 1.

Little Sister Week, under the auspices of the Y.W.C.A., ended on Thursday, September 27. It was marked by a change in Panhellenic rules enabling all fraternity girls to wear their pins until the close of this week. As a new feature in the preferential bidding system, the freshmen girls, in groups of nine were allowed to make "pop-calls" on the fraternity girls, in the rooms on Wednesday, October 3. Later in the afternoon Dean Josephine Meredith and the Panhellenic Council entertained the freshmen girls at an informal tea at the home of Mrs. Mohler.

On October 10, the Student Government Association, headed by Rosana Eckman, entertained at a formal tea in honor of the wives of the new members of the faculty and Miss Taintor. The tea was held in the ΘX fraternity house which was beautifully decorated in autumn colors.

The pledge dance was held on November 10, in the American Legion Hall.

Chartered, 1918

Pledge Day, October 12, 1928

Initiated April 28, 1928: Elizabeth Baker, '30, 3301 Iowa St., Pittsburgh; Elizabeth Dick, '30, 223 Oakland Ave., Pittsburgh;

Dorothy Duffield, '28, Schenley Apts., Pittsburgh; Lucille Frost, '30, 1060 Morewood Ave., Pittsburgh; Dorothy Guinness, '30, 4021 Center Ave., Pittsburgh; Elizabeth Hamilton, New Castle, Pa.; Gertrude Ifft, '29, 3102 Iowa St., Pittsburgh; Jessie Marshall, '29, Wall St., Pitcairn, Pa.; Mildred Weller, '29, 251 N. Jefferson St., Canonsburg, Pa.; Emily Wilson, 443 Lincoln Ave., Carnegie, Pa.

GRADUATES: Helen Cashdollar, B.S., 605 Third St., Pitcairn, Pa.; Florence Cornforth, B.A., 137 Catskill Ave., Pittsburgh; Lois Jacobs, B.A., 615 Hampton Ave., Wilkingsburgh, Pa.; Margaret Koch, B.A., 625 Gregg St., Bridgeville, Pa.; Dorothy Marsh, B.A., 511 Sixth St., Irwin, Pa.; Bertha Schmidt, B.A., 1519 Hillsdale Ave., Dormont, Pa.; Gertrude Swift, B.A., 1218 Esplanade St., Pittsburgh; Mary Louise Walsh, B.A., 1111 Mellon St., Pittsburgh.

Pennsylvania Δ was fortunate in having Mrs. Curtis, Beta Province vice president, at the initiation ceremony and banquet which followed. Many alumnae attended the banquet to celebrate Founders' Day with the actives and initiates.

May was a busy month for the chapter. The alumnae sponsored a theater benefit to raise money for the chapter house fund. The actives helped sell tickets for two weeks before the performance and sold candy at the theater. The annual spring dance was scheduled for May 25, but the chapter voted to cancel the dance in order to give the money to the fund.

Six Pi Phis took part in W.A.A. Playday. Helen Cashdollar was the captain of the red team, while Billie Matthews was a member of the tan. Gertrude Starr, Betty Dick, Betty Baker and Lucille Frost served on important committees. Playday has become a tradition at Pittsburgh. Twenty girls from each co-educational and women's college of western Pennsylvania are sent to Pittsburgh. The object of Playday is to participate in any athletic contest one wishes. Games of "jacks" are played as well as hockey games.

Jeanne King was elected to Mortar Board. Betty Baker was appointed to W.A.A. Board and given a pin for the most points earned this year. Lucille Frost was appointed to the weekly reportorial staff. Gertrude Starr was elected active Panhellenic delegate and Betty Dick associate member. Helen Cashdollar was voted the girl who has done the most for the fraternity during her four years in college. Her name will be engraved on the loving cup. Gertrude Swift was one of three girls who were graduated from the university in June with highest honors.

The senior farewell ceremony and installation of officers was held June 6 at the home of Gertrude Starr. On June 16, Mrs. Steele entertained the chapter with a cooky-shine at which the seniors were honor guests. The chapter gave the seniors feather pens and the graduates gave the chapter a silver tea service. After the cooky-shine, the chapter had a slumber party at the home of Billie Matthews.

During the summer the local Panhellenic gave a theater benefit at which Jeanne King, Betty Dick and Lucille Frost sold candy. Betty Baker was chairman of publicity for a W.A.A. benefit bridge. At the chancellor's reception for summer students, Jeanne King, Betty Dick and Lucille Frost assisted.

The first week of college found the chapter busy looking for an apartment.

LUCILLE FROST

OHIO ALPHA—OHIO UNIVERSITY

Chartered, October 14, 1889

Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

Initiated, September 29, 1928: Helen Hook, '29, Union City, Ind.; Josephine Marshall, '31, Warren, Ohio; Anne Schellenger, '29, Jackson, Ohio; Helen Wheadon, '31, Elmira, N.Y.

Accomplishments of the spring semester of which the chapter is most proud were: a rise in comparative scholarship rating from thirteenth to fifth among the women's fraternities on the campus; and a third consecutive winning of the intersorority sing. The improvement in scholarship was due to a three-fold plan. Every active and pledge spent ten hours each week in library study; the girl whose average improved most in one semester received a diamond $\Pi \Phi$ pin; and the girl whose average was highest for the entire year, received a $\Pi B \Phi$ ring. The pin was won by Marcia Scott, and the ring by Pauline Swanson. By winning the sing the chapter won permanent possession of the trophy, a silver loving cup.

During the summer the chapter house was entirely refurnished and was beautifully fitted for the beginning of rushing. The rushing program included a buffet dinner, a formal tea, a theater party, a formal banquet, a beach party, a waffle supper and a night club dance. Ohio A pledged twenty girls.

The fall initiation was held at the chapter house early Saturday morning, September 29, and was immediately followed by a cooky-shine. The initiation activities closed just in time for the girls to get ready for the official opening of the rushing season at six o'clock.

Many honors and offices were won by different members of the chapter. Gertrude Ferrell and Virginia Ward were among eight girls chosen as the most beautiful in college, and their pictures were included in the Silver Mirror, beauty section of the annual. Irma Johnson, Anne Schellenger and Helen Hook were awarded fellowship teaching positions this fall and are now dividing their time between teaching and attending college. Elma Stout played the leading rôle in Hell Bent for Heaven which opened the college dramatics season. Mary Virginia Hewitt is social chairman of the Women's League, is a Henry Strong Foundation scholarship student, and assistant editor of the university news bureau. Gertrude Fouts is vice president of W.A.A., Marcia Scott is social chairman of Y.W.C.A. and Irma Johnson is music chairman.

Pauline Swanson had the title rôle in the commencement play, A. A. Milne's Belinda, was elected to Cresset, women's honorary organization, won the annual $X \Omega$ economics prize, and is a Henry Strong Foundation scholarship student.

Two transfers, Mary C. West from Goucher College, and Marian Bolman from West Virginia University, are living at the chapter house this year.

Initiated, April, 1928: Ruth Asire, '29, Westerville, Ohio; Helen Graham, '30, Mount Sterling, Ohio; Martha Howard, '29, Cathedral Mansions, Pittsburgh; Martha Likes, '30, 652 Franklin Ave., Columbus; Betty Martin, '29, 1577 Richmond Ave., Columbus; Evelyn Mong, '30, 167 Beck Ave., Akron, Ohio; Evelyn Paddock, '30, 1077 Westwood Ave., Columbus.

GRADUATES: Elizabeth Calkins, B.S., 12, Sagamore Terrace, Buffalo, N.Y.; Emily Davis, B.A., Whittier Hall, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York City; Rachel Davis, B.A., Pi Beta Phi House, Champaign, Ill.; Mary Griffith, B.S., 175 E. Frambes Ave., Columbus; Dorothy Jones, B.A., 995 S. Ohio Ave., Columbus; Mrs. Leland Lord (Mary Bye), B.A., 1361 West Third Ave., Columbus; Mary Koch, B.S., 1576 E. Oakland Park Ave., Columbus; Betty McCord, B.A., 1120 Lincoln Rd., Columbus.

Ohio State University opened for regular class room work October 2. The number of students was greater by 249 than it was at this time last year. Attendance mounted to 9,849 Tuesday, October 2.

The new chemistry building is now being occupied. This is the second year that Freshman Week has been followed and during the week of September 26, to October 2, 3,000 freshmen were lectured to, advised, and shown the campus by junior deans from each college of the university.

An organization composed of Hoover backers formed a group to promote his campaign. A new research club is being organized by instructors on the campus to stimulate research among instructors and to encourage social contacts between teachers of different departments.

Although it is only about one-fifth its projected size, the new engineering experiment station of the university is equipped for research in practically all fields of engineering.

Plans for the homecoming celebration in connection with the Princeton football game, to be played here in November, have been given to a committee.

Ohio B started her rushing by giving a tea at the chapter house Saturday, September 29. The second party was a Ring Ching Inn supper party at the country home of Mrs. Shepherd. The third party was the mock-wedding and henceforth, is to be traditional. On Sunday night, the last night of rushing, a candle light supper was given. Formal pledging took place on Tuesday, October 9.

Panhellenic council made many changes in the rushing rules. Hereafter, chapter members shall not escort nor transport rushees to their houses during the hours of a scheduled party. The chapter members may, however, furnish transportation to other chapter houses to which the rushees have been invited. Rushees shall not be permitted to split any parties with the exception of the first one.

Mrs. Mylander, the housemother, by clever management of the funds saved enough to permit the chapter to make a few additions to the household furniture and decorations.

The mothers' club gave two bridge parties at the house in April which enabled the chapter to purchase new dining-room furniture and linen.

It was voted in April to run the house during the college year of 1928-1929 on a budget. This eliminates assessments, and makes for a more efficient handling of the resources.

On May 15, the chapter sponsored the performance given at the Hartman theater. This was taken care of by the alumnae club.

In August, Helen Brown Russell, Jean Bostwick, Marian Riggs and Gladys Laudenslager were sent as delegates to the Lake Geneva Y.W.C.A. conference which is held each summer in Wisconsin.

In order that the amount of activities each active and pledge engages in neither exceeds a reasonable amount nor falls below the average, the point system was adopted. It was believed that this move would stimulate more interest in activities.

Mary Bye was married in June to Leiland Lord, ΣX , who is now taking law at Ohio State University.

There are now twelve girls living at the chapter house.

BETTY MARTIN

OHIO DELTA—OHIO WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY

Chartered, October 3, 1925

Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

Ohio Δ announces the pledging of: Mildred Moyer, Massillon, Ohio; and Helen James, Canton, Ohio.

Ohio Wesleyan is fortunate in having as her new president, Dr. E. Soper, formerly of Duke University, Durham, N.C. Mrs. Soper is a $\Pi \Phi$ from Maryland A.

During the first week of college, known as Y.W. Week, no fraternity woman wore her pin. These few days were devoted to entertainments for the freshmen, such as bonfire and sing, Woman's Athletic Association stunt-night and Big and Little Sister Hop, at which the lines of fraternity were forgotten. Every member of the chapter was a Big Sister to a freshman girl entering college this fall. This system has been used for a number of years, in order to help the new girls become better acquainted with the university. The week of September 28 to October 5 is the week set aside by Panhellenic as rush week for Ohio Wesleyan.

Miss Ruth Heseltine has recently succeeded to the office of chairman of the National Loan Fund Committee. She is the first national officer from Ohio Δ .

The chapter has three alumnae in various departments of the university: Amy Lou Welch is an instructor in the department of fine arts; Christine Dailey is secretary of the department of music; and Mildred Crawford, while working for her M.A., is coaching the freshman women in debate.

Among Wesleyan traditions has been the wearing of caps and frosh buttons by members of the freshman class. This year, the women, not to be outdone by the men, are to wear small red and black tams instead of buttons. Men's penalty for not wearing caps has been baptism in the odorous Sulphur Spring, but rumor has it that freshman women will have to watch their step, lest they come to a similar fate.

Helen Northway and Virginia Ellies, were elected to $\Phi B K$. The chapter for two successive semesters held the second place in scholarship of the university, being surpassed by ΘT , who, through her repeated winning of first place, is now permanent holder of the national scholarship cup.

During the interesting discussions of the coming elections, several people were chosen as leaders of the various clubs formed here. Elizabeth Heil and Fred Merwin, $\Phi \Gamma \Delta$, were chosen as leaders of the Hoover-Curtis club; and Josephine Spencer and Carl Ellenberger, $B \Theta II$, were selected as leaders of the Hoover-Cooper club, the Ohio republican organization of Ohio Wesleyan. Josephine Spencer was elected to Boosters club, senior women's honorary organization, comparable to Mortar Board, and was chosen as house president of Austin Hall. Mildred Moyer was elected women's editor of Le Bijou, the annual of the university, one of the highest journalistic honors that can be obtained. $\Pi \Phi$ has two representatives on Women's Student Government.

The chapter is proud of her new apartment of three rooms, kitchen and bath which is something of an undertaking in a college where women's fraternity houses are not permitted.

CLOVER MAE KLINGEL

WEST VIRGINIA ALPHA—WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1918

Pledge Day, October 10, 1928

Initiated, September 28, 1928: (Mrs.) Mary Stewart Ayers, '31, Spruce St., Morgantown, W. Va.; Bertha Handlin, '31, Wheeling, W. Va.; Mary Jackson, '29, Nashville, Tenn.; Virginia Miller, '31, Wheeling, W. Va.; Eleanor Wilson, '30, Marlinton, W. Va.

Initiation ceremony was held in the chapter house on the evening of September 28, and was followed by a buffet dinner.

The chapter was very busy with rushing since there were fewer rushees than usual, and hence most all the fraternities on the campus were rushing the same girls. West Virginia A started the season as usual with a tea at the chapter house September 18. Formal rushing started on the week end of October 1.

West Virginia A is at a great disadvantage this year having only two seniors, both of those new girls and none of the girls having been in the chapter for two years.

Last spring $\Pi \Phi$ was honored by having Jeannette Brown chosen as the Ideal University Girl. Jeannette who was also elected to $\Phi \beta \kappa$, was graduated in June. Another honor which the chapter shared was the election of Jean Haller for May Queen. This is the second successive year that the May Queen has been a $\Pi \Phi$.

West Virginia A started early in the year for her activities. The university play, The Youngest, was staged this summer in which Dorothy Dean Manassee, and Mildred Ann Waters, an alumna had major parts. Another play which was presented at the beginning of the college year was Adam and Eva, in which Margaret Reed had the leading rôle and Dorothy Manassee was small property manager. $\Pi \Phi$ has obtained five of the six places open on the college paper staff.

West Virginia University has a new president, Dr. John Roscoe Turner, who is making quite an impression on the students. He has already been pledged Fi Bater Caper , and the student body is waiting for the "formal" (?) initiation.

Plans are being made for a new university high school, a new Commencement Hall and a new music department. The Margaret Moore Hall, the new women's building, was formally opened.

MELBA JEAN WATERS

MARYLAND ALPHA—GOUCHER COLLEGE

Chartered, 1897

Pledge Day, October 23, 1928

On September 27, the day before the college was formally opened with an address by President Guth at Catherine Hooper Hall, the city girls of Maryland A planned a supper for the returning members in the chapter rooms. With the paint just dry and the upholstering renewed, another contribution of the Baltimore actives, the chapter carried on rushing from October 13 until October 21.

Commencement time was as interesting and as much fun as it was anticipated to be. Helen Hawthorne Tottle led Senior Step Singing, a Goucher custom, and many of the songs, serious and clever, were written by her. On Sunday, June 3, Helen Doll Tottle entertained the members of the chapter and their families at her home at tea, a delightful remembrance just preceding Commencement Day. Helen Lankford, as president of her class, led the sophomore daisy chain. Helen was also elected editor of Donnybrook Fair, the college annual, for the coming year.

Maryland A was fortunate in having as its guest for two days, May 7 and 8, the Gamma Province President, Lucy Poulnot Burns.

ATTARAH B. BLACKWOOD

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA ALPHA—GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

GRADUATES: Martha McGee, B.A., 3700 Mass. Ave., Washington, D.C.; Margaret Beasley, B.A., 3500 Thirteenth St. N.W., Washington, D.C.; Marcelle Le Menager, B.A., Cathedral Mansions, Washington, D.C.; Martha Wood, B.A., 422 Ninth St., Cairo, Ill.

At the opening of college it was announced that William Allen Wilbur, dean of Columbia College had been promoted to the office of provost. Charles E. Hill, professor of political science in the university, is now acting dean. Columbia A feels especially close to Dean Wilbur, since his daughter, whom he lost, was a $\Pi \Phi$. The announcement of both promotions was hailed with favor by the student body.

The "little sister" movement occupied a great deal of the time and attention of the upperclassmen since it was their responsibility to introduce the new girls and make them feel at home.

A luncheon for freshman women is given each year, sponsored by the Sphinx and Hour Glass, honor societies. This luncheon is always of great help in promoting the feeling of fellowship. Louise Du Bose of Columbia A is the president of Sphinx and a member of Hour Glass.

The chapter is well represented in activities on the campus. A number of girls are writing for the university papers, while others are participating in athletics.

Janet Sheppard was presented with the $\Pi \Phi$ scholarship bracelet, which is given each year to that freshman girl of the chapter having the highest scholastic average. At the close of the meeting, the chapter received a surprise in the form of a cooky-shine at which "Billie" McKelvy announced her engagement to Midshipman Edgerton.

In the spring, Emilie Margaret White, Grand Vice President, Mrs. Robson Brown, National Cataloguer, Mrs. Freeman, Chairman of the Settlement School Committee, and Lucy Poulnot Burns, Gamma Province President, visited the chapter. Mrs. Brown attended the initiation in April at which time she gave a helpful talk to the pledges.

In May, the Womens' Athletic Association was formed and Columbia A is proud of having two girls, as officers, Jenny Turnbull, vice president, and Helen Taylor, treasurer.

Following the close of college in June, the chapter held its senior week ceremonies. The dance was given at Bannockburn. The senior week program was brought to a close with a delightful luncheon at Pierce Mill Tea House. The seniors and the retiring president were presented with gifts from the actives. And the chapter in turn received a gift from the seniors.

The chapter announces the marriage of: Margaret Beasley to Reginald Pledger, student of G.W.U. and a member of $\Theta \Delta X$; Martha McGee to James Lemon, graduate of Princeton University; E'aine Graham to Brown Miller, student at the University of Virginia.

VIRGINIA ALPHA—RANDOLPH-MACON WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Chartered, 1913

Initiated, September 22, 1928: Carolyn Gore, '31, Spartanburg, S.C.; Kitty Hyatt, '31, Louisburgs, Ky.; Mary Elizabeth King, '31, Greensboro, N.C.; Marvin Quattlebaum,

'31, Columbia, S.C.; Eva Smither, '31, Huntsville, Tex.; Mary Elizabeth Wilkinson, '31, Danville, Ill.

Randolph-Macon's doors were opened September 20, two days early for the freshman who came for their training groups in which they learned the rules and regulations of the college.

Eleven members of the chapter and seven pledges returned. Virginia A welcomes Nell Gardner, a transfer from Colorado A and Jean Corley from Texas B.

The formal opening of the college was Monday night, September 25, when a very interesting address was delivered by Dr. Atwood, president of Clark University.

Advanced standing rushing began October 1. Local Panhellenic set October 10 as the beginning of the rush teas, which continued three days ending with "Promise Day." The rushing varied this year in that the fraternities had open house on Sunday afternoons for the freshmen. The subject of fraternities was an open discussion for the first time.

The Y.W.C.A. presented a "Who's Who in College," in which $\Pi B \Phi$ was well represented. Lyla Brown was presented as president of the senior class, Borghild Prior as president of New Hall, and Randolph Arnold as editor-in-chief of The Old Maid, the humor magazine.

Lyla Brown and Borghild Prior have been appointed senior chaperons which means they are approved members of the senior class. Beverly Osbourne and Nancy Keith Snyder are on the Helianthus staff, the college yearbook. Carolyn Gore was elected treasurer of the sophomore class and is also on the student committee. Frances Vogler is vice president of the Sock and Buskin club, the dramatic society.

JULIA LEACH

VIRGINIA BETA—HOLLINS COLLEGE

Chartered, 1917
Pledge Day, October 5, 1928

The opening of the college year at Hollins was crowded with activities, especially during the first week. Second year bidding prevails at Virginia B. As a result of the rushing season, the chapter pledged: Elizabeth Bruce, Eleanor Bomar, Anne Jones, Julia Latané, Sara McCormick, Jessie Pollard, Virginia Robertson and Virginia Shanklin.

The season opened formally with an address by Dr. Francis P. Gaines of Lake Forest College. The address was preceded by the usual academic procession of the faculty and the introduction of all the new members.

On Saturday, September 22, the Y.W.C.A. entertained in the gymnasium for the benefit of all the new students. The crowd was exceptionally congenial, and the party was an excellent method of getting acquainted.

At the formal opening of the Student Government Association, the chapter was glad to find a large $\Pi \Phi$ representation. Harriet Bates is vice president of the association, Elisabeth Fentress, secretary-treasurer, Elsie Griffin, senior representative and Dewar Gordon, one of the assistant house presidents. Other major offices that $\Pi \Phi$ holds on campus are: Sally Barret, president of the Athletic Association; Margaret Bowles, editor-in-chief of Cargoes, the college magazine; Mary Louise Mayo, vice president of the Dramatic Association; and Betty Ingles, president of Panhellenic. The chapter holds important offices on the Dramatic Board, the Athletic Board, Y.W.C.A. cabinet, the college newspaper and annual staffs. Besides its non-academic activities, members of $\Pi \Phi$ are high in academic work. Four in the chapter were placed on the dean's list of honor students.

Another note of interest to the college was that the present junior class has over eighty students, the largest number a junior class at Hollins has ever known. Hollins is proud of the large percentage of its former students who have returned.

VIRGINIA GAMMA—WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE

Pledge Day, October 21, 1928

During the summer great progress was made in the restoration of Williamsburg to its former glory of Colonial times, and many changes have taken place on the campus, also. The Christopher Wren building, erected in 1694 and designed by Sir Christopher Wren, is being reconstructed to the original plans. The building has been burned three times, but a part of the walls are the same that were erected in 1694. The new science hall, named Washington Hall after George Washington, who at one time was chancellor of the College, will be completed and opened for classes.

William and Mary College this year will see re-established here the first chair of Italian in the United States. This has been made possible through the endowment fund of $30,000 presented by Virginia Italians, and will be known as the Obici Chair of Italian, in honor of the chief donor. Impressive ceremonies will mark the formal installation of the chair sometime in October.

Since classes closed last spring, national charters have been granted to two local women's fraternities on the campus. $X A$, a local founded here in 1927, will be installed on October 23 as a new chapter of $K \Delta$, and $\Delta X \Delta$, also founded in 1927, will be installed on November 26 as a new chapter of $\Delta \Delta \Delta$.

Eight Pi Phis attended the house party which Mae D. Muir gave this June at her home in Philadelphia. The time was filled with bridge and theater parties, two days at Atlantic City, a visit to Princeton University, and at the last the banquet with $\Pi \Phi$ favors! On the party Gertrude Atkinson, '26, announced her engagement to Harry Mann of Philadelphia. News has just been received of the announcement also of Mae D. Muir's engagement to Franklin Schoner of Newark, N.J.

Registration this year at William and Mary showed the enrollment of the largest number of students ever attending the college. By Panhellenic ruling no rushing was allowed for the first twelve days, and the time was occupied with freshmen receptions, teas and meetings. Formal rushing began September 22 and continued until October 11, with pledge day on October 21.

Virginia Γ is well represented in activities. Polly Hines was elected first vice president of the Women's Student Government Association and Harriet Smith was elected secretary. Polly Hines was elected president of Alpha club and Virginia Smith, treasurer. Alpha club is an honorary society, rating next to $\Theta B K$, to which only junior and senior girls excelling in scholarship and activities are eligible. $\Phi K \Phi$, national honorary scholastic fraternity, annually elects the most outstanding senior from each department of the college. Marjorie Lacy was elected from the English department. Harriet Smith was elected treasurer of $X \Delta \Phi$, women's national literary fraternity. Suzanne Wheeler was elected to membership in $K \Delta \Pi$, national education fraternity. Polly Hines was elected secretary of the Play Production class, and Virginia Paul directed two plays which were presented on the campus and at West Point, Virginia. Lenore Schofield was elected publicity chairman of the art club. Dorothy Reese was appointed woman's fraternity editor of the Colonial Echo, the college yearbook.

VIRGINIA FORD

NORTH CAROLINA ALPHA— UNIVERSITY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Chartered, 1923

Pledge Day, October 20, 1928

Initiated March 1, 1928: Anne de Treville, Lawrence, '29, Raleigh, N.C.; Elizabeth Lilly, '27, Reynolda, Winston-Salem, N.C.; Lois Warden, '29, 1715 Sulgrave Rd., Louisville, Ky.

GRADUATES: Grace Wilson Duncan, B.A., Beaufort, N.C.; Elizabeth Whitney Holt, B.A., Erwin, N.C.; Katherine Badger Johnson, B.A., Eustis, Fla.; Sara Purrington, B.A., Scotland Neck, N.C.,

The members of North Carolina A opened their new house on October 7, at a tea in honor of the patronesses and rushees of the chapter. The house is spacious having a large living-room, a chapter room, a kitchenette and a bath. The girls painted the furniture, hemmed the curtains and made all the cushions. The alumnae and patronesses gave a shower for the active members in order to supply the many small gifts needed to make the new house more like home.

Mela Royall was elected president of the Woman's Association. Lois Warden is vice president.

Katherine Johnson, who was graduated last spring, was class poet. She is teaching this year at Saint Mary's, a junior college in Raleigh, N.C. Grace Duncan, also a graduate of 1928, is living in Chapel Hill this year and has taken a position in the university library.

Lois Warden and Helen Dortch have been selected to go on the northern tour with the Carolina Playmakers in November. They will give performances in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore and at Yale University, as well as at several colleges where there are $\Pi \Phi$ chapters.

The following transfers have entered the university: from Virginia A, Margaret Broadus of Decatur, Ala., and Helen McCoy of Bennettsville, S.C.; and from Texas B, Mary Louise Carpenter and Maurine Forrester, both of Dallas, Tex. They entertained the active chapter and rushees with a tea in October.

The women students of the university gave a dance at Spencer Hall in honor of the new girls.

Aline Hughes, who has been studying voice, gave her initial public concert October 4 in Henderson, N.C.

A marriage of unusual interest to the chapter was that of Ellen Camden Melick, honor graduate of 1927, former president of the Woman's Association and president of North Carolina A, to Thomas Rollin, B Θ Π , a law student at the university.

HELEN DORTCH

FLORIDA ALPHA—JOHN B. STETSON UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1913

Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

With the opening of college on September 15, Florida A had twelve members and three pledges.

The first rush party was given September 22. It was a progressive dinner representing a trip abroad with passports and wee hat boxes given at the cocktail course and appropriate souvenirs at each of the different countries visited.

Barbara Hines who was graduated in June is teaching at Lake Helen, only a few miles from DeLand.

Florida A announces the marriage of Frances Darley to Phillip McGuire.

Florida A holds many offices on the campus. Lyrra Smith is secretary of the senior class; Catharine Martin is feature editor of the annual; and Ruth Foard is snap shot editor. Clare Louise Robertson is vice president of the junior class.

CLARA LOUISE ROBERTSON

FLORIDA BETA—FLORIDA STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Chartered, 1921

Pledge Day, September 24, 1928

Florida B, with its house redecorated and with new furniture, closed a successful rushing season. The chapter announces the following pledges: Jane Allison, Orlando; Margaret Anderson, Montezuma, Ga.; Dorothy Blackwell, Miami; Claudia Cheves, Montezuma, Ga.; Adaline Clough, Jacksonville; Margaret Deane, St. Petersburg; Dorothy Dennis, Miami; Dorothy E. Estes, Orlando; Annie Mae Henderson, Bagdad; Cathrine Hodges, Tallahassee; Phyllis Kowen-Haven, Melbourne; Leta MacNutt, St. Petersburg; Gervais Prentiss, Indianapolis, Ind.; Kathleen Scott, Birmingham, Ala.; Louise Wilson, St. Petersburg; Rosalind Drane Wilson, Lakeland; and Kathryn Winslett, Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Following the pledge service a cooky-shine was given in honor of the new pledges, the annual pledge banquet being postponed until Miss Onken's arrival on October 3.

The chapter derived much pleasure and a great deal of benefit from Miss Onken's visit. On the afternoon of her arrival a tea was given, at which Miss Onken had the opportunity of meeting the officials of the college, prominent teachers and a representative from every fraternity on the campus. The cooky-shine was held on Thursday, October 4. A banquet was given on October 5, honoring Miss Onken and the new pledges. Several favors were given the guests of honor and a very clever and original program was presented.

Florentine Holmes was appointed chairman of the campus social committee by the dean of women, Mrs. Charlotte M. Bechman. Betty Larzelere was elected secretary of the senior class and president of $\Phi A \Theta$, national history honorary fraternity. Cathrine Williams was appointed chairman of extension committee of $H \Sigma \Phi$, honorary latin fraternity, and again appointed leader of the music group of the Classical club.

Florida B is fortunate this year in having Mrs. Lorena Hinson Ledsinger, Atlanta, as chaperon.

Kathrine Twyman, a transfer from Kentucky A, is living at the house and taking a very active part in all campus activities.

ELIZABETH FENN

DELTA PROVINCE

MICHIGAN ALPHA—HILLSDALE COLLEGE

Chartered, 1887
Pledge Day, October 13, 1928

Initiated, September 22, 1928: Mary Chappel, '31, 1460 Elm St., Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Gretchen Lally, '31, 1102 Olevia Ave., Ann Arbor, Mich.; Margaret Light, '31, R.D. 6, Elkhart, Ind.; Joan Taft, '31, 849 Henry St., Grand Rapids, Mich.; Hilda VanAvery, '30, 603 Stuart Ave., Kalamazoo, Mich.

On September 22 formal initiation was held for five girls who were pledged the previous semester. After the ceremony the entire chapter attended an initiation banquet at the Orange Lantern tea room. Following this there was a Loving Cup ceremony, and a walk around at the chapter house.

Michigan A has a new chaperon, Miss Landwehr, professor of German at Hillsdale College. She is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and for the past three years has been director of the German House at Alma College. This chapter has never had a professor for chaperon before but this year's plan promises to work out splendidly.

On Tuesday afternoon, September 25, a tea was held at the chapter house in honor of Miss Landwehr to which were invited the patronesses and alumnae, the deans of women, the chaperons and members of the other women's fraternities.

This year the chapter plans to invite two girls from another fraternity one night each week for dinner and two faculty members on another evening thus making our social program more extensive.

Freshman week was inaugurated on Hillsdale's campus this fall. The new students arrived on September 15 and until September 19 the entire program was arranged for the freshmen, upperclassmen not being allowed on campus. Four representatives from each organization acted as aides and assisted in enabling the new students to become acquainted with the college and each other. The experiment proved very successful and will, in all probability, become the annual program.

This year the freshman class is very large. Rushing started Monday, October 1, extending over a period of two weeks. The chapter has twenty-seven active members while two of the other three fraternities have a much smaller number.

The latter part of the previous college year a club was organized for all women undergraduates. The purpose of the club is to promote a spirit of good will among the women of the campus and to encourage intellectual and cultural development. One meeting has been held so far this year and it is evident from the interest shown that the existence of such an organization will be beneficial to all women students. Beulah Nichols is secretary of this club.

Elections for the three upper classes have been held: Ruth Barrett is vice president of the sophomore class; Ruth Wheatley is secretary of the junior class; and Beulah Nichols is secretary and treasurer of the senior class. Doris Edwards was elected secretary of the Student Federation.

HELEN TYLER

MICHIGAN BETA—UNIVERSITY OF MICHIGAN

Pledge Day, September 30, 1928

On September 16, Michigan B girls reported back to the house for the new year. Extensive plans were made for rushing, and during the following two weeks seventeen parties of various kinds were given.

With the exception of five girls, the thirty-one active members are living in the house.

Mary White was elected president of the Women's League of the university for the coming year. Also, the chapter is well represented on the board of directors, and standing committees, by Eloise Avery, Dorothy Beck, Helen Jones and Virginia Losee.

The Michigan Daily for this year has two $\Pi \Phi$ names on its rolls: Mary Chase, of the business staff; and Helen Domine, of the editorial. While Margaret Gentz is not officially on the staff of the Gargoyle, the college humor magazine, she has been accepted as a frequent contributor.

For the second consecutive year, Michigan B ranked second in scholarship on the campus. It was preceded by $\Delta \Gamma$, whose rating was exactly .08 of a point higher.

Last May, the chapter entertained the Michigan A girls, from Hillsdale, at a formal party. Gail De Wolfe visited the chapter at that time also.

Two members of the chapter have received special distinctions. Lorinda McAndrew was selected as chairman of the music committee for the 1929 Junior Girls' Play. This play is one of the most important features of a girl's four years at Michigan. Lorinda herself will compose most of the musical numbers. Virginia Losee was elected to Wyvern, and honorary organization, whose members are selected on the basis of campus activity.

The new Women's League building is nearing completion. When finished it will supply a sorely needed headquarters for administrative offices and activities.

Mrs. Mabel Conger of Illinois B, who was chaperon of the Michigan B house for two years, was unable to return this fall, and Mrs. Hus, of New York City, has taken her place.

RUTH LATHAM

INDIANA ALPHA—FRANKLIN COLLEGE

Chartered, January 18, 1888
Pledge Day, September 22, 1928

Initiated, September 8, 1928: Mary Louise Rainey, '31, Eliasville, Tex.; Margaret Latham, '31, S. Home St., Franklin, Ind.

GRADUATES: Mary Elizabeth Axby, B.A., Lawrenceburg, Ind.; Mayme Campbell, B.A., Franklin, Ind.; Esther Cogswell, B.A., Franklin, Ind.; Dorothy Davenport, B.A., North Vernon, Ind.; Gertrude Deer, B.A., Morocco, Ind.; Velva De Moss, B.A., Muncie, Ind.; Louise Harris, B.A., Greensburg, Ind.; Marian Kelly, B.A., Franklin, Ind.; Mary Lynn Weyl, B.A., Indianapolis.

Indiana A announces the pledging of the following girls: Elsie Barker, Evelyn Pritchard, Eleanor Flowers, Mary Alice Paves, Ruth Yeager, Mary Jane Hogue, Ruth Cummings, Marian Mullendore, Alice Coffman, Louise Kelch, Mary Louise Mannon, Kathryn Miller, Kathleen Davenport, Harriett Mathews, Esther Rapp, Vivian Thomas, Annette McOsker, Pauline French, Susan Faucett, and Agnes Medsker.

Franklin College this year has made many changes in policy. It has prescribed a course of study for freshmen and sophomores and have given more freedom and a wider range of electives for juniors and seniors. The aim of the plan is to secure a more advanced type of liberal education. The required number of hours for graduation was lessened, departments of music and public speaking were added to the curriculum, and the department of physical education was enlarged. In a recent survey of the colleges of the United States it was found that Franklin is one of the four colleges and universities in Indiana which ranks as a certified, Class A institution.

The chapter is well represented in campus activities. Mary Meloy is managing editor and Elsie Barker is assistant business manager of The Franklin, and seven other Pi Phis are on the staff. Henrietta Miller and Mary Frances Templeton have been appointed to the staff of the yearbook, The Almanack. Three Pi Phi hold class offices, two are on the Student Council Executive Board, and one is on the senior board. Pi B Phi has members in K Delta II, national honorary educational fraternity, Theta Alpha Phi dramatic fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta debating fraternity, and Wigs and Cues, preparatory dramatic organization.

A formal dinner was given in honor of the former patronesses and the four new ones.

All women's fraternities were forced to give up their chapter houses in compliance to the new ruling that all non-resident women live in the dormitory. Each fraternity has a large and spacious suite of rooms in the hall and all are beautifully furnished as chapter rooms. Indiana A bought a lovely new grand piano for her room.

Mrs. Clara F. Hannaman who was last year the housemother for Pi Phi is now acting dean of women for Franklin College.
FLORENCE M. DEPPE

INDIANA BETA—INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1893
Pledge Day, September 16, 1928

Indiana B concluded fall rushing on September 16, with the pledging of eighteen girls: Ruth Bishop of Kansas City, Mo.; Marian Burrows, Akron, Ind.; Madaline Cromwell, Fort Wayne, Ind.; Emmalucy Cadwell, Aurora, Ind.; Virginia Warthin, Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mary Marjorie Mull, Shelbyville, Ind.; Ellen McFadden, Indianapolis; Margaret Shirkie, Terre Haute, Ind.; Helen Floyd, Frankfort, Ind.; Dorothy Thompson, Rensselaer, Ind.; Alice Tirrey, Frances Dunn and Jane Thorn, Bloomington, Ind.; Ione Swan, of Fowler, Ind.; Mary Rippey, Warsaw, Ind.; Janice Rash, Greenfield, Ind.; and Cornelia Sheid, of Vincennes, Ind.

On Tuesday evening following the pledge services, the actives entertained all new pledges at a cooky-shine.

The new pledges entered into campus activities. Four passed the first tryouts for membership in Garrick club, honorary dramatic organization, and several were selected for women's glee club.

The chapter is well represented in activities. Pi Phi has girls in Theta Alpha Phi dramatic fraternity, in Pleades, honorary social, in Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic fraternity, on A.W.S. council, in Garrick club, and on the editorial staff of the Indiana Daily Student.

Arrangements were made for a backwards dance given at the chapter house November 10 in honor of the new pledges.
HARRIET LOVELAND

INDIANA GAMMA—BUTLER UNIVERSITY

Pledge Day, indefinite.

The fall semester marks an event in the history of Butler University, with classes being conducted in the Arthur Jordan Memorial building on the new campus at Fairview. The Field House and the Memorial building are the only units as yet completed. Butler's first football game at home was played on October 13 in the new stadium; the north end of the bowl will not be finished until next year but the present seating capacity is for 30,000 persons. The field house has one of the largest and finest swimming pools in the city, and will soon be available for use.

The housing problem for out-of-town students and Greek-letter organizations has been a rather serious one as most of the homes surrounding the university campus are not adequate for fraternity purposes. Indiana Γ is fortunate in having a chapter house within walking distance of the college.

Due to the change in the rushing rules, the preferential bidding system was in use this fall, making rushing much more strenuous and competitive than heretofore. On Friday, September 21, Indiana Γ pledged the following girls: Josephine Ball, Agnes Ball, Katherine Bray, Mary Davis, Edith Ann Hoopingartner, Arline Repp, Gwendolyn Schort, Virginia Seeds, Marabeth Shields, Annabess Snodgrass, Louise Sumner, Mary Sumner and Jane Sutton, Indianapolis, Ind.; Doris Barnes and Betty Jane Emmett, Logansport, Ind.; Margaret Bates, Atlanta, Ga.; Louise Bloomer, Rockville, Ind.; Jane Hadley, Danville, Ind.; Mary K. Martin, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Catherine Brown, Valley Mills, Ind.; and Elizabeth Whetzell, Fortville, Ind. Dorothy Screes of Indianapolis was repledged after having been out of college for one semester. The chapter roll numbers fifty-six this semester.

Activities plus scholarship is being stressed for both actives and pledges. $\Pi \Phi$ has as her representative in Scarlet Quill, honorary society for senior women, Elizabeth Moschenross, who is vice president of the organization. Elizabeth Whetzell was chosen for Thespis, Butler's dramatic organization.

MARJORIE McELROY

INDIANA DELTA—PURDUE UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1920

Pledge Day, September 13, 1928

Initiated, April 5, 1928: Ruth Abercrombie, '30, Connersville, Ind.; Ruth Acton, '31, Dayton, Ohio; Phyllis Beavers, '30, Copperhill, Tenn.; Mary Elizabeth Bryant, '31, Indianapolis; Luella Hand, '31, Park Ridge, Ill.; Kathryn Holaday, '30, Indianapolis; Margaret Mace, '31, Scottsburg, Ind.; Ethel Meyer, '30, Cleveland; Margaret Johnson, graduate, West Lafayette, Ind.

Graduates: Reba Hopper, B.S., Lafayette, Ind.; Mary Elizabeth Moore, B.S., Otterbein, Ind.; Avis Moss, B.S., Logansport, Ind.; Virginia Rose, B.S., Indianapolis.

This year Indiana Δ was most successful during rush season which began with an informal tea at the chapter house Saturday, September 8, and lasted for three days. The other parties were: a futuristic cabaret dinner dance; and informal pirate dance; and a formal dinner. The following girls were pledged: Marjorie Lamb, Newcastle, Ind.; Mary Virginia Daugherty, Crawfordsville, Ind.; Charlene York, Carlisle, Ind.;

Louise McGinnis, LaGrange, Ill.; Virginia White, Clinton, Ind.; Lois Hall, Springfield, Mass.; Lena Lohrman, Indianapolis; Martha Swope, Fowler, Ind.; Jean Hay, Whiting, Ind.; Gladys Robbins, Horace, Ind.; Martha Robbins, Horace, Ind.; Rose Cassell, Indianapolis; Jeannette Wood, Lafayette, Ind.; Dorothy Driscoll, Lafayette, Ind.; Dorothea Gregory, Lafayette, Ind.

The chapter holds a number of prominent offices on the campus this year. Jean Simpson is secretary of the student council, co-ed night editor of the Purdue Exponent, and junior representative of W.A.A. Ethel Meyer is sophomore night editor of the Purdue Exponent, and on sophomore commission of Y.W.C.A. Alice Cheadle is secretary of the Little Theatre board. Luella Hand is the secretary of W.A.A. Phyllis Beavers and Margaret Mace are also sophomore night editors on the Purdue Exponent. Phyllis Beavers was initiated in Philalathean, honorary English society.

KATHERYN HOLADAY

KENTUCKY ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

Pledge Day, September 29, 1928

Kentucky Λ announces the pledging of Jane Cate, Dorothy DePree, Mildred Pence, Uta Cobb Hutcheson, Nancy Wells, Josephine Blackman, Elizabeth Feamster, Elizabeth Borries, Charlotte Orr, Lucille Duffy, and Elizabeth Cravens.

The university is mourning the death of President George Colvin who died during the summer. Dr. John Patterson is acting president until Mr. Colvin's successor has been named.

Helen Anderson who was graduated last June won the Lion's club prize for excellent work done in the plays of the University of Louisville Players. She is the first girl ever to be awarded the prize.

At a meeting of the Falls City alumnae club, Barbara Olive was awarded the sophomore prize for scholarship.

Betty Wooden is assistant to Dr. Middleton, professor of biology. Frances Lee Day is assistant to Dr. Patterson in the education department. Margaret Bushnell is property mistress this season for the Players club. Josephine Warner is secretary to the editor of the Satyr, the college magazine.

Charters of $\kappa \Delta$ and ΔZ have been granted to petitioning groups on the campus.

JOSEPHINE WARNER

TENNESSEE ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF CHATTANOOGA

Chartered, September 25, 1923

Pledge Day, February 9, 1929

Initiated, September 25, 1928: Virginia Battle, '31, Chattanooga; Lena Brammer,

'30, Chattanooga; Helen Brown, '31, Memphis; Floyd Schoolfield, '29, Chattanooga; Barbara Thach, '31, Chattanooga.

Tennessee A entertained with a cooky-shine at the chapter house following the initiation which came the second week of college. Since Panhellenic ruled that rush week and pledging are not to be until the second semester, the chapter is finding more time than usual for college activities.

Π Φ was represented prominently in almost every phase of campus life in the college annual. Katherine Roberts and Cornelia McMillan were in the beauty section.

Emily Hall and Dorothy Latimer were on the junior festivities committee. Dorothy Wilber, who is assistant organist this year, played at several of the commencement functions. Dorothy Latimer was one of the marshalls at the graduation exercises.

At the final dance of the Co-ed Cotillion club Mary Ellen Acuff, as the retiring president, led the grand march. Martha West Stewart is the incoming president and Dorothy Wilber is treasurer. Emily Hall led the junior prom with the president of the junior class.

During the summer, Elizabeth Fox and Elizabeth Landress were directors on the city play grounds. Elizabeth served as costumer for the annual all city pageant staged by the play ground directors.

Marian Jones was an assistant in the social department of the Chattanooga Times during the summer. Dorothy Elberfeld won several honors in the S.A.A.U. swimming and diving meet which was held in Chattanooga the first part of August.

Martha Acuff is teaching music and dancing at the chapter house. Edith Elberfeld is an assistant in history and Virginia Simmonds is a chemistry assistant. Mary Young, Dorothy Latimer, Elizabeth Fox and Marian Jones are on the staff of the student paper, The Echo. Lena Brammer and Marian Jones are members of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet and served on the committee which planned the annual party given in honor of the freshman class. Elizabeth Fox and Kathrine Wilkey had parts in a musical production directed by Blinn Owen, head of the department of music. Mary Young and Martha West Stewart were asked to assist at the open house of Δ X fraternity. Cornelia McMillan and Mary Young are pledges to Β Π Θ, national honorary French fraternity. Elizabeth Fox and Mary Young were initiated into Σ T Δ, national honorary literary fraternity.

The chapter led the honor roll for comparative scholastic standing of organizations on the campus at the close of the spring semester. This year, for the first time, a cup is being offered by the college authorities to the fraternity making the highest scholastic average. If won three semesters in succession, the cup is given to the holders. This is an added incentive to the chapter to maintain her high average.

The chapter house was given a coat of paint, and other improvements were made before the Panhellenic progressive tea which was given by the three women's fraternities on fraternity row.

MARIAN PORCHER JONES

ALABAMA ALPHA—BIRMINGHAM—SOUTHERN COLLEGE

Chartered, October 7, 1927
Pledge Day, February 9, 1928

Initiated May 9, 1928: Pauline Batterton, '31, Birmingham, Ala.

Pauline Batterton spent the summer vacation on a tour of the world, visiting China, Japan, India, the Holy Land and Europe. Margaret Blackwood took a trip through the western states, and Leola Armstrong spent several weeks in Canada.

Alabama A completed a very interesting rushing season which included a beautiful tea at Vestavia on Shades Mountain; a cabaret party at Hollywood Country Club; and a cooky-shine. The presence of Miss Onken added much to the Π Φ spirit and pleasure of those at the affair. The chapter pledged the following girls: Anita Van De Voort, Margaret Shannon and Mary Johnson.

Virginia McMahan, after being a leader at Camp Winnataska for several weeks, was chosen from all the counselors to represent Alabama at the International Conference of Camp Leaders, held at Lake Geneva, Wis.

Pauline Batterton was awarded the pledge scholarship cup for having made the highest average among the pledges.

Josephine Stevens won the scholarship ring. Kathleen Scruggs was chosen as an assistant instructor in Biology laboratory work. At the recent class elections, Virginia McMahan was elected vice president of the junior class and Mary Johnson, one of the new pledges, was elected vice president of the freshman class.

Alabama A was very proud to have Miss Onken as a guest for several days. She was the inspiration of a lovely tea given by the alumnae club.

KATHLEEN SCRUGGS

EPSILON PROVINCE

MINNESOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA

Pledge Day, October 7, 1928.

Minnesota A moved in her new house this fall which was completed for the rushing season. Mrs. Milton Gutterson, and Mrs. A. J. Walker, with efficient committees and untiring efforts, were instrumental in making the house a finished product.

The chapter announces the pledging of Ruth Kiekenapp, in the spring quarter.

Minnesota A placed fourth in scholarship in the list of all the women's fraternities on the campus, and first in the academic list.

HARRIET BURQUIST

WISCONSIN ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

Chartered, 1894.
Pledge Day, September 30, 1928.

After one week of rushing Wisconsin A pledged the following girls on Sunday, September 30: Frances Phillips, Springfield, Ill.; Marjoridel Hubers, Davenport, Iowa; Dorothy Nash, Germantown, Pa.; Elizabeth Strock, Oregon, Ill.; Sally Agnew, Rockford, Ill.; Katherine Roddis, Marshfield, Wis.; Dolores Thomas, Milwaukee, Wis.; Emily Chesley, Armour, S.D.; Virginia Linn, La Grange, Ill.; Betty Woodard, Kansas City, Mo.; Katherine Truesdale, Toledo, Ohio; Helen Hosler, Mansfield, Ohio; Mary Juliet Miller, Hillsboro, Ill.; Dorothy Baker, La Crosse, Wis.; and Nancy Duncan, Columbus, Ohio. The pledge ceremony was held at five in the afternoon and was followed by a cooky-shine.

Jane Cannon defeated Dorothy Page Δ Γ , for the Wisconsin state golf championship this summer. Jane also has charge of the sale of Y.W.C.A. calendars. Anne Kendall is on the committee.

Connie Connor was chairman of Varsity welcome at which event President Glenn Frank, Dr. Carl Russell Fish, and Governor Fred Zimmerman spoke to the incoming freshmen.

The chapter house was open to students during this summer session. Among those in the house were Betty Hannum, Wisconsin A; Martha Barnbridge, Wisconsin B; Katherine Thielen, Iowa Z; Drew Black Staggs, Texas A; Sophie Marie Perry, Maryland A; and Mavis Lyman, West Virginia A. Mrs. Margaret Abels, Wisconsin A, chaperoned the house.

Mary Dean Scott, Illinois E is living in the house this semester.

Virginia Hoiles received senior honors at graduation last spring.

All of last year's initiates as well as most of the upperclassmen returned this fall and the actives are very hopeful of successfully imparting to the pledges the real spirit and meaning of Π Φ .

ANNETTE YOUNG

WISCONSIN BETA—BELOIT COLLEGE

Chartered, 1919.
Pledge Day, May 1, 1929.

Graduates: Margaret Lindsay, B.A., 553 Hill Ave., Glen Ellyn, Ill.; Josephine Wigdale, B.A., Wauwatosa, Wis.

The faculty of Beloit College decreed that all men's and women's fraternities on the campus observe deferred rushing this year, in the hope that the college spirit will not be eclipsed by group spirit, as has been the tendency for the last few years. No freshmen may be pledged until May 1, although pledging of upperclassmen may take place sooner.

During the second semester of 1927-28 Wisconsin B ranked second among all the women's fraternities on the campus, making a slight gain in scholarship over that of the previous semester. The freshman scholarship cup was awarded in June to Joyce Wadmond.

The chapter is emphasizing activities, secondary only to scholarship, and to that end has placed in the chapter house an activity chart on which each member is to check those major and minor activities in which she takes part. This chart shows that Π Φ is well represented in campus activities. The president of the Women's Athletic Association, and swimming and basketball managers, are Pi Phi's; the secretary of the Beloit Players, the secretary and the vice president of the sophomore class, the Big Sister chairman, and several representatives on the Student Council and the Women's Student Government Council are also Pi Phi's. The chapter is represented too, in Forum club, in Vesper and A Cappella choirs, and in Σ A I.

In a beauty contest conducted by the Beloit College annual, Margaret Freeman was one of the three co-eds selected by the judges as typical Beloiters.

On May 6, was Beloit College Mothers' Day. On that week-end the Beloit Players put on two one-act plays for the entertainment of the students and their mothers. Dinner was served at the various dormitories Saturday night, and on Sunday morning the fraternities, men's and women's, entertained at breakfasts at the houses. Mothers' Day is an institution at Beloit which students and their mothers enjoy thoroughly.

In May, the chapter had a supper sing at the house in honor of Mrs. Melvin A. Brannon, an ex-Grand President of Π B Φ . She was the dean of women at Beloit College when Wisconsin B was chartered, and was instrumental in bringing the chapter here.

With four seniors, seven juniors and twelve sophomores back at Beloit, Wisconsin B is very fortunate. The other women's fraternities have suffered from heavy losses in all classes.

JOYCE WADMOND

NORTH DAKOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF NORTH DAKOTA

Pledge Day, September 22, 1928.

The University of North Dakota opened September 17, with a slight increase in enrollment. A new Arts building is under construction, which will be the largest building on the campus. The library has been moved to the Commons building where there is more room for reading and study.

Plans were made for a lively Homecoming Day, October 20, when Coach West's North Dakota football team played his former team, South Dakota State College. Much friendly rivalry was manifested and a great many alumni were back.

The members of North Dakota A are well established in their new chapter house. The house is built in the English style of architecture, of brick, stucco and half timber. It accommodates eighteen girls and a house mother.

A Φ moved into her new chapter house, which was ready for the formal tea during rush week.

Following a week of rushing, North Dakota A pledged nine girls: Alice Haney, Inez Babcock, Catherine Baker, Evelyn Palmer, Mary Herrick, Carla Neirson, Doris Kalestad, Marcella Collins and Kathleen McDonald.

During the summer Rhea Shaw was a delegate to the convention in California of $\Phi X \Theta$, professional commerce fraternity.

Two of the staff positions of the university newspaper are filled by Pi Phis, Neva Bremm and Lorene Nelson. Evelyn Palmer was elected vice president, and Sylvia Tastad librarian of the women's glee club. The chapter is represented by five members in the first glee club, and by four in the second glee club.

Three Pi Phis, Dorothy Graves, Neva Bremm, and Lorene Nelson are members of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. Jeanette Owens was elected secretary of the League of Women Voters. Afton Manion is vice president of Panhellenic. Lorene Nelson was elected freshmen representative to the Women's League board last May. Gwendolyn Thompson and Lorene Nelson have been appointed to staff positions on the university annual.

X Ω won the Panhellenic scholarship cup. II Φ was second.

FLORENCE COLLINS

ILLINOIS ALPHA—MONMOUTH COLLEGE

Chartered, May 24, 1928.
Pledge Day, February 4, 1929.

The chief activity in which Illinois A is engaged is in furnishing a club room for her chapter. II Φ is the first women's fraternity on the campus to have a club room. The chapter hopes to have the room furnished and in order by homecoming, October 20.

The Junior class will give The Torch Bearers at homecoming this fall. Mary Russell has the lead in the play. The chapter is planning a float for the parade, and a luncheon for the alumnae. Katherine Phelps and Floy Fetherston are on the Homecoming committee.

The girls of Illinois A are represented in many activities. Margaret Graham is president of W.A.A., and is vice president of the Pep Club. Mary Russell and Katherine Phelps are on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. Ruth Scheidegger and Floy Fetherston are the only sophomore members of II K Δ . The chapter has five members in the dramatic club, and four on the staff of the college paper.

T K E installed a chapter at Monmouth on October 5. Two of the fraternities are building beautiful new homes and expect to move into them this fall. There is a great deal of interest in nationalization on the campus, and II Φ is to the first national women's fraternity at Monmouth.

The local Panhellenic has set the date for pledging on February 4. By this plan the chapter has an opportunity to know the freshmen girls.

KATHARINE PHELPS

ILLINOIS BETA—LOMBARD COLLEGE

Chartered, 1872
Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

After the death of President Joseph Mayo Tilden, the Unitarians combined with the Universalists in the support of Lombard. This union of forces has brought to Lombard an increase in endowment and in enrollment.

As a result of a strenuous attempt to raise its standard of scholarship Illinois B again held first place in scholarship on the campus. Marion Poor, Genevieve Thomas, Elva Tucker and Marion Venell were elected into $\Phi K \Phi$, and were graduated cum laude.

The chapter was represented in the annual Lombard Dance Review by Catherine Townsend, Margaret Logeman, Maratha Crissey, Ruth Lane, Estelle Gottrick, Lucy Davis, Beth Fredricks, Ruth Wray, Vivian Tarp, Grace Metcalf and Dorothy Brown.

One of the most outstanding events of II Φ life for the members of Illinois B was the participation in the installment of Illinois A at Monmouth College. The opportunity of meeting five of the living founders and several of the Grand officers was a privilege to be remembered.

The members of Illinois B are enrolled in many activities. Catherine Townsend is editor of the Lombard Review, and Dorothy Brown and Ruth Lane are on the Review staff. Alice Ward is a member of the Student Council, and Ruth Lane belongs to the Campus Players club. Martha Crissey, Alice Ward, Catherine Townsend and Elenor Hitch are members of the Steppers Club.

Summer rushing consisted of picnics, a luncheon bridge, a dinner and a dance. The formal rushing season opened September 9, with open house at the $\Pi B \Phi$ bungalow. A dinner was held September 11, honoring several alumnae and a large number of freshman girls. On September 14, the rushees were entertained at a French dinner. The final event of rushing was the annual alumnae Rush Day. A luncheon bridge was held at the home of Mrs. C. A. Webster, a cooky-shine at the home of Mrs. G. F. Hebard and a party was given at Gilberts Park. The entire event was carried out with Japanese decorations.

RUTH LANE

ILLINOIS DELTA—KNOX COLLEGE

Chartered, 1884

Pledge Day, September 22, 1928

On October 5 and 6, Knox College commemorated the seventieth anniversary of the debate of Lincoln and Douglas. A pageant in miniature was staged and two characters, representing the original debaters gave excerpts from each of the speeches. There were several noted guests at the celebration, among them being Carl Sandburg, Ida M. Tarbell, Frank O. Lowden and Dr. Edgar J. Goodspeed. John Drinkwater's play Abraham Lincoln was presented with Frank McGlynn taking the leading part.

The annual college "Pump-handle" get acquainted, hand shaking festivities took place on the evening of the first day of college, September 19. Each guest wore a small card on which his or her name was written to facilitate getting acquainted.

The beginning of the college year was marked for Illinois Δ by the pledging, after a ten-day rushing period of the following nine girls: Grace Castle, Barrington, Ill.; Margaret Barry, Galesburg, Ill.; Betty Elder and Olive Kitzelmann, Chicago; Margaret Paxton and Margaret McWethy, Aurora, Ill.; Lucille Strand, Elmhurst, Ill.; Audrey Backenstoce, Tulsa, Okla.; and Audrey Whitehead, Galesburg, Ill.

Tryouts for various college organizations were held and Helen Harrauff was chosen as a first soprano in the chapel choir. Among the new members of the girls' glee club are: Lois Harris, Jane Owen, Alice Stevens, Vivian Campbell and Helen Harrauff.

Whiting Hall, the girls' dormitory was remodelled this summer. It gives the appearance of a very attractive tea room having round green tables with chairs of the same color, green ferneries and draperies of green and henna shades.

The Women's Athletic Association gave a Fun Frolic as a welcome to the new girls. There were stunts, dancing and refreshments.

JEANNE GODOLPHIN

ILLINOIS EPSILON—NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1874

Pledge Day, September 22, 1928

Illinois E pledged the following twelve girls: Mabel Anderson, Betty Brown, Doris Fraser, Betty Haskett, Marian Hadley, Jane Jones, Halcoyn Mitchell, Barbara Riddel, Emily Ruggles, Ida Mae Stefan, Marion Thompson and Jane Wellington.

The new women's campus at Northwestern was completed by the addition of Hobart Hall and Rogers Hall to one of the quadrangles. These halls for non-fraternity women, with eight women's fraternity houses, complete the larger of the two beautiful quadrangles. An annex to Fisk Hall, furnishing additional space for classrooms, was built.

On the W.A.A. show board for this year, the chapter has: Lois Stewart, as general manager; Ethel Finn, as assistant general manager; Charlotte Cornell, as head of costumes; and Jane Clover, as head of outside publicity.

In Mortar Board, Illinois E has two members, Jane Clover who is president, and Mary Louise Harlan.

Nathalie McChesney is social chairman of Y.W.C.A., and Doris Chatfield is a cabinet member.

At the annual Matrix banquet, given by $\Theta \Sigma \Pi$, a national journalistic fraternity for women, there were twenty-three Pi Phis.

CATHERINE CLARK

ILLINOIS BETA—LOMBARD COLLEGE ILLINOIS

Pledge Day, September 18, 1928

A new addition to Lincoln Hall, directly across from the $\Pi \Phi$ house was added to the already large campus at the University of Illinois. There have been in the last summer, seventeen new men's fraternity houses and twelve new women's fraternity houses erected.

This year rushing was again held before freshmen registration because of the Woman's Residence Hall contracts which are binding for the entire college year. Preferential bidding was used for the third year. Illinois Z pledged the following girls: Aline Bratton, Ruth Browning, Jane Busch, Wesa Dale, Alice Daughterty, Mary Gatewood, Louise Haire, Glenita Hobbs, Catherine Hughes, Mary Jane Hutton, Grace Louise Keiser, Marybelle Kimmel, Margaret Mathis, Helen Miller, Ruth Nixon, Charlotte Parker, Marjorie Plew, Helen Porterfield, Ann Putnam, Louise Rickard, Patricia Russell, Jane Sandusky, Margaret Sattley, Gene Sherman and Gretchen Stein. Ruth Martin is pledge supervisor this year. Formal pledge dinner was held September 15.

Therese Lemercier, member of Mask and Bauble, is assistant director for the Mask and Bauble production, Is Zat So?, which was held October 27-28, the weekend of homecoming. Illinois Z again decorated the chapter house for the homecomers.

Cecile Gilroy and Elizabeth Stoolman are on the Homecoming and Dads' Day committees. Elizabeth Stoolman and Helen Miller are on the Big Sister committee in Woman's League.

Π B Φ joined 100 per cent to Woman's League and is well represented at the Y.W.C.A., by Alberta Lewis and Kathryn Burrows.

RUTH BRESEE

ILLINOIS ETA—JAMES MILLIKIN UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1912

Pledge Day, November 3, 1928

Initiated, September 29, 1928: Alicesnow Binney, '31, Chicago; Mary Bishop, '31, Piper City, Ill.; Aileen Blake, '31, West Frankfort, Ill.; Winifred Osberg, '31, Riverside, Ill.; Ruth Robertson, '31, Chicago; Lorraine Spiess, '30, Decatur, Ill.

The first week of college was the traditional Y.W.C.A. Week at Millikin. Each new girl had a big sister who helped her register, and who took her to the walkout, banquet and reception. The purpose of the week is to help the upperclassmen and freshmen to get acquainted.

Several campus improvements were made during the summer. New bleachers and a new track curbing on the athletic field were built. Also, the chapel and several classrooms were redecorated.

Homecoming will be November 17. Plans are being completed for the play, parade, game and dance. Many Π Φ alumnae are intending to return.

Rushing was carried on under the same plan as last year, at the end of the first six weeks. Deferred rushing has been quite successful and probably will be continued.

During August, Π Φ actives and pledges had a week-end party at the chapter house. Twelve girls who are now freshmen at Millikin were guests.

Last year the chapter regained the scholarship rating which they had lost by .002. Among other honors for last spring: Erma Young Gill was graduated with honors; Roland Brosseau was a beauty winner; and Jesseth Blackman and Jane Girton won second and third prizes in the French contest.

This year, Emily McDavid is president of Panhellenic; Helen Moffet is a member of Π M Θ, senior honorary society, and president of Y.W.C.A.; Alice Wilson is on the Y.W. cabinet. On the Millidek staff, Ruth Robertson is art editor and Alice Sawyer assistant; Josephine Hutchings is society editor, and Helen Moffett, senior representative. Alice Sawyer is vice president of the home economics club. Jesseth Blackman is a member of the student council.

The following Pi Phi have been elected to membership in Α Φ Δ, fine arts honorary fraternity: Aileen Blake, Ruth Robertson and Alicesnow Binney.

IOWA ALPHA—IOWA WESLEYAN UNIVERSITY

Chartered, December 21, 1868

Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

Initiated, September 20, 1928: Bernice Seaver, '31, New York City, N.Y.

Sixteen members of Iowa A returned this year ready for an active year in Π Φ.

Several spreads and informal gatherings were given to which rushees were invited. A rushing party was given September 21, in the form of a four-course dinner at the Yellow Lantern tearoom. The evening was spent at the C. S. Rogers' home where oriental dances, music and burlesque were the form of entertainment.

A cooky-shine was held September 20, in honor of the initiation of Bernice Seaver.

This year, the chapter is placing special stress on activities and scholarship. Elizabeth Rogers, Louise Weibley, and Rebecca Firebaugh are on the Wesleyan News staff. On the Croaker staff, the college annual, Louise Weibley is art editor and Grace Wells, literary editor. Elizabeth Rogers, Ethel Johnson and Helen Holland are in the college band. The orchestra includes Helen Faye Gilbert, Elizabeth Rogers, and Ethel Johnson in its number. Other offices held by actives are: Elizabeth Rogers is president of W.A.A.; Louise Weibley president of K Π, honorary art fraternity; Rebecca Firebaugh president of Σ T Δ, honorary English fraternity; and Elizabeth Rogers, president of B B B, honorary science fraternity. Joy Hall and Katherine Wahl are members of the glee club.

Chartered, 1874

Pledge Day, September 22, 1928

Initiated, October 1, 1928: Margaret Craft, '30, Sidney, Iowa; Inez Hamilton, '31, Liberty Center, Iowa.

Iowa B pledged the following fourteen girls: Olive Wright, Aberdeen, S.D.; Margaret Dotts, Corydon, Iowa; Warren Craft, Helene Samuels and Gretchen Engelke, Sidney, Iowa; Bernadine Downie, Mount Ayr, Iowa; Geraldine Roberts, Corning, Iowa; Mayme Lyons, Murray, Iowa; Mildred Hall, Norwalk, Iowa; Lorene Proffit, Pleasantville, Iowa; Villa Van Gilder, Mary Farley, Frances Emmons and Mary Elizabeth Sayre, Indianola, Iowa.

Last June 1, the chapter pledged two girls: Alice Virginia Clark of Ottumwa, Iowa; and Martha Desenberg of Norwalk, Iowa. They came to the campus as sophomores, from Drake University in Des Moines.

Iowa B is well represented in activities this year. Marion Morgan is vice president of the Blackfrairs Dramatic club for the coming year. She is also president of Φ M Γ , national honorary dramatic fraternity. Frances Kern is secretary of that organization. Virginia Walton is vice president of Y.W.C.A. and Betty Carpenter and Martha Berry are on the cabinet. Alice Henderson is a member of the college student council for the coming year. Class officer elections, and freshman election to the student council have not been held as yet.

On pledge night the chapter had a cooky-shine after which open house was held for the men. They brought their new pledges, and introduced them.

Miss Kate Miller, an alumna of Iowa B, now of Columbia University, New York City, visited the chapter during September.

Iowa Γ announces the following list of pledges: Rachel Havner, Des Moines; Dorothy May Macy, Adel; Lucy Merrick, Boone; Virginia Romberg, Red Oak; Arklay Minert, Katherine Morgan, Virginia Dunlap, Ames; Alice Kearney, Wauwatosa, Wis.; Alice Leefers, Virginia Chandler, Cedar Rapids; Genevieve Ferris, Hampton; Katharine Garner, Little Rock, Ark.; Maurine Jacobson, Sioux City; Florence Sherman, Kenmore, N.Y.; and Helen Cox, De Soto, Kan. On September 28, the Ames alumnae gave a cooky-shine for actives and pledges at the chapter house.

In the spring quarter, the chapter ranked second among women's fraternities in the scholastic rating, and fifth among all national fraternities. $\Pi \Phi$ pledges were second among all other freshman groups. Shirley Wells received the home economics scholastic honor for having the highest grades during her freshman year.

One wing of the new million-dollar Memorial Union building is open this fall and ready for use. The new Dairy Industries building is also nearing completion.

The $K \Sigma$ and $Z A E$ houses will both be finished during the fall months.

The chapter holds many offices on the campus. Harriet King is president of the home economics club. During the past summer she attended the Mortar Board Convention in Los Angeles. Helen Hagar was elected president of $O N$ for the coming college year. Betty Barker was a Big Sister captain during freshman week on the campus.

Vidor Secor, class of 1928, was married to Justus Benson on August 17, 1928, at Des Moines. Mr. Benson, $A \Gamma P$, was graduated in 1927. They are at home in Sheldon, Iowa.

Iowa Γ is very happy to have Mrs. Peasley, house-mother, back again after a year's leave of absence.

The active chapter held a house party for two weeks during August at Lake Okoboji.

Joyce Archer, class of '27, was married to Sam Johnson on June 30, 1928. They are living in Spokane, Washington. Virginia Reck was married June 21, 1928 to Edward Corey.

Mary Elizabeth Innes is working for her master's degree at the University of Tennessee.

IOWA ZETA—UNIVERSITY OF IOWA

Pledge Day, September 14, 1928

Iowa Z has just completed another rushing season and announces the pledging of the following twenty-two girls: Eloise Walker, Iowa City, Iowa; Eloise Crook, Omaha, Neb.; Elizabeth Jones, Iowa City, Iowa; Ruth Simmons, Woodhall, Ill.; Jane Everett, Albia, Iowa; Billie Armstrong, Albia, Iowa; Helen Howe, Kansas City, Mo.; Janet Klove, Monmouth, Ill.; Jane Shover, Monticello, Iowa; Jane Appleyard, Cherokee, Iowa; Mary Roddes, Marshfield, Wis.; Mary Ainsworth, Fort Dodge, Iowa; Helen Joyce, Keokuk, Iowa; Elizabeth Winger, Keokuk, Iowa; Elizabeth Lake, Shenandoah, Iowa; Virginia Lovejoy, Jefferson, Iowa; Elizabeth Wilson, Greene, Iowa; Margaret Dutton, Ottumwa, Iowa; Francine Lacey, Keota, Iowa; Jane Pontius, Lawrence, Kan.; Agnes Mealey, Olwein, Iowa; and Elizabeth Palen, Dubuque, Iowa.

The chapter house was completely redecorated during the past summer. All the bedrooms were redecorated and the furniture painted in attractive colors. The downstairs was also redecorated and the alumnae have contributed many attractive articles such as: pillows, covers for the radiators and lamps.

Many campus activities have not yet completed their plans. Eleanor Gildner of Mason City, Iowa and Ruth Eikenberry of Chariton, Iowa were made members of Mortar Board at the close of the college year. Eleanor Glidner was also elected publicity director of Womens' Association, and assistant art editor of the Frisol, the university humor magazine.

Mrs. Laura Lewis, who chaperoned Iowa Z last year, is again chaperon this year.

MARGARET COOPER

SOUTH DAKOTA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH DAKOTA

Pledge Day, September 22, 1928

After a successful week of rushing South Dakota A began the year with fourteen active girls and ten pledges. By a Panhellenic ruling, the rushing was allowed from September 16 to September 21, inclusive. Rushing began with a tea for all rushees. Dinner parties and one preferred party followed within the next few days. The preferential bidding system was used. The cooky-shine was held in honor of the new girls on the night of informal pledging. The following girls were pledged: Mary Adams, Sioux Falls; Olive Akers, Onida; Rhoda Dunham, Clark; Isabel Hegnes, Beresford; Eleanor Jeffries, Rapid City; Elsie Kersten, Deadwood; Evelyn Shultz, Aberdeen; and Elsie Siglar, Canton.

The University of South Dakota started this year with many new faculty members. A faculty-student mixer was held the first week of college in order to have the students get acquainted with the new instructors.

Π Φ is well represented in campus activities: Evelyn Kyes was elected president of the junior girls; Olive Akers as vice president of the freshman girls; Grace Deklotz is secretary of the sophomore class; and Isabel Hegnes was chosen for Mask and Wig, a campus dramatic organization.

Seven of the new pledges were chosen to membership in the three campus literary societies, two of which are national, namely, Alethenai and Athena. The other, Alethian, is a local but has been on the campus for twenty years.

A girls' glee club was organized on the campus this year with a total number of twenty. Six of these are Pi Phis: Doris Howell, Genevieve Howe, Kathryn Peterson, Marguerite Peterson, Josephine Stewart and Evelyn Schultz. Kathryn Peterson was elected president of the club.

Every year the college of music awards a scholarship of $250. This year Josephine Stewart received the prize.

Dakota Day was held on October 20. The homecoming game was played with Morningside College. Many alumnae and visitors were at the chapter house that day.

GRACE DEKLOTZ

MISSOURI ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF MISSOURI

Chartered, 1899
Pledge Day, September 8, 1928

Missouri A announces the pledging of the following eighteen girls: Florence Adams, Kansas City, Mo.; Anne Draper, Warrensburg, Mo.; Virginia Estes, Columbia, Mo.; Martha Groves, Kansas City, Mo.; Ethelyn Henwood, Jefferson City, Mo.; Martha Mackey, Kansas City, Mo.; Jacqueline Mallory, Joplin, Mo.; Virginia McAlester, Columbia, Mo.; Elizabeth O'Keefe, Carthage, Mo.; Corrine Roy, Shreveport, La.; Margaret Salmon, St. Louis, Mo.; Elizabeth Slaughter, Paris, Ark.; Margaret Stewart, Camden, Ark.; Dorothy Trego, Kansas City, Mo.; Mary Elizabeth Tucker, Kansas City, Mo.; Margaret Waters Vandalia, Mo.; and Clara Belle Willis, Sweet Water, Tex.

The chapter ranked first in scholarship among the women's fraternities for the second semester last year, bringing the rank for the year to third place.

Missouri A is well represented in activities this year. Ethelyn Henwood was elected council representative of freshmen women, which made her a member of W.S. G.A. council. Margaret Stewart was elected secretary of the students in the department of arts and science. Margaret Louise Ott who was vice president of Z Σ, women's interfraternity, is now the president.

The actives entertained the pledges with the customary breakfast dance which was given at the chapter house on October 6.

HARRIET GUITAR

MISSOURI BETA—WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1907
Pledge Day, September 20, 1928

At Washington University, the first semester began September 24, a week later than usual.

The chapter is very fortunate this year in having twenty-six active members return to college.

Rushing season began September 5, running through September 18. During this period Missouri B entertained slowly decreasing numbers of freshmen with five parties; "Ring Ching Inn," a Mothers' and Daughters' tea, "Pi Phi Prep School," "Greenwich Village," and a breakfast bridge.

On Thursday, September 20, Missouri B pledged the following girls: Susan Goodall, Mary Amy Gould, Dorothy Haven, Elizabeth Hester, Virginia Ingamells, Marietta MacIntyre, Marguerite Newton, June Reno, Mary Jane Richards, Elizabeth Shilke, Helen Stewart, Virginia Stewart, and Margaret Stokes. On Monday, September 24, the chapter celebrated by initiating its pledges into the delights of the cooky-shine.

On October 12, Missouri B introduced her pledges to college society at an informal dance. The affair was held in the newly completed Woman's building, where the chapter, through a competitive system, obtained highly desirable quarters.

With an enthusiastic scholarship chairman, Missouri B looks forward to maintaining its rank as first in scholarship among national fraternities for women, and to raising its actual average.

EDNA SUTTER

MISSOURI GAMMA—DRURY COLLEGE

Chartered, January 9, 1914
Pledge Day, October 20, 1928

Missouri Gamma started the year with a tea in honor of the members of the advisory boards, both those who served last year and those who are to be on the board this year. Plans were made for cooperation between the active chapter and the alumnae in the activities for the winter.

As has become the annual custom, the chapter entertained with a successful cooky-shine in honor of the Pi Phi little sisters.

Four Pi Phis are student assistants this year: Colleen Kenney and Elizabeth Galt in the history department; Sela Atkinson in the physical education department; and Annabell Kerr in the home economics department. Lois Wilks and Maurine Fuson hold positions on the staff of the Drury Mirror, the college paper and Maurine is also art editor of the Southeaster, which is the Drury annual.

Honor in the music department was won by Violet Veerkamp who composed music to fit a poem written by another student of the college.

The campus and buildings of Drury have undergone various improvements, and the gymnasium has been remodeled.

The opening of the present college year brings a new department to Drury, that of journalism and publicity. Orland K. Armstrong, a Drury graduate of 1916, is at the head of the department. He will also teach a course in public speaking and debating. During the past three years he was at the head of the department of journalism in the University of Florida.

At the head of the English department is Clarence Paul Hotson, who is filling the place of Dr. James E. Cox. Dr. Cox was granted a year's leave of absence. Mr. Hotson has received degrees from Cornell University and from Harvard, and he has also studied in the University of Maine.

According to a new rule, each men's fraternity and women's fraternity will be allowed to have only one dance during the college year instead of two as was formerly permitted. However, chapter parties are not included in this ruling, and plans are being made for several of these this year.

MARTHELL BURMAN

ETA PROVINCE

NEBRASKA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

Chartered, 1895
Pledge Day, September 22, 1928

Nebraska B has experienced one of the most exciting rush weeks in many years. Actual rushing began on Monday, September 17, with a luncheon and lasted until the traditional Rose Dinner the following Wednesday night. The parties numbered eight in all. On Thursday, September 20, the new girls filed their fraternity preferences, and on the following Saturday, informal pledging took place at which time each girl accepting the bid of Pi B Phi came to the chapter house. The cooky-shine in honor of the new pledges was held that evening.

The chapter announces the pledging of the following girls: Ellen Van Arnam, Council Bluffs, Iowa; Frances Cotton, Casper, Wyo.; Janet Farnsworth, Ogden, Utah; Lucille Gray, Columbus; Katherine Howard, Lincoln; Betty Kimberly, Omaha; Mary Louise McCullough, Central City; Betty May, Lincoln; Fayette Norris, St. Joe, Mo.; Margaret Pearce, Madison; Helene Perry, Plattsburgh; Alice Reader, Kimball; Mildred Richardson, Lincoln; Raye Robb, Sioux Falls, S.D.; Lucille Ross, Central City; Jane Schaible, Falls City; Dorothy Stanley, Lansdowne, Penn.; Cynthia Tupper, Lincoln; Catherine Tynan, Stella; Dorothy Weaver, Falls City; and Mary Louise Webbert, Kearney.

The fraternity house, still new and beautiful, was almost completely redecorated during the summer. The walls of the living-rooms and the other rooms on the first floor have been painted a darker shade.

Many of the rooms have also been furnished with new beds.

In keeping with the high scholastic standards of the fraternity, the chapter received second place in the undergraduate scholastic ratings for the second semester of last year.

With the completion of Andrews Hall which houses the college of dentistry, the English and foreign language departments, and with the finishing of Memorial Hall, the campus is taking on a new and more beautiful aspect. Memorial Hall is located in the northeastern part of the campus and is an indication of the growth and development of the university. This growth is shown also by the fact that this year's registration was the heaviest ever recorded.

Another interesting bit of news about the campus is the announcement that Nebraska will have one of the largest cheering sections in the country at the home football games this fall. The section will number about 700 rooters.

Among the marriages of members of $\Pi B \Phi$ during the past summer was that of Dr. Winifred Hyde, professor of philosophy, to Edwin Merrick Dodd, Jr.

SARAH PICKARD

KANSAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

Chartered, 1873

Pledge Day, September 18, 1928

Initiated, September 27, 1928: Harriet Collins, '29, Oxford, Kan.; Jean Elston, '31, Salina, Kan.; Virginia Newcomer, '31, Kansas City, Mo.

Interest in rushing for Kansas A this year was greatly increased by the lovely new addition to the chapter house. All the rushing parties were most successful. The following were pledged: Virginia Coffman, Carolyn Comb, Natalie Coultas, Virginia Derby, Lila Hackney, Doris Hamilton, Mary Kreamer, Louise Ladd, Myra Little, Anita Moore, Margaret Nichols, Mary Noyes, Doris O'Donnell, Mary Elizabeth Pusch, Margaret Seybold, Mary Margaret Starr, Velma Varner, and Viola Warner. A cooky-shine was given for the pledges after pledging service and a great many of the alumnae were present.

The initiation ceremony on September 27, was followed by the cooky-shine.

The year has begun in a most promising fashion and the freshman class is taking its place in the college activities. Aileen Davis and Margaret Mize were chosen for $\Gamma \Sigma$, an honorary dancing sorority. Virginia Blue pledged $\Delta \Phi \Delta$, honorary art society. Margaret Nichols, Lila Hackney and Frances Simpson were chosen members of the girls glee club. Myra Little was chosen from the freshman class to act on an executive committee for the formation of a Hoover-Curtis club in the university.

Open house was given for the pledges on October 12, the faculty were entertained at a reception in the fall; and the freshman formal party will be on December 7.

Betty Ball, '28, is working on her master's degree at Columbia University this fall. Marion Keck, '28, was appointed to the International Federation of Alumnae convention in Ontario, Canada. Josephine Dana, '28, was married on September 29, 1928 to Dale Hudgins, '27 a $\Phi \Gamma \Delta$ from the Kansas chapter. Florence Layton was married on September 17, 1928 to Dan Meyers a ΔT from K.U. Virginia Mills married John Charvat on August 18, 1928. Helen Hungerford, '30, is spending the winter in Europe.

A new building is being erected on the campus to replace the old Snow Hall. The Union building is to be completed soon.

VIRGINIA BLUE

KANSAS BETA—KANSAS STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Chartered, 1915

Pledge Day, September 15, 1928

Rush week started at Kansas State September 9, and preferential bidding was again used. Kansas B pledged the following girls: Ruth Allen, Faye Harris, Frances Beal, Helena Hotchkiss, Marjorie Kuhn, Freda Greer, Mildred Kingsbury, Eleanor Womer, Virginia Seybold, Virginia Peffer, Mary Carney, Helen Hughes, Ione Strickland, Ruth Boyce, Olive Foltz, Charlotte Samco, Bernice Machmer, and Jane Sparr.

After pledging, the usual cooky-shine was given for the new pledges by the Manhattan alumnae club. The Friday night before pledging, open house for all the fraternities was held.

Last spring, Rosanne Abbey placed third in the beauty contest and Nancy Carney was elected to $\Phi A M$, an honorary general science fraternity.

Marguerite Samco from South Dakota A is an assistant instructor in the zoology department. Mary French has been given a leading part in the play, Is Zat So?

Already the pledges have been taken into many college activities. Ruth Boyce was appointed manager of the girls' glee club and Helena Hotchkiss had a part in Is Zat So? The pledges must take part in three regular college activities every week.

Virginia Lovitt, Florence Dudley, Helen Randall, Laura Hart, Marguerite Chaffin, Ruth Boyce and Evelyn Torrence were chosen for the glee club this year and Evelyn will act as soloist.

Katherine Chappell has announced her engagement to Eddie Crawford, ΣN . Mary Brooks, '28, is now Mrs. Jim Fleshman, and is living in Independence, Mo. Marybelle Sheetz, '27, was married June 6, to Bill Foster, and they are living in Manhattan.

Mrs. Elizabeth Warner is again the chaperon for Kansas B.

MARGUERITE CAFFIN

WYOMING ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

Chartered, 1910

Pledge Day, October 1, 1928

Initiated, September 19, 1928: Marjorie Breitenstein, '31, Parco, Wyo.; Margaret Goodrich, '31, Laramie, Wyo.; Gladys Nimmo, '31, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Betty Spalding, '31, Laramie, Wyo.

Wyoming A had a decided impetus for a successful year because of the honor books and scholarship cup which were awarded the chapter last spring. The honor books were the president's recognition of merit, and were awarded to Jean Mahee for her achievements in education and English, and to Cecil Nessbaum for music.

Margaret Goodrich and Alice Ellen Ford were chosen as big sisters. Betty Spalding, Marjorie Breitenstein, Nancy Burrage and Virginia Daugherty were elected to membership in Spurs, the national women's pep organization. Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary fraternity, petitioning Mortar Board, selected Zita Miller and Marguerite Blair for membership. Sue Horton and Marjorie Breitenstein were elected to membership in $\Theta A \Phi$. Zita Miller was elected the prom queen with Jean Mabec as lady in waiting.

As a finale to the spring activities, the traditional May dance and the commencement luncheon for the graduates and their mothers was given.

During rush week $\Pi \Phi$ entertained at a Silver and White tea, a Spanish party and the traditional Rose dinner. Rush week began the first week of college and culminated in Wyoming A pledging the following girls: Elizabeth Thornberry, Laramie, Wyo.; Susan Doyle, Laramie, Wyo.; Frances Scott, Laramie, Wyo.; Caroline Thompson, Rock Springs, Wyo.; Jean Nimmo, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Don Mae Wolfer, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Katherine Miller, Cheyenne, Wyo.; Dorothy Dale, Jackson, Wyo.; Mary Mathis, Sterling, Colo.; Margaret Grisinger, Casper, Wyo.; Merrimone Bradstreet, Lander, Wyo.; Mary Belle Pemberton, Spearfish, S.D.; Henrietta Brown, Sheridan, Wyo.; Rowene Danielson, Thermopolis, Wyo.; and Cathryn Johnson, Keokuk, Iowa.

The chapter announces the engagement of Marguerite Blair and Winston Howard, ΣN .

The University of Wyoming was greatly enthused over sending her football team to Chicago. The band and about one hundred rooters went on the trip.

COLORADO BETA—UNIVERSITY OF DENVER

Pledge Day, September 17, 1928

Colorado B announces the pledging of the following girls: Ruth Benway, Catherine Carstarphen, Geraldine Conzet, Mary Francis Dardis, Esther English, Rubymae Evans, Marjory Hibner, Gwendolyn Highberger, Mary Emily McGimsey, Lucy Scott, Shirley de Spain, and Georgia Watkins. Lois Curtis and Gwynfa Williams were pledged last spring.

Dr. Frederick M. Hunter of Oakland, Calif., the newly elected chancellor, arrived during July to assume his responsibilities as head of the University of Denver.

The Marjory Reed Mayo Memorial building on the campus is nearing completion and will be ready for occupation sometime in November. It will include, besides classrooms, a little theater and offices for the heads of departments.

Marie Melzer, a University of Denver graduate and an alumna of Colorado B was selected as the dean of women at the University of Denver department of commerce. Since her graduation in 1921, she has visited the Hawaiian Islands, the Philippine Islands, Europe and the Mediterranean countries.

GRACE E. WILSON

OKLAHOMA ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

Chartered, 1910

Pledge Day, September 16, 1928

The extensive construction campaign of Oklahoma University is well under way; the new infirmary is completed and in use; the library, Student Union building and a wing of the stadium are under construction and will be finished by the second semester.

$\Delta T \Delta$, $\Lambda \Gamma \Delta$, $\Delta \Gamma$, and ΦM are established in their new homes. Those fraternities who are building and expect to be installed before the close of the year are: $B \Theta \Pi$, ΔT , and ΔX .

Oklahoma A pledged the following twenty-nine girls: Bernice Booker, Tulsa; Helen Bethel, Tulsa; Virginia Bissell, Oklahoma City; Tacy Boory, Brownsville, Tex.; Margaret Bowman, Okmulgee; Maurine Cansler, Enid; Helen Jo Denby, Carter; Dorothy Douglass, Muskogee; Irene Drumright, Drumright; Maurine Earhart, Marietta; Clea Emenhiser, Bartlesville; Faye Foushee, Stroud; Loraine Hollis, Bartlesville; Peggy Jamieson, Ponca City; Martha Lou Johnson, Ardmore; Kathryn Johnston, Shawnee; Margaret Kennedy, Enid; Margaret Virginia Martin, Sayre; Eugenia Masters, Sapulpa; Leola Nichols, San Angelo, Tex.; Katherine Phillips, St. Louis, Mo.; Kathryn Poland, Ardmore; Frances Rinehart, Guthrie; Mary Rinehart, Wagoner; Pattie Lee Smith, Oklahoma City; Myldred Swaim, Tulsa; Edna Louise Trimble, Tulsa; Sarah Wheeler, Stanford, Tex.; and Harriett Womack, Duncan.

Gertrude Gardner Turner, Theta Province President, assisted during rushing.

Nine Pi Phis were chosen members of the Choral club of which organization Catherine Witt was elected president, Louise Rosser, librarian and Anita Rudowsky, accompanist.

Mildred Clark retains her position as president of the Woman's League, and due to the selection of Oklahoma University as the meeting place for the national organization in the coming spring, she is now the national president of the Woman's League.

Sponsored by the Woman's League is the Big Sister movement, a new enterprise on this campus. Elizabeth Amis represents $\Pi \Phi$ on the Big Sister committee. Virginia Bissell was elected president, and Pattie Lee Smith secretary treasurer of the freshman girls' organization, the Red Indians, which is also sponsored by the Woman's League.

Margaret Morgan is head of the religious committee of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet. She is also the president of O N, honorary home economics fraternity.

Mortar Board election last spring resulted in the selection of two Pi Phis: Mildred Clark and Margaret Morgan.

Allece Locke was selected to play the leading part in The Show Shop which was produced by the University Players.

Mrs. Elva Morrison of Muskogee will be the hostess for Oklahoma A for the coming year.

ALLECE LOCKE

OKLAHOMA BETA—OKLAHOMA AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE

Chartered, August 12, 1919

Pledge Day, September 12, 1928

Rushing started this year on the evening of Sunday, September 9. The following girls were pledged: Dorothy Lee Arnold, Leonard, Tex.; Dorothy Badger, Ponca City; Virginia Berry, Stillwater; Margaret Belcher, Clinton; Mary Bolton, Sapulpa; Nellie May Boyd, Enid; June Calhoun, Oklahoma City; Geneva Harrell, Blackwell; Bennie Marie Hester, Chelsea; Mary Ruth Holbrook, Perkins; Doris Holister, Sapulpa; Elizabeth McGarr, Muskogee; Evelyn Merrill, Tulsa; Ruth Miller, Stillwater; Tommy Moore, Olustee; Pearl Naylor, Coweta; Flora Rouse, Pleasant Valley; Bonnie Marie Sherfey, Ringling; Allyne Shull, Stillwater; Pearl Siler, Stillwater; and Katherine Weathers, Frederick.

The first two weeks of college were devoted principally to the organization of various campus organizations and the election of their officers. Dorothy Badger was chosen secretary of the freshman class. $\Pi \Phi$ is well represented in glee club by Mary Ruth Holbrook, Tommy Moore, Doris Jones, Mary Bolton, Katherine Weathers, Maud Hayman and Roberta Sanborn. Bennie Marie Hester and Virginia Berry were selected to become Peppers, a pep organization for girls. The chapter obtained three offices in Omega literary society with Mary Clark as president, Pearl White, secretary, and Juanita Rhodes, reporter.

Oklahoma A. and M. regrets very much losing Dr. Bradford Knapp as president. The new president is Dr. Harry Bennett.

The Chi Omegas, Sigma Nus and Lambda Chi Alphas have lovely new homes. The Chi Omegas moved into their home before rushing started, but the Sigma Nus and Lambda Chi Alphas may not occupy theirs before the first of the year.

ARKANSAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS

Chartered, 1909

Pledge Day, September 15, 1928

The Fayetteville alumnae club was hostess to the $\Pi \Phi$ state convention held at the chapter house at the close of the college year. All of the alumnae clubs of the state were well represented and the actives as well as the alumnae felt that the convention was most successful in bringing into closer contact the $\Pi \Phi$ of the state. The meetings and social affairs were the basis for renewed $\Pi \Phi$ enthusiasm on the part of the alumnae. Imogene Heerwagon was initiated at this convention.

Mattalou Marshall made a 6.0 average in the spring semester. This is the highest possible average that can be made at the University of Arkansas.

A second summer session was held at the University of Arkansas this summer for the first time in the history of the institution. The attendance was very good and it is thought that in the future two sessions will be held during the summer.

At the conclusion of rush week Arkansas A pledged the following fourteen girls: Mary Jane Tribble, Roberta Benson, Martha Parnell, Shirley Ahrens, Virginia Reed, Roberta Robbins, Jeanne Shelby, Virginia Ellis, Pet Wood, Mildred Sipe, Catherine Schauf, Harriet Wall, Janie Fomby, and Nell Brazelton.

To maintain a high standard of scholarship Arkansas A has inaugurated the plan of having a short study period Sunday afternoon in addition to the usual study periods held during the week. The pledges are cooperating nicely with this plan.

Arkansas A has a number of girls prominent in campus activities. Josephine Barrett is president of ΨX , honorary psychology fraternity. Martha Hathcock is vice president of $\Sigma A I$ and Josephine is secretary of that organization. Martha is also secretary of the junior class. Nell Wallace Kelly is treasurer of Panhellenic and Elizabeth McLeod is vice president of A T, honorary English fraternity. Leone Walker is president of the Women's League and Blackfriar, an honorary dramatic organization. Four $\Pi \Phi$ are on the Y.W.C.A. cabinet and two are members of Kootin' Rubes, a pep organization. Effie Eileene Metcalf and Ellene Peterson placed in the beauty section of The Razorback.

Ellen Goode and Nell Wallace Kelly attended the Theta Province convention at Pine Hill Hotel, Pine Hill, Miss. Nell Wallace made an interesting report of the convention to the chapter and brought back many helpful suggestions for future work.

TEXAS ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS

Chartered, February 19, 1902

Pledge Day, September 20, 1928

GRADUATES: Katherine Brooks, B.A., Meridian, Miss.; Edna Brown, B.A., McGregor, Tex.; Kate Calder, B.A., 2920 Ave. O, Galveston, Tex.; Ermine Kirkpatrick, B.A., 3219 Turtle Creek Blvd., Dallas; Ollie Knight, B.A., 1314 West Lynn, Austin; Julia Robbins, B.A., 1900 San Gabriel, Austin; Virginia Tallichet, B.A., 3220 Fannin, Houston.

Texas A pledged forty girls at the close of a successful rush week. Each pledge is required to go to study hall six hours each week. The object is to help the pledges make their initiation average. All who have an average of "B" or above at midterms will be excused from the study hall.

The chapter, at present, numbers twenty-six. Since last year Texas A lost nineteen girls; seven of these were lost through graduation, and twelve through transfer.

A good many Texas A girls were engaged in campus activities last year. Cornelia Gregory was elected president of Cap and Gown, and Sarah Payne was elected president of Ashbel Literary Society. Members were elected to Mortar Board, Ashbel Literary Society and N E T T.

The Fort Worth alumnae sent the chapter this year two lovely lamps for the house which was redecorated this summer.

JOSEPHINE CORNER

TEXAS BETA—SOUTHERN METHODIST UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1916

Pledge Day, September 29, 1928

Southern Methodist University opened this year with the largest enrollment in the history of the college. The number of women's fraternities was increased since both K K Γ and K A Θ put in chapters.

Rushing was very strenuous this year since it was held during the first week of college. Texas B pledged the following fifteen girls: Bernice Brown, Dallas; Mayola Crum, Dallas; Mary Louise Felder, San Antonio; Roberta Green, Amarillo, Tex.; Nancy Hines, Dallas; Mary Helen Kean, Dallas; Ruth King, Harlingen, Tex.; Virginia Lawler, Dallas; Cora Lockard, Shreveport, La.; Theresa March, San Angelo, Tex.; Betty Moss, Dallas; Annetta Robertson, Dallas; Elizabeth Russ, Albany, Tex.; Dorothy Williams, Dallas; and Alice Womack, Marshall, Tex.

Mary Brown was elected S.M.U. duchess to the all-college circus. She will represent the university and will have a chance in the election of all college queen at the State Fair of Texas.

ISABELLE MOOR

LOUISIANA ALPHA—NEWCOMB COLLEGE

Chartered, 1891

Pledge Day, September 29, 1928

Louisiana A started her rushing with a house party on the gulf coast. The new Hotel Biloxi was chartered for the three days. The first night a large Japanese dinner was given with vari-colored costumes and decorations carrying out the theme. Two girls, one dressed as a boy and the other as a Japanese girl, were seated in a large gold moon and entertained the guests with many songs. The next day the entire group was entertained on an all-day boat ride aboard the yacht Cocheo to the Isle de Caprice where everyone went surf bathing. The formal banquet was held that night, the theme being the S. S. Pi Phi with the actives dressed as sailors and officers. The tables were arranged in the form of a ship with wine and blue pennants strung overhead and little paper sloops as placecards. The steamer stopped at various countries with stunts typical of each land. The chaperon, Helen Ogden, as captain of the ship, announced that this voyage was the thirty-seventh trip to Newcomb and expressed the wish that the same crew would stay with the good old S. S. Pi Phi. The next day Mrs. Hecht entertained the house party in her lovely Japanese garden, one of the show places of the gulf coast. The morning was spent swimming in her private pool, sailing and canoeing, with a buffet luncheon following. The successful house party ended that afternoon.

College opened September 24, and the first $\Pi \Phi$ entertainment was a swimming party given at the Country Club. Supper was served afterwards at the home of Maridel Saunders. A progressive dinner was given with each course served at a different home. The dinner represented Children Stories with the hostesses dressed to represent a character in some book. The dessert course was given at the home of Nancy Allen which was decorated to represent the N. O. Patio scene in Lady Jane. Two negro mammies entertained the guests by dancing and singing negro spirituals.

The pledge luncheon which was given on the Bienville Roof closed the fraternity rushing. That night the pledging ceremony was held at the home of Betty Werlein with a delightful cooky-shine afterwards.

Louisiana A announces the following pledges: Alice Blacklock, Rebecca Barton, Frances Cleveland, Florence Ferguson, Dorothy Johnson, Winifred Eskrigge, Margaret Wallace, Edith Harvey, Anita Keenan, Myrthe Stauffer, Ann Spivy, Fannie Bell Woodcock, Elizabeth Villere, and Dorothy Walker.

JANE HAYWARD

IOTA PROVINCE

MONTANA ALPHA—MONTANA STATE COLLEGE

Chartered, September 30, 1921

Pledge Day, October 1, 1928

All but a few of the girls who were in the chapter last year returned and about sixteen are girls living in the house.

During last spring quarter among the social events that took place was a Mothers' Day chocolate on Mothers' Day to which all the parents, friends and representatives of the other fraternities on the campus were invited. The annual spring party was held at Kart's Kamp, a dude ranch, in the West Gallatin Canyon. It was a dinner dance with about forty couples attending.

On Woman's Day the chapter received a goodly number of the honors received by the women of the college. Frida Hendrickson received the high attainment cup awarded to the junior woman receiving the highest rating of the women on the campus. This rating is based upon scholarship, personality and leadership. She as well as Shirley Fabrick were elected to membership in Mortar Board. Frida attended the Mortar Board national convention at Yosemite National Park late in August. Elizabeth Gardiner was announced a chairman of Woman's Day for 1929. Members of the chapter were announced as new members of Spurs, honorary sophomore women's organization, and of Eurodelphian.

IDAHO ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO

Pledge Day, October 7, 1928

GRADUATES: Lucille Anderson, B.A., 503 Thirteenth Ave., Spokane, Wash.; Capitola Davidson, B.A., 5714 Blackstone, Chicago; Janet Hawkins, B.S., Emmett, Idaho; Louis Russell, B.S., 910 Deakin Ave., Moscow, Idaho; Erma Scholtz, B.A., 1730 Twenty-sixth North, Seattle, Wash.; and Maryls Shirk, B.A., 823 S. Washington, Moscow, Idaho.

The fall rushing opened with the Panhellenic tea Saturday afternoon, September 29. On Sunday afternoon $\Pi \Phi$ entertained at a Rose tea and on Tuesday evening with a Bohemian fireside. For the latter easels and metal cloth were the basis of the decorative scheme, the girls dressing in smocks and velvet tams. The third party was a Chinese breakfast on Friday.

Marie Johnston was married to Warren Montgomery, ΣX , in August at St. Maries, Idaho. Ruth Hawkins who received her master's degree in English in June, was married to Louis Boas, ΣX .

Pauline Mitchell received her master's degree in French also in June.

Frances Gallet is junior member of the executive board of the A.S.U.I. and is also a member of the cabinet of the Women's League. Maryvina Goldsmith is continuing her work as editor of the Blue Bucket. This is an unusual honor as no girl has ever before held this responsible position for two consecutive years. Catherine York was elected treasurer of the sophomore class and was also elected vice president of the Episcopal club. Edith Sanborn is the vice president of the Women's League. Elsie Warm and Catherine York were chosen for Spurs, the sophomore honorary activity organization. Genevieve and Delloah Budrow won their "I" sweaters this year through W.A.A. Several of the girls were chosen in the English club, W.A.A. and other active clubs.

CATHERINE A. YORK

WASHINGTON ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

Chartered, April, 1907

Pledge Day, September 30, 1928

A most successful rush week was followed by Washington A pledging the following twenty-four girls: Irma Rogg, Jean Born, Helen Shay, Josephine McNaughton, Gertrude Falls, Julia Shadbolt, Elizabeth Fogg, Isabelle Nicolle, Alice De Long, Mary Ellen Peck, Verna Howey, Carol Caldwell, Elizabeth Wallen, Virginia White, Frances Wilson, Virginia Smith, Jane Webb, Frances Brownell, Vivian Downey, Ada Mae Flannigan, Virginia Lee Jordan, Geneva Dahljelm, Virginia Jackson, and Helen Vernon.

The chapter was well represented in activities. Margaret Church, Flo Cook, and Sue Fitch were elected to Mortar Board. Margaret Emery is vice president and Katherine Mitchel is treasurer of the Women's Federation. Mary Elizabeth Starr is president of the home economics club. Many of the girls took leads in Big Time, the all-university vaudeville production.

As well as a marvelous activity year $\Pi \Phi$ came up in scholarship. Margaret Church was elected to ΣZ . Mary Elizabeth Starr was elected to O N. In the university scholastic list $\Pi \Phi$ was sixth.

MABEL STIMPSON

WASHINGTON BETA—WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

Chartered, July 6, 1912

Pledge Day, September 25, 1928

The State College of Washington opened September 21 with an increased enrollment, especially in the freshman class. The campus is improved greatly by the completion of the new Home Economics building, a new hospital, and two new women's fraternity houses, A Δ Π and A Γ Δ . The $\Pi \Phi$ chapter house was painted inside and out. New furniture was added including a grandfather clock, which makes the interior much more attractive.

The chapter was very fortunate in having twenty-three active members and eight pledges return to help with fall rushing, which resulted in the pledging of the following girls: Emma Louise Daubert, Colfax; Annabelle Quick, Chehalis; Betty Belmont, Barbara Possom and Helen McEacheran, Spokane; Elizabeth Frazier, Kennewick; Ethel Suttin, Walla Walla; Mary Alice Allen, Pullman; Evelyn Schutz, Lind; Florence Steffenson, Chewelah; and Verta Templeton, Bellingham.

Lenna Baird, '26, is taking work for a master's degree in bacteriology, and Mildred Roberts, '27, has a teaching fellowship in Spanish. Jetral Templeton, formerly in the chapter, has a position in the Pullman grade school.

The chapter is very proud of Verna Knight, who has been named in College Humor's Collegiate Hall of Fame. Verna was very active in college dramatics last year. Margaret McCaskill, another dramatic student, was initiated into National Collegiate Players last spring. Denise Tripeer is assistant business manager of the Chinook, college yearbook. Dorothy Jahnke, recently initiated into Mortar Board, is chairman of the All-College Mix, an annual event held at the beginning of each semester, and of the homecoming sign committee. Dorothy was also elected president of the R.O.T.C. Sponser's club.

Washington B announces the following marriages: Margaret MacLennan to Harold P. Wheeler, ΣN , instructor of music on the college faculty; Martha Faith Dyer to Kenneth Bageant, $\Phi \Delta \Theta$; and Verna Goss to James Chisholm of Tacoma.

Washington State College has been recently granted a chapter of $\Phi B K$; and A $\Sigma \Phi$, local men's fraternity, has been granted a charter to $\Sigma \Phi \Sigma$, national men's fraternity. Diversity club, also a men's local, has been granted a charter to A K Γ ; and K B, women's local, was granted a charter to Z T A.

OREGON ALPHA—UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Chartered, October 29, 1915

Pledge Day, September 30, 1928

INITIATES: Marjie Edwards, '31, Portland, Ore.; Ruby George, '31, Eugene, Ore.; Naida Plummer, '31, Portland, Ore.

GRADUATES: Mae Anderson, B.A., Portland; Edith Bader, B.A., Portland; Dorothy Delzell, B.A., Salem; Alice Douglas, B.S., North Bend; Claudia Fletcher, B.S., Portland; Eleanor Glass, B.S., La Grande; Frances Hare, B.A., Portland; Julia Kaufman, B.A., Portland; Jacquise Kirtley, B.A., Eugene; Beatrice Mason, B.A., Eugene; Helen Smith, B.A., Redmond.

Oregon A announces the pledging of the following girls: Harriet Arenz, Helen Kaufman, Geraldine Goodshell, Virginia Smith, Myrtle McDaniels, Catherine McEntee, Louise Hewitt, Virginia Smith, Betty Barnes, Lois Nelson, Dorothy Ann Wernick, Dorothy Brigham and Mary Hunt.

Many improvements were made on the University of Oregon campus this fall. The men's dormitory was added to the campus and along with a smaller dormitory is large enough to accommodate all the unaffiliated men. The Delta Gammas, Alpha Gamma Deltas, and Delta Tau Deltas have splendid new homes.

During the spring semester several honors were given both to the group and individuals of the chapter. Once more the song cup, given to the best group of singers of Oregon songs, was given to $\Pi \Phi$ for the third consecutive year. Now it belongs to $\Pi \Phi$ permanently.

Beatrice Mason and Dorothy Delzell were voted into $\Phi \beta \kappa$. Beatrice Mason also was elected to $\Sigma \Xi$. Ruth Burcham was elected to Mortar Board. Dorothy Eberhard was elected vice president of the sophomore class. Beatrice Milligan was elected junior woman on the Student Council.

BONITA TICHENOR

OREGON BETA—OREGON STATE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE

Chartered, July 23, 1917

Pledge Day, October 8, 1928

Oregon B had an unusually large number of members back for fall registration at Oregon State, September 29. While the chapter house was not entirely completed, the girls moved into it, standing a few inconveniences. It is to be one of the best looking women's fraternity houses on campus, and is of French colonial architecture. The interior is very beautiful and is exceptionally well arranged.

After a successful summer rushing season, the members of Oregon B were ready for intensive fall rushing which had to be carried on in other fraternity houses and homes of alumnae because of the incomplete state of the chapter house.

In the spring, the Stunt Show was held on this campus and the chapter took an active part in it. The judges found it hard to make a decision, but finally awarded $\Gamma \Phi \beta$ first prize and $\Pi \beta \Phi$, second. The prize of twenty dollars was used to buy a beautiful French etching for the living-room.

At a dinner before the close of college in the spring, Alice Kuney announced her engagement to Edward Locke, a member of $K \Sigma$ on this campus.

The girls were fortunate this year in being elected to a number of honorary organizations. Pauline Graull was chosen for $K \Delta E$, honorary in education; and $\Phi K \Phi$, national scholastic honorary. Alice Kuney was elected to $\Theta \Sigma \Phi$, national honorary in journalism, and Meredyth Savage was pledged to National College Players, honorary in dramatics. Clark Park was elected to $O N$, honorary in home economics, Cap and Gown, senior women's honorary (petitioning Mortar Board), $\Phi K \Phi$, scholastic honorary, and was elected president of the Associated Women Students.

KAPPA PROVINCE

CALIFORNIA ALPHA—LELAND STANFORD, JR., UNIVERSITY

Chartered, 1893

Pledge Day, January 17, 1929

Initiated, April 23, 1928: Anne Colman, '31, 325 N. Vermont Ave., Los Angeles; Mary Eleanor Griffiths, '30, 1917 First St., Napa, Calif.; Helen Halderman, '31, 2183 Union St., San Francisco; Caroline Selden, '29, 403 W. Sixth St., Erie, Penn.; Margaret Willis, '31, 5 Lasuen, Stanford Univ., Calif.

Alexia McCarty was selected as one of seven senior sponsors from the women's fraternities to live in Roble Hall, the girls' dormitory, and help the new freshmen with their numerous problems of adjustment.

Helen Ward played the part of the princess in the production The Queen's Husband which was given on October 12. This was the first play of the year.

Caroline Selden will be hockey manager for the coming term, and the chapter has a large representation in both hockey and tennis.

California A is very happy in the affiliation of Barbara Seale, a transfer from Oregon B.

At senior breakfast, the engagement of Helen Anne Thompson to Reese Wolfe, a $Z \Psi$ on this campus, was announced. During the summer, Betty Howlett, president of the house for the past semester, announced her engagement to Shepard Stanley Tucker. Mr. Tucker is a graduate of the University of California, and is a member of $Z \Psi$ fraternity.

The first social event of the quarter was a rushing tea which was given in the chapter house. This was primarily for the purpose of getting acquainted with the incoming class, and gave them an opportunity to see the girls in their own houses.

MARIANA EVANS

CALIFORNIA BETA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA

Chartered, 1900

Pledge Day, August 30, 1928

Initiated, September 11, 1928: Carol McBoyle, '29, 1448 Lake St., San Francisco; Lenoir McNamara, '29, 45 St. Frances Blvd., San Francisco; Roma Rivolta, '30, Pleasanton, Calif.; Gladys Worden, '31, 61 Forest Side Ave., San Francisco.

Registration began on August 16, and classes started August 21. This year the university tried out a new system of freshman orientation. Every new student was given into the charge of a student adviser, as in previous years. On Thursday and Friday no rushing was allowed, and the freshmen, escorted by their advisers, made a tour of the campus and attended various meetings where they became acquainted with the traditions and activities of the university. Alla Coe, Clara Catherine Hudson, and Emily Lowry were captains of these student advisers.

After two weeks of rushing, bids were sent to the lawyer and three days later the chapter called at her office for the names of those girls who had accepted. Thursday morning (Derby Day), at six o'clock the active stood at the head of Channing Way to welcome the new pledges as they rode up the street escorted by the Sigma Chis on very antique trucks decorated to represent rowboats. The new pledges are: Virginia Armstrong, Emma Barham, Jane Alice Barnby, Betty Bowden, Betty Bundschu, Louise Clendennin, Rosemary Cutter, Margaret Hahn, Beryl Holmes, Margaret Lunt, Janet Majors, Virginia Oliver, Elizabeth Shaw, Barbara-Lu White and Frances Woolsey.

Π Φ is well represented among the honor societies on the campus. Lillian York, Connie Holmes and Mary Easton are members of Prytanian; Lillian York and Lenoir McNamara belong to Mortar Board; Mary Easton and Eleanor Louise Roeding, to Torch and Shield; Lillian York and Lenoir McNamara, to Θ Ξ Φ, national journalistic; and Eleanor Burgess, to X Δ Φ, national literary fraternity.

Besides this, the chapter has many girls who are very active on the campus. Lillian York is women's editor of Blue and Gold, the college annual, and Lenoir McNamara is women's editor of The Daily Californian. Alla Coe is junior manager of Blue and Gold, and Wilmer Grace is on the sophomore editorial staff. Emily Lowry played the ingénue lead in Meet the Wife, and Louise Clendennin was in the play, The Queen's Husband. Emily Lowry and Emma Barham are also members of Thalian Players. Virginia Canfield is a junior on the personnel staff. Clara Catherine Hudson and Charlotte Ham both have important positions in the campus Y.W.C.A. Connie Holmes is senior women's representative to Welfare Council and also vice chairman of the A.S.U.C. card sales committee. Lillian York and Lenoir McNamara are on the women's executive committee and also on Publications Council.

Charlotte Ham is vice chairman of the Vocational Guidance Bureau. This is a new activity on the campus. It was organized this year for the purpose of helping students decide what work they are going to do when they are graduated. Every week those who are interested are given a lecture by someone who has achieved success in his own line of work.

Π Φ stood third on the scholarship list of last semester. The honor students (upperclassmen, who throughout the college year have maintained better than a "B" average) were Eleanor Burgess, Virginia Canfield, Frances Chick, Alla Coe, Helen Meyer and Lillian York.

The mothers' club, as usual, is taking a keen interest in the chapter, and this summer gave new curtains and drapes throughout the house.

The chapter has exchange dinners this semester with K K Γ and A O II.

The formal tea at which the pledges were introduced to the campus took place October 5. The formal dance, given at the chapter house, followed in the evening.

ELEANOR BURGESS

CALIFORNIA GAMMA—UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

Pledge Day, October 2, 1928

Initiated, March 28, 1928: Peggy Brown, '31, 2193 W. Twenty-Fifth St., Los Angeles; Virginia Dabney, '31, 145 S. Irving Blvd., Los Angeles; Miriam de Witt, '31, 447 N. Orange Dr., Los Angeles; Mary Herbert, '31, 1718 N. Van Ness, Los Angeles; Marjorie Lounsbury, '31, 415 S. Rossmore Blvd., Los Angeles; Barbara McCartney, '31, 200 S. Hudson Blvd., Los Angeles; Janet McCoy, '31, 340 S. Lucerne Blvd., Los Angeles; Marian McGowin, '28, Chapman, Ala.; Katherine Staub, '31, 1206 S. Gramercy Pl., Los Angeles.

During formal rushing the chapter entertained with an Hawaiian dinner, a mother's tea, a Dutch dinner and a Kentucky Derby.

During the summer months a new unit was added to the campus of the University of Southern California, this being the recently completed Science building, with more than two hundred classrooms. Plans are now being drawn for the Seely Mudd building of the department of philosophy which was built to house the Seely Mudd library of philosophy which was recently donated to the university, and which is one of the finest of its kind.

The chapter was second in scholarship among the women's fraternities on the campus. Miriam de Witt had the highest scholastic average of any women's fraternity girl in the university.

Four of the members of the chapter toured Europe this summer in a party conducted by Dr. Mary S. Crawford, dean of women.

California Γ is well represented on the campus this semester in activities. Isabel Loftus and Frances Holmes are members of the Amazons, women's honorary organization, and Isabel Loftus is also a member of the legislative council of the student's government, and has been chosen to manage the Women's football dinner, to be held during homecoming. Janet McCoy is secretary of the rally committee, and Peggy Brown is a member of the executive committee of the sophomore class.

JANET MCCOY

CALIFORNIA DELTA—UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA AT LOS ANGELES

Chartered, September 9, 1927
Pledge Day, September 24, 1928

Initiated, October 7, 1928: Bettie Edmondson, '32, Hollywood, Calif.; Marjorie Mullenbach, '31, Hollywood, Calif.; Betty Price, '30, Los Angeles.

It is true that the first year on a new campus is an eventful one, but the last year on the old campus is certainly a memorable one. So it was with a great deal of sentiment that California Δ faced the college year, and rushing. A very exceptional class of women entered this fall, and therefore, it was considered opportune, in preparation for Westwood, to enlarge a very small chapter. After a successful season, California Δ pledged twenty girls: Ethel Ache, Frances Atwood, Betty Baldwin, Francis Bledsoe, Helen Burton, Marguerite Coburn, Helen Davis, Mildred Fering, Virginia Horner, Jean Hall, Janice Jump, Constance Lacey, Katherine More, Virginia Nissen, Florence Opperman, Nancy Parent, Marjorie Patee, Evelyn Rose, Amelia Straud and Venis West.

California Δ feels very fortunate in having within reach, Gail De Wolf, who is teaching at Marlborough School for Girls, in Los Angeles. She honored the house the beginning of rush week by pouring at the formal, mothers' tea. The chapter is, of course, very young, and with the responsibilities of Convention approaching, it will be a great help to be able to call on Miss De Wolf for advice.

College elections which have taken place have been favorable in results for California Δ placing: Bettie Edmondson, vice president of the freshman class; Jane Scofield, president of $\Pi K \Sigma$ and the art club; Laura Payne, president of Agathai, an honorary society, presidential appointee on W.A.A. Board, and corresponding secretary of Prytanean; and Irene Ulvestad, treasurer of $\Pi K \Sigma$. As for activities, Florence Opperman, a new pledge, has signed up at the Southern Campus office; Gail Erickson is on the California arrangements committee; Marjorie Mullenbach is on the Sophomore service committee; and Margaret Wadley is chairman of the senior sisters, with Bettie Edmondson, Harriet Brown, Dorothy Becker, Dixie Lazenby, Bernice Wright, Helen Ziegler and Katherine Corbaley assisting. Laura Payne is also manager of the golf team, is on the hockey team along with Helen Zeigler, and is one of the few seniors presented with an honor edition of the yearbook; while Bernice Wright and Anna Ewell Philips are both very active in the French dramatic department.

As a unit, the next thing the chapter is supporting is the Girl's High Jinks. This is an annual event, planned for the purpose of bringing together the women's fraternities and the non-organization girls. The A.W.S. is in charge of the affair, and all college women report in costume for "just a good time." Each organization puts on a skit as means of entertainment, for which prizes are awarded. California Δ was fortunate last year in being one of the winners, so now enthusiastic plans are being made for this year, in an attempt to make a favorable showing.

Enthusiasm for Westwood is very keen, as it is quite definite that the college will be on its new campus in the fall of 1929. California Δ has its lot, which is located in the very center of the first block in women's fraternity row, and the plans for the chapter house are being completed.

Pledge Day, September 30, 1928

Initiated, April 28, 1928: Ruth Hubbard, '31, Tucson, Ariz.; Margaret Koons, '31, Tucson, Ariz. Initiated, September 20, 1928: Ina St. Clair, '30, Fayette, Mo.

GRADUATES: Mary Roberts Fergusson, B.A., 725 N. Park, Tucson; Marietta Stratt Franklin, B.S., 402 N. Main, Tucson; Mary Frances Crane Hill, B.A., E. Fourth, Tucson; Pauline Rosenblast, B.A., Pierce, Ariz.; Helen Sunderland, B.A., 2975 Leeward Ave., Los Angeles.

The chapter house was furnished with new rugs and curtains, and a lovely new grand piano. Mrs. Elizabeth Fergusson is again house mother.

This year the chapter is represented in two important offices. Frances Bowers is president of the campus Y.W.C.A. Ruth Hubbard was elected secretary of the sophomore class.

At the close of the past college year, Pi Phis were not lacking on the list of those receiving honors. Two of six girls elected to Mortar Boar were members of the chapter. These were Frances Bowers and Anna MacLachlan, the latter having been elected president of the group. Frances Bowers is historian.

Frances Bowers won a twenty-dollar prize for her play, Wheat. Anne Alkire, a pledge received the cup offered by the Tucson Players to the girl with the most dramatic ability. Margaret Bennet, Anna MacLachlan and Fredrica Wilder were awarded keys for work on the Desert and Wildcat staffs.

In the contest sponsored annually by the Desert book staff, the chapter won second prize, a silver loving cup. Three prizes were offered to the houses selling the most subscriptions to the year book.

The closing social function for the year was a formal dance given May 26, at the Temple tearoom. Founders' Day was celebrated the evening of April 28, with a banquet given at the Temple tearoom. Mary Roberts Jergusson, chairman, created a radio idea which is present in every detail of the decorations and toasts.

Arizona A is eagerly looking forward to having a new chapter house within the next year. A lot was bought in the new fraternity district and plans drawn by a Los Angeles architect were received. The Thetas and Delta Gammas have moved into new houses which were built this summer.

The marriages of three Pi Phis were announced this summer: Marietta Stiratt to Selim Franklin, Jr., Z Δ E; Elizabeth Graves to Carlos Ronstadt, Σ A E, in Glendale, California, and Alice Plumer to Cyrus H. Miller in Paris, France.

Pledge Day, September 17, 1928

After a busy two weeks of rushing, filled with teas, pirate parties, bridge parties and formal dinners, Nevada A pledged the following girls: Nancy Mitchell, Leona Sellman, Constance Orme, and Emilie Grace, of Reno; Dorothy Ernst, Fallon, Nev.; Marian Pratt, Sacramento, Calif.; Helene Turner, San Francisco, Calif.; Virginia Lou Stewart, Van Nuys, Calif.

This year the formal rushing tea was held at Governor Balzar's mansion at Carson City, Nevada. A trip to Tia Juana was the theme for the affair, and the evening proved successful.

The chapter is very proud of holding the majority of offices on the Nevada campus this year. Renee Duque was elected vice president of the Associated Students of University of Nevada, which is the highest position a woman can hold; Kathryn Robison was elected junior representative to finance control; Alice Lunsford is president of Panhellenic; Francis Fuller is president of the tennis club; Katherine Priest is vice president of Y.W.C.A. cabinet; and three girls hold class vice president offices, Kara Lucas, vice president of the senior class, Geraldine Blattner, vice president of the sophomore class and Nancy Mitchell, vice president of the freshman class.

Π Φ has representatives in every campus organization. There are three members on Y.W.C.A. cabinet; Kathryn Robison, Geraldine Blattner and Katherine Priest; a number of each of the three Nevada publications; three girls cast in Campus Player's try-out plays, two of which have leading parts, Bessie Davis, Virginia Lou Stewart and Patricia Harding. Katherine Priest was bid to membership to Gothia N, and Anita Becase was chosen as a member of Cap and Scroll.

This year Nevada A rented a house on Virginia Street just four doors from the campus, and with the help of the alumnae club the girls have made the house very cosy.

The Sigma Kappa Triangle gives this bit of excellent advice from the wisdom of her Grand President:

WE MUST REALIZE OUR AIMS

With the present-day tendency to over-organization, we are confronted with the problem of how best to make our organization justify its existence. It is not enough merely to exist; there can be no wavering mind and purpose; we must declare our aims and intelligently dedicate ourselves to realizing them. The problem is one of individuality as well as of unselfish co-operation. For each of us, the opportunities for service are far-reaching depending largely on the greatness of our vision; for each of us, the responsibilities are heavy, challenging us to heroic effort and self-sacrifice.

Specifically, if we want to identify ourselves with a live, effective, and wholesome organization, we must maintain the vitality of that organization by cherishing the ideals of life and conduct that embody the spirit and purpose of Sigma Kappa; by accepting our particular tasks with the idea of excelling in them; by developing not only high scholarship, but a true love of learning; by engaging in such activities as will enrich immeasurably our characters and lead to self-mastery; by cultivating worthwhile friendships with members of other organizations thereby pushing back our horizon to include other interests and endeavors than those of our own group.

The president of a middlewest university in his parting words to the senior class said, "Consecrate knowledge, will, and personality not only to success in your chosen business of life, but also to the highest moral and spiritual values." Well might we take that exhortation to heart if our structure is to withstand the tides of ever-changing modern conditions of life and the winds of criticism so frequently directed toward sororities and fraternities.

The sum total of our personalities, of our energies, of our achievements will determine the effectiveness of our organization and make it stand in the eyes of the world as a vital force blazing a path to perfection of character and greatness of soul.

AUDREY DYKEMAN
Grand President

The Lyre of Alpha Chi Omega gives us this to ponder upon:

VALUE AND FUNCTION OF RELIGION IN CAMPUS LIFE

Just what rôle does religion play in the life of present-day colleges? Is it an incidental or a basic principle?

At first appearance, it seems to be of a minimum importance. But just ask almost any student in the modern university what religion means to him. The answer is generally, that he doesn't just understand it, but religion, whether orthodox or not, is in some form vitally a necessity.

Every campus has its religious organizations, honorary as well as the general Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. It is the work of these latter that "puts over" many campus schemes.

Religion, in campus life, brings all classes of students together on a common ground, with something to be gained by each from the other, as well as from the work of the organization. It is the background for part of the ritual or code of every other organization, fraternal or otherwise; it is indirectly and perhaps unconsciously applied in every day customs.

In short, the value and functions of religion in campus life is not merely an incidental, but is in reality a fundamental part of every activity.

Phi Gamma Delta, the college fraternity of which President Coolidge and his son, John, are Amherst initiates, is to erect a national memorial headquarters in the city of Washington, costing approximately a quarter million dollars.

Good Advice to the Women, Too:

YOUR CHAPTER IS SLIPPING

1. When it initiates a man whose scholastic ability is questionable. The most reputable fraternities take no chances.

2. When it initiates a man whose ability to pay his way is questionable. No chapter can be independent in its selection once it has lost financial soundness.

3. When, under pressure, financial or otherwise, it initiates a man whom it would ordinarily reject. A weak man is dangerous. He represents your chapter to others. He influences others. He impresses prospective pledges badly. He draws others like himself into the chapter. He misuses voting power. If he has a strong personality, or if he is "agreeable," he may do much harm.

4. When it pledges a doubtful man on the assumption that he may be dropped later. A pledge enters into the life of the chapter. His influence is often nearly as strong as if he were a brother. A pledge who lives in the fraternity house may cause any amount of trouble. He may split the ranks of the pledges. He often divides the active brothers, who take sides for or against him. A proposal to drop him nearly always causes dissension. There is a natural reluctance to break a pledge, and if there is any excuse for initiating a man who has been pledged, he usually passes to brotherhood.

5. When it shows too much brotherly indulgence to men whose general conduct, scholastic record, or financial irresponsibility is injurious to the brotherhood. The welfare of the brothers at large is better protected, and brotherhood is more certainly assured, when the chapter deals sharply and promptly with those who threaten its quality.

6. When it elects its leaders hastily or unwisely. Only the old timers know how much good leadership means. Nearly all serious difficulty can be avoided if the right men hold the offices. Generally, the chapter is as good as its leaders.

7. When it places more emphasis on campus activities than it does on scholarship.

The Phi Mu Delta
Triangle and Deltasig

A Goal Towards Which to Work:

DO YOU HAVE A LIBRARY IN YOUR HOUSE?

"A library in every chapter house" has become the slogan of Tau Kappa Epsilon. The Grand Council of that fraternity feels so strongly the need, the educational and cultural value of a real library in every one of its homes that at the instigation of their Grand Historian, they have undertaken the establishment of the chapter house library as a national project. Gamma Phi Beta and Kappa Delta are urging their girls to consider the suggestion. And we certainly think it well worth our thought too.

Many of our groups are building new houses—we hope they are true homes, not just handsome dwellings. But a house is not a home without books. Your houses may have the latest conveniences, the finest furniture, lovely lamps and pictures—so have the best hotels. A house is a home only when it attains the spirit of its owners, the atmosphere of being lived within and revered. And how often our books alone can give it that air. By books we don't mean row upon row of unused "sets," either; better have none than to have volumes whose pages have never been cut. We mean those books which are alive, be they old or new—poetry which soothes when you are so upset after an examination; essays to stimulate thought which may turn the table conversation from clothes to something a bit deeper; fiction, old and new, so that when you've not much to do, you'll have an old favorite or a worthwhile modern close enough to read without wasting time; reference books to save you a trip to the college library at a time when moments are precious; fraternity books that will help you to be more intelligent of your fellow Greeks.

Dean Agnes E. Wells of Indiana University once said in speaking of fraternity housing: "The houses are the laboratories where the girls work as well as live and play. They must be well equipped so that the members may get the most out of college." She must have been thinking of a chapter house library. Won't you think of one? Plan to have bookshelves built in one of your rooms during the summer. Ask your families and your alumnae to help you fill them. You'll find the house a real home next year if you do.

WHAT DOES A LEADER DO?

By C. R. MANN

"Progress in a republic is peculiarly dependent on the quality of leadership. How to discover and elect competent national leaders is one of the most vital and significant problems in American life today. Where there is no vision the people perish."

In a conference in which the problem of leadership was discussed from many angles, these personal traits which are characteristic of leaders were finally chosen: sociability, capacity for organizing groups, responsiveness to current events, flexibility in devising compromises, histrionic ability, willingness to work, capacity to get things done, self confidence—courage, personality, intellectual and moral integrity, independence of party.

"The obvious tendencies of colleges and the practices of good literature to portray character in terms of action suggests the idea that similar treatment of the problem of discovering potential leaders might yield practical results. For the purpose of testing this idea, I have written down twelve items that describe characteristic things leaders do. These are not presented as complete or final descriptions of the essential characteristics of leaders' actions, but as a sample of procedure in attempting to define the practical methods of appraising leadership. These are: 1. Sees a vision of achievement. 2. Grasps the significant features of the situation. 3. Determines what must be done to realize the vision. 4. Concentrates on the necessary work. 5. Sticks to the job. 6. Inspires others to help him. 7. Relates his work to theirs. 8. Enjoys the humorous side of things. 9. Pursues the vision as it recedes and changes. 10. Creates new ways to master difficulties. 11. Treats others as he would have them treat him. 12. Worships the Lord his God."

—Alpha Gamma Delta Quarterly

The Meaning of Scholarship:

The fundamental purpose of college is an education, and unquestionably, mental training is a most important feature of this, no matter how much importance we attach to stability of character and a power of leadership; and there is a serious question whether stability of character and power of leadership can be developed in the face of any serious neglect of one's job, the sine qua non of prolonged residence in a college community. Scholarship then is an index of our efficiency in that preparation for the fight which is going to enable us to take our place in the world as self-respecting individuals, carrying our part of the load, making our contribution to the welfare of our fellows, giving us that final sense of dignity which is necessary to the enjoyment of real friendship. Scholarship is our job in the college; not our whole job; but an essential part of it, because it is the foundation without which the development of other necessary qualities is handicapped seriously.

—The Scroll, Phi Delta Theta
Kappa Kappa Gamma

The Caduceus of Kappa Sigma has this to say concerning the pledges investments:

The receipt of a pledge pin should not cause an appreciable increase in blood pressure. True, one has the right to experience a sense of happiness.

The fact that you were pledged is merely a method of expressing the thought that you have been called to share harder work with brothers bent upon a common mission. It is a noble mission, to be in college fired with an ambition to increase your talents for work and to magnify your capacity to form worthwhile friendships.

Fraternity life has in it that certain element which signifies trust—sincere belief that if you help one today, he may help you tomorrow. Of course, this idea may become selfish.

When you stand in front of a camera, and have heard the click, you are certain that the negative will give you exactly what you have given to it and nothing more. This will be true of your fraternity life and your college life.

Interest is collected by reason of the loaning of an asset. If you bury your talents in the chapter house, around the fire-place or in front of the phonograph, dancing night and day like a monkey, you can rest assured that you will receive no interest on your investment, but, like the negative in the camera, you will secure only a perfect picture of your capers, indolence and wasted time.

Depositing your talents in a hundred and one places will only result in a hundred and one failures upon your part to receive interest from your investment, for the reason that, upon entering college, your talents are limited to a very few sane investments. One of the sane investments is study. Another is the participation in some campus activity which will promote good health. Another is a sane development of your social instincts and the last is a sincere regard for your character and reputation upon the campus and within your fraternity group.

BROADMINDEDNESS

Broadmindedness seems to be undergoing a transformation. It seemed at one time to be a splendid word, like personality once seemed to be. It meant an intelligent brain ready to see the good and sacrifice if need be to attain benefit from opportunity or to sacrifice pride if necessary to serve. But broadmindedness now seems to infer that the person so characterized is minded to let her standards down and smoke and drink or in any way ignore the fine old tenets and do the unconventional thing while she rambles forth in the breadth of the land. Somewhere it is written that straight is the way and narrow the gate that leads to the eternities of life and perhaps the mental eternities are included. "If some of these things be broadmindedness," a Panhellenic officer is quoted as saying, "let's have a little old-fashioned narrow-mindedness for a change."

—Alpha Gamma Delta Quarterly

The Girl of Today Upheld:

"The right of the individual to do as she pleases is the creed proclaimed by the modern student," said President Mary E. Woolley, for twenty-seven years head of Mount Holyoke College. Miss Woolley has firm faith in the college age and scorns as superficial any adverse criticism of the morality of the American student body. Her opinion is upheld by Dr. Henry Noble MacCracken, president of Vassar College, who says that fewer students are dropped from the women's colleges today for infringements of moral rules or failure in scholastic achievement than were dropped ten years ago.

Painstakingly, on waxen tablets, with sharpened stylus, the Greeks of old engraved their messages to one another. Today the letter writing of the modern Greek is a simple matter of a fountain pen and crested stationery, selected to suit his particular taste from our wide assortment of styles.

All coat-of-arms dies used for stationery embossing have been officially approved in correctness of design. This, together with the fact that all work in gold and silver ink is burnished, insures the accurate reproduction of even the most minute details.

Sample packets of stationery have been prepared, and will be forwarded upon request.
